Aids in House Cleaning
When house cleaning time comes around some women formerly used soap and scouring compound regardless of what they were cleaning. The Nebraska College of Agriculture gives the following list of cleaning aids and their uses:
Naphtha soap, coarse boards and heavy kettles; white soap, woodwork; high grade white soap, glasses and china; scouring compound, porcelain and windows; steel wool, for removing wax from floors before applying new paint or varnish; floor wax, floors and furniture; kerosene, outdoor disinfectant, pouring down drains, cleaning enamel sinks, tubs; ammonia, washing windows and linoleum; borax, softening water and washing glassware; chloride of lime, disinfectant for bathrooms; whiting, for cleaning enamel paint and nickel; linseed oil, wiping woodwork and polishing cast iron ranges (burn cloth at once to avoid spontaneous combustion); gasoline, cleaning drains, traps, toilets, refrigerators, and rough and pointed surfaces; rottenstone, polishing brass and copper.

Egg Laying Race Going Strong
One pullet laid 30 eggs and 21 laid 24 or more eggs during March in the egg laying contest conducted by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. A Rhode Island Red belonging to the M. C. Peters Mill Co. of Omaha, laid an egg every day but one, and ten of this company led the entries for March, with a total production of 196 eggs. Ten White Leghorns belonging to Frank Hersman of Gibson City, Ill., were second with a production of 180 eggs. The ten White Rocks of Mrs. M. C. Cassin, Columbus, Neb., laid 179 eggs in the thirty-one days of March. A White Leghorn hen leads in the contest for grand total individual production, with 120 eggs to her credit since November 1. Another White Leghorn hen has laid 105 eggs in that time. Data are now being collected on the size of eggs. The average weight of ten eggs laid by each bird will be determined.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. May God comfort and sustain them in their great loss.

Cardinal Gibbons Asks Aid For Starving Armenians

This is the message from James (Cardinal) Gibbons read at the big meeting in Washington in aid of the Near East Relief. The venerable primate of the Catholic Church in America is intensely interested in the Cardinal Gibbons appeal which the Near East Relief will make to the country in February for funds to support its work among the starving peoples of that stricken land. To the Washington meeting he wrote:
"Advice and information coming from the Near East cannot be doubted. There is great actual suffering and famine. These people, recently become independent and released from bitter thraldom, cannot support themselves. And the Christian and common instincts of humanity which have prompted the people of the United States during the last two years to relieve the distress and needs, especially of the Near East, must not be allowed to grow cold and be diminished.
'I hope we shall all unite in this present emergency and be able to collect sufficient funds to enable these people to live and work until next summer brings them permanent relief and subsistence. I call upon all to respond generously to the appeal now being made and trust that the committee will be gratified with the results.'

29,000 Farmers Keeping Books
Twenty-nine thousand farm record books have been placed with farmers by the Nebraska College of Agriculture in co-operation with County Farm Bureaus and the State Bankers' Association. This means that twenty-three per cent of the farmers of the state are getting ready to make out income tax reports next winter. While this percentage may seem small to the person who has been accustomed to think of the farmer as a profiteer, yet it is a much greater percentage than any other year has known. The keeping of a farm record not only prepares the farmer to make out his income tax return but it enables him to make a closer study of his farm business than he has ever done before. No doubt many of these farmers are keeping the farm record for the latter reason alone.
