Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

There was no services at the church last Sunday because the roads were so bad no one could get out. This is always the case when the frost comes out in the spring. There is some pastoral work which cannot wait any longer to be done, and so the pastor started out about Monday, not getting in for several days. We trust some day the way will clear so we can go on our way regularly and I am sure it will be with joy. With joy for we like the work. What we like we do not complain about. A letter from a friend the other day spoke of his getting on with his job very satisfactorily, it has its drawbacks, but on the whole he was well pleased; "it is all in the state of mind, anyhow." You can find fault with the best things that ever happen if you have a mind to, but why not enjoy our work as we go along? How true that is. As I have said so many times before, our happiness is not in the abundance of the things we possess, but in the state of mind we bear toward our work and our friends, and the conditions which surround us. It is true of our religious life the same as of the ordinary human experiences. The blessings and the pleasure of our worship does not depend on the house, nor upon the singing, nor upon the number of people who are there. A church building with its appointments is good, indeed, and good music, the finer the better, and we enjoy the goodly number of worshippers, these things all help, but the blessing of it all depends upon our receptive heart, and the worship which flows from it, and the love we have for the rest of the people and God. A man's own home is the best in the world, though it is humble, and so is your own church. I have known people to have to move away and leave the little struggling church where they have spent so many years of their life. That is a good way for us to feel. It is good for us at Salem. A great many have known no other church all their lives, the same as they have known no other homes but the ones they now live in. We all believe our own community is as good as any community in the land anywhere. I have this to say, it is because of the churches at the crossing of the roads, their influence has gone out and made the Salem community what it is because for a long time the people loved the church and the people who gathered there to worship. If we are to have this community continue as it is, it is necessary to continue to love the church and the people who make up the community. You could put any other kind of an institution there on the corner, and in a short time you would see the difference. We can find our pleasure at the church if we have set our minds to it and try. Not that we will find godliness a pleasure without the gift of God's grace, but he will give us that if we desire it. Let us find our soul's desire in the house of God. Those who devoutly seek the Lord will find him. Come to church.

Early Care Counts For Stock Raisers

Twenty-four hours a day is the price the hog man and the sheep man pay for profits during farrowing and lambing time, say Nebraska College extension circulars "The Sow at Farrowing Time" and "The Ewe at Lambing Time." Valuable suggestions are given for successfully caring for stock at this critical time. Another valuable circular along this same line is "The Sow and Her Litter," which gives suggestions for feeding and caring for the sow while she is providing milk for her young. Various troubles of young pigs are also discussed. These circulars may be obtained free.

MINISTERS COST LESS THAN AUTOS

World Survey Figures Reveal How Badly United States is Paying Its Pastors

MANY LIVING ON $600 A YEAR

One of the Aims of Present Protestant Co-operation is to End Disgrace of Underpaid Preacher—Pensions Also to Be Provided.

What are the chances of a young man who intends to be a lawyer or making $3,000 a year? What are the doctor's chances? What of the minister or the manufacturer?

The lawyer has exactly one chance in five. The doctor's chances are one in seven. It is ten to one against the manufacturer. The modern minister however, who formerly ranked with the doctor and lawyer as a member of the "learned professions," has fallen hopelessly behind. He is a 100 to 1 shot.

These figures are part of a mass of astonishing facts brought to light by the world survey being made by the Interchurch World Movement and whose sources of information are such that many economists and statisticians are availing themselves of the results. This survey puts America's ministers at the bottom of the ladder of the nation's income receivers—and with responsibilities which equal those of any captain of industry.

A worker in a silk mill, a laborer in a rubber plant, a paper maker, a worker in a shoe factory—all are getting higher average wages, the survey shows, than does America's minister city or country. Nor does the city man receive the luxurious salary that many persons, including many country parsons, believe he does. Not four ministers in a thousand, according to the survey, receive $5,000 a year. In no instance, whatever the denomination, does a majority receive $2,000.

Cotton Pickers Better Off.

Are you a Congregationalist? Is 2,783 churches the yearly pay to you ministers has been less than $1,000. Are you a Presbyterian? You are then on the less than $1,000 list with 6,411 ministers. In the event that you are a Methodist the charge is that 4,719 pastors are trying to exist on the $20 a week that you pay them. Episcopallians do a little better, yet half of their rectors receive less than the $1,500 a year which government economists regard as the minimum on which a family can be decently maintained.

The initial cost of the cheapest "silver" on the market is less than $600 but a very good, conscientious pastor, it is shown, can be hired for a year for that sum.

Ministers in the South are preaching to fifty or more cotton pickers who individually are paid more for picking cotton than their entire neighborhood pays to the preacher in a year.

One of the aims of the present co-operation of the world's Protestant denominations is to end this disgrace of the underpaid minister. With universal stiles, business houses and municipalities daily taking action to provide for the comfort of their workers, the church is to keep pace with the times and to arrange not only for adequate pay for its workers, but to provide pensions for those no longer able to work.

CHURCHES TO AID LONELY SHEEP SHEARERS OF WEST

The bleat of the sheep on the back bone of the continent calls men to the mountains. On high uplands from the Canadian border to Mexico, in lonely and inaccessible places, one of the most romantic examples of the country's migrant worker—the sheep shearer—plies his trade.

Unheard of though he is to thousands of his fellow workers, it was for him that the immigration regulations of three countries—Canada, the United States and Mexico—were modified during the war. This permitted freedom of movement to many hundreds of this strange craft, and the means of employment to thousands in factories and stores.

Yet, for all his importance in the ranks of the nation's great Marching Army of the Employed, what sort of life does this man lead? The migrant fruit packer, or wheat harvester, or farmhand, or lumberman often roams inland through cities and the congested spots of civilization. But the sheep shearer, by the nature of his trade, is cut off from such influences.

Through a survey of the nation's migrant labor now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, it is suggested that for men of this class relief may be afforded through churches in outlying districts. For social and other purposes these men, with proper co-operation by church bodies, could make use of many of the facilities without which they are doomed to a life of isolation.

"No Man Alone Can Take a Trench."
"Keep together! Keep together!"
shouted a commanding officer overseas.
"No man alone can take a trench!"
I say: Keep together! Keep together, men of God! No church alone can take a world!—G. Howard Eddy.
