Lutheran Church Notes
 By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

Salem is not to be outdistanced in the coal saving campaign, but in the game like a lot of other folks. We have not been heating the whole church every Sunday but only the Sunday school room. It is a little crowded at times, but while some others are suffering a deal of convenience in the fuel situation, we will gladly put up with some. After all there is an advantage in being close together, in not having a wide space between the pastor and the people. We have often wished the back seats were the most comfortable in the house. We bring the piano and the pulpit to the anteroom and there we have the service as snugly as you please.

The practice for the Christmas program goes on. Last Friday was such a bad night and so cold that we took a chance for Saturday night being better, and it was. Cold, indeed, but it was a fine night to be out side from that. The wind did not blow and the stars shone as bright as you ever saw them. Some of the folks walked all the way, some part of the way and some got out their bob sleighs, and we had a merry time. When we had sung a while a big pan of old time popcorn balls, the brittlest you ever ate, was passed with candy and salted peanuts. Games, grafanola music and visits were the order of the evening. Why should we think we have to go a long way to have a good time, why do we have to have a good time made for us? We do not, all we have to do is to get out and make it for ourselves, and it will be the best time you ever had. And why cannot the whole church have good times like that together? We will have just the right kind of a time at the church Christmas Eve. We want every one to come to have a good time. Of course we want the friends to get in the way of coming to the church, we want to be sociable and pleasant, for our sakes and for the sake of every one else who will come and enjoy an evening with us. We have heard a lot of a church that serves a social purpose, and they all ought to do so, but just to be a social servant and center is not what a church is for. I know there are some which have become but little else, but they have debased their high calling. I know of one church which had such small congregations on Sunday evening that they decided to have just a social gathering of the community at that hour. The first two nights they had a house full and they thought the scheme was a success, but the next night they found the crowd cut in half, and before two months they had fewer than they used to have at a regular church service, and one of the members told me that it was almost impossible to have anything at the church in the evening now, and they were considering abandoning the scheme. The church, Salem can be made a social center for the community without detracting from the church services. The gospel can be preached regularly, and we can gather there for purely social ends, too. It would be a good service to the community if we would have various social gatherings there. We lack just that thing in our community.

We have one good thing to tell this week, and that is we will be favored by the Delco-Light people of Sioux City Christmas eve. They will have one of their excellent light plants at work and we will have more brilliancy that night than the church has ever seen. Say, won't that be joyous? We know you will want to be there now.

It is found to be a difficult matter just yet with the cold and inclement weather, to do much with the organization of the men's Sunday school class, but we will try to go ahead with the work as best we can, and there has been some work done already, and there is more in the air for some time after Christmas. We are not ready to tell just now what it is to be. The preacher pastor is not at the bottom of it either.

SALEM

It is a good community. I have faith in it. It will be what you make it.

Pump Irrigation in Nebraska

Before one decides to install a pumping plant for irrigation purposes there are a good many factors that should be considered regarding the feasibility of the project and the construction of the plant, says Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station circular 2, "Pump Irrigation in Nebraska." The circular discusses the amount of water necessary, design of a plant, wells, pumps, etc. It may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture, Lincoln.

Good Cow Barns Pay

The dairy cow, of all farm animals, is the most efficient machine for converting farm grown feeds into concentrated, high-priced food products, says "Dairy Barn and Milk House Arrangement," a new circular of the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station. Therefore, from an economic point of view, as well as from the standpoint of animal comfort, it is highly desirable that adequate barn or shed facilities be provided for the dairy herd. This 28-page circular is well illustrated with pictures and drawings of dairy barn and milk house arrangement. Ask for circular 6, addressing request to Agricultural Experiment Station, Lincoln.

New Accredited Herd List Out

The second list of herds officially credited as free from tuberculosis and of herds that have passed successfully one test with a view to certification has been received by the College of Agriculture for free distribution. Lists of such herds are published from time to time by the United States Department of Agriculture. They contain the different breeds of cattle, the names of the owners, and states where the herds are located are arranged alphabetically. Control with a view of eventual eradication of tuberculosis in cattle is being accomplished by systematic efforts of Federal and State authorities in co-operation with cattle breeders' associations and herd owners. Nothing Else Ever Helped Her

MILWAUKEE WOMAN SAYS SHE WASTED $500.00 ON VARIOUS MEDICINES.

"Honestly a few bottles of Tanlac has done me more good than other treatments and medicines that have cost me $500," said Mrs. E. F. Waldhiser, living at 1012 Wall St., Milwaukee, Wis., the other day.

"This may sound like a very broad statement," continued Mrs. Waldhiser, "but it is so, for I never got the least benefit from all the other medicines I took and after taking Tanlac I feel like a new woman." Continuing she said:

"I have suffered with stomach trouble more or less all my life. I had a poor appetite and could scarcely eat a thing without it nearly killing me, especially for the last few months, when I could eat only the lightest food. Everything I did manage to eat would sour on my stomach and gas would form and I would be bloated something awful. The gas would press up against my heart so I could hardly breathe and I would feel like I was choking. I never knew what it was to be without a headache and I had severe pains almost continually in my right side and shoulders. I lost so much weight I was scarcely more than a frame, and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I was so nervous I could sleep but very little at night, and would get up in the morning completely worn out.

"I saw in the newspapers where Tanlac had been of such benefit to others whose condition was described as being similar to mine, so I concluded to try it. Well, it surely was what I needed, for after taking only four bottles my stomach is all right and I have such a fine appetite I eat anything I want and I never suffer the least bit afterwards. I am not bothered with gas or bloating any more and the mothering and choking spells have disappeared. I haven't had the headache since I began taking Tanlac, and the pain in my side and shoulders are things of the past. My nerves are in fine condition, and I sleep all night without waking up once, and get up in the mornings feeling refreshed. In fact, I never felt as well before in my life, and I will never miss a chance to say a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy, in South Sioux City by Shane's Pharmacy, and in Homer by Wagner's Pharmacy.
