EVOLVED FROM THE HUMBLE SWEATER

THE humble sweater began its career as a practical, warmth-giving garment, without claims to beauty; but thanks to the imagination of beauty-loving womanhood its descendants have been industriously cultivated until there are many varieties in chic and lovely garments sprung from this unpretentious source. The sweater-coat seems to prove more alluring to designers than the sweater, but in both there is a great variety of models, made of wool or silk, by hand or by machinery, or of piece goods.

These are the last word in the elaboration of sweaters into luxurious garments suitable for all occasions. The pretty sweater-coat pictured strikes a happy medium between the two extremes of the purely practical and the highly ornamental in the realm of sweaters and sweater-coats. It is a compromise between the two, made of silk fiber cloth which appears to be reversible. This coat adopts the flounced style with close-fitting three-quarter length sleeve, having a deep flounce set on. Its long collar gives it dignity and a narrow belt of silk jersey, ending in tassels, helps out its sprightliness. It is a beautiful example of one of the new styles, matched in class by the handsome hat of braid and ribbon worn with it.

What Spring Has in Store

THERE are afternoon gowns and afternoon gowns, some of them so brilliantly designed and executed that they are not abashed in the company of ambitious dinner dresses. But the afternoon gown most sought after is the less dressy affair that claims elegance and distinction in design, while it remains unobtrusive and simple.

Two beautiful afternoon gowns shown in the picture above are indications of what the spring has in store. These are made of dark-colored woolen materials and employ embroidery in silk, but they use these familiar things in new ways.

At the left of the two there is a dress which may be made of serge, gabardine, duvetyne, or any staple wool goods, that is to be recommended because it can be worn with a topcoat now and later without one. It manages to be very original and very simple, depending on scalloped edges and a narrow-knotted fringe for the unexpected in its composition. There are large scallops at the bottom of the skirt, smaller ones at the bottom of the long bodice, and still smaller ones to finish the short sleeves, and every scallop is edged with narrow fringe. It is not enough to say that the scallops are embroidered, it must be noted that the embroidered design is made for them.

Three embroidered bands on the skirt of the dress at the right, are graduated in size, with the narrowest at the bottom. A narrow sash of the cloth is slipped through slashes in the bodice and ties in a flat bow with long ends at the front. The odd collar and turned-back cuffs are faced with satin and a slip pocket in the skirt must not be overlooked in this second example of excellent designing.

PLAN UNIQUE FOREST SYSTEM

New Yorkers Aim to Make County One Continuous Park, and Have the Trees Pay Taxes.

To make the loafing acre work is the plan of Otsego county, New York, which has started a campaign to plant a forest of 100 acres on the waste lands in each of the 24 townships of that county.

The plans, says the New York Times, are to develop a county system similar to the city park plan, with its harmonized system of connecting boulevards. The project involves the development of a comprehensive highway system.

The forests will be located so that they will serve as green nature signboards along the highways, to advertise to the world that the county has its own forests, owned, planted and maintained by the public for the future generations.

As the trees mature they will provide in the future an income which will mean an actual cash return to serve as an offset against taxation. European towns often pay the cost of operation of their government from their forests, having no taxes, but this requires a greater area of forest than is proposed for Otsego.

The Night Kind.

Identified.
It was a dark night and the car was speeding homeward at a terrible rate.
"What road have you taken, James?" cried Mrs. Blithers, as the car jolted her high in the air.
"The regular boulevard, Mrs. Blithers," returned the chauffeur.
"But I never noticed all these thank-you-marms on the boulevard before," protested Mrs. Blithers.
"Oh," laughed the chauffeur, "those were not thank-you-marms, Mrs. Blithers! They were just a few people who couldn't get out of the way."
Whereupon Mrs. Blithers laughed, too. What a droll mistake it was, to be sure!—Pittsburgh Sun.

Self-Evident.
The popular author sat in his study, his brow creased in thought. Across the flat desk his secretary waited, pen poised above notebook.
"Ah!" said the author at last, his face clearing, "I have it! We will begin. Take this: 'John Smith was an exceptionally intelligent young man, hardworking, unmarried!'"
The author paused abruptly and frowned. "No," he said, "there's something that's wrong in that."
He paced the length of the room.
"Ah!" he suddenly exclaimed. "Of course! Strike out 'unmarried,' please, and we will go on."
