WAR NURSE FROM ARMENIA ASKS AMERICA'S AID

Soldier Husband and Battlefield Baby Touring Country With Her for Near East Relief.

A mother, father and daughter, the latter born in a battered Red Cross tent in the icy Caucasus while guns roared all around and Turkish shells, ignoring the mere emblem, burst near it, are touring America in behalf of their native Armenia. They are General Mezrop Newton Asgapatian, his wife, Lady Anne, and Irene Esther Araxie Asgapatian, whose baby eyes opened upon scenes of horror and later through them saw much of the sufferings of the people of Armenia.

The family are making their tour under auspices of the Near East Relief, the big organization which has saved hundreds of thousands of the people in that part of the world from death by hunger and cold and is soon to open a nation wide campaign for funds to complete the work of saving the survivors, more than a half million of whom must perish unless aid comes to them soon. America is their only hope.

General Asgapatian served gallantly in the Russian armies in the Caucasus against the Turks. His wife, who accompanied him to the front, did noble work for the wounded and sick, and it was while in this service that her baby was born in a hospital tent during a battle. An army blanket swung from two poles in one corner of the tent was the baby's crib during the rest of that terrible winter campaign. With the collapse of the Russian armies after the Bolshevik revolution the Asgapatians returned to Armenia for a brief spell and did their best to alleviate the suffering they found on every hand. But with a Turkish price on his head the father finally made his way with his family through Russia to Finland and then to this country. What they tell of conditions and needs in Armenia is first hand evidence.

In the Caucasus, Armenia, Syria, Turkey and Persia are more than 250,000 orphans, helpless little victims of war, massacre and deportation, and for the great majority the only bar between them and absolute starvation is a bowl of hot bean soup every day. This soup is supplied by the Near East Relief now making an appeal to the American people for sufficient funds to increase this dole and to provide these suffering little ones with clothing and give them an education that will help them to become self supporting. It is estimated that more than 1,500,000 in Western Asia will die of starvation unless American aid is continued.

MINISTERS NEED FREE HOSPITALS

Survey by Interchurch World Movement Reveals Pulpit's Poverty.

$1,242 HIGH AVERAGE SALARY FOR PROTESTANT PREACHERS

Clinics and Homes for Aged and Infirm and Better Salaries for Pastors Are Part of New Cooperation Program.

As a result of the campaign now being made by the Interchurch World Movement the combined Protestant churches of America will provide many more hospitals, clinics and homes for the aged and infirm. An interesting feature of these Protestant hospitals will be free treatment for ministers, as recent surveys made by the Interchurch organization have made the need for special dispensations very obvious.

The following startling facts were divulged as to the average salaries in the various denominations. Starting with the highest, the average for Episcopal ministers is $1,242; the average for Presbyterian (North), $1,177; for the United Presbyterian, $1,066; for the Reformed Church (Dutch), $1,170; for the Methodist Episcopal (North), $1,176; Congregational, $1,042, and for the Baptists, (Northern), $660.

With government experts announcing that $1,500 is the lowest salary upon which a family can be decently maintained and suggesting budgets for some lower, ministers have a discouraging outlook. Such things as hospital bills are almost impossible to meet, and yet every normal family has some illness in its midst every year. Accordingly the Interchurch Movement, while on its way to obtain higher averages in salaries, will assist by providing free care in its institutions.

Draft Horses in Demand

The demand for draft horses should stimulate breeding this spring, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Good drafters weighing 1,700 or more pounds are bringing $275 to $450 in eastern markets. Only sound, mature and good draft type of horses are wanted. The low price of the common medium-weight type of horses in the last few years checked breeding, and there is now an actual shortage of good draft animals. This shortage, together with the tendency to use more heavy horses, has opened up a market for the right kind of stuff. Present conditions point to a continued good market for the better quality of draft horses.

Farm Women Want Better Conditions

An extensive survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture shows that ninety-six per cent of the farm women do the family washing and more than half of them are still using a wash board. Sixty-one per cent of the farm women carry water an average of forty feet. Ninety-two per cent do the family sewing and mending, and a large majority do the family baking. The farm woman's work day averages 11 1/2 hours, the survey shows. The Department is co-operating with state colleges of agriculture in an effort to bring about better conditions for women on the farm, especially more home conveniences. As a result of this work 1,000 farm kitchens were remodeled last year.

Sorghum May be Popular again

The high price of sugar may mean that good old-fashioned sorghum will become popular again. Two years ago, on account of the scarcity of sugar, considerable sorghum cane was grown in the state. Old mills were repaired and started up again and new ones established in several counties. Five mills were operated in Seward county and six in Douglas county. The sirup was sold for $1.25 to $1.50 a gallon. Sugar was then selling for 11 cents a pound. According to the United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin 477, "Sorghum-Sirup Manufacture," the average yield of sirup per acre of cane is about 165 gallons. Hence an acre or less will produce enough sirup for the average family. Sorghum sirup often can be substituted for sugar in cooking. This bulletin, which may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Lincoln, gives valuable information regarding growing sorghum cane and making sirup.

Easy to Preserve Supply of Eggs

Fifteen dozen eggs can be preserved in a five-gallon jar of water glass, says a United States Department of Agriculture circular. This is enough to supply an average family during the high-priced winter months. Eggs laid during May and early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season. Only eggs known to be absolutely fresh should be used. Infertile eggs keep better than fertile eggs. Only clean unwashed eggs should be used and the shells should be strong and sound. Circulars giving details about egg preservation will be sent free by the College of Agriculture.
