Sioux City Sunday to see their daughter, Mrs. Marie Stallbaum, who is at the Samaritan hospital convalescing from a recent operation. ... Mrs. Lillian McLaughlin, of Fonda, Ia., departed for her home Monday after a several weeks' stay with relatives and friends here. ... Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moll, Fred Utemark and Louis Jopp left Monday for Excelsior Springs, Mo., where they will take the rest cure for a few weeks. ... The entire community was saddened when the death of Enos Demme occurred Friday. The end had been in sight for some time, although he was dressed and about almost every day until the last. He was one of Emerson's most highly respected and oldest pioneer citizens. There are few people here who have not benefited in some way by the influence of his upright and worthy life. He was one of God's noblemen. Enos Demme was born in Germany February 7, 1828, and died at his home near Emerson May 14, 1920, at the age of 92 years, 3 months, and 7 days. He came to this country when a young man 22 years old and was married to Miss Mary Hornick in 1859. Six children were born to them, George, Mrs. Julia Davis, William, Anna and Frank. He came to Nebraska in 1870 and has lived at the old home place continuously for more than half a century. A simple funeral service was held at the Presbyterian church, with which he had been actively associated so many years, in the presence of his family and intimate friends, on Saturday afternoon. Rev. Orr, of Wakefield, preached a beautiful sermon extolling his many virtues, from the text, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Rev. George Beith, of Winnebago, read the obituary and eulogized his memory. Among the beautiful flowers was a sheaf of ripened wheat typifying the beautiful and mature end of his earthly life. The pallbearers were Messrs. George H. Haase, I. A. Olmstead, T. J. Beith, Chas. Beith, Axel Erickson and C. C. Beaudreau. The remains were laid to rest in Roselawn cemetery in sight of the home place where the larger part of his life was spent.

SEMI-ANNUAL SCHOOL APPORTIONMENT.

The first semi-annual school apportionment for 1920 of moneys apportioned by the State Superintendent to the counties and fines collected in Dakota county are apportioned as follows:

From our share of state funds of the "one-fourth apportioned" equally among the districts of Nebraska, $577.86.
"Three-fourths apportioned" of the state funds according to the school census of Nebraska, $1829.36.
Total apportioned to Dakota county, $2407.22.
From fines collected in Dakota county, $1.00.
Total amount apportioned, $2408.22.
Number of districts in this county entitled to share, 39 3/4.
Amount per district of the "one-fourth apportioned," $14.817.
Total amount of "three-fourths apportioned" for Dakota county, $1829.36.
Total number of children in Dakota county (1919 census), 2322.
Amount from total "three-fourths" apportioned per child, $0.78783.
I hereby certify that the school districts of Dakota county, Neb., given in the list hereto appended, have made the proper census and financial reports, and that each of the said districts has held the legal number months of school during the year commencing the second Monday in July, 1918, and ending the second Monday in July, 1919. The treasurers of these districts will, therefore, be entitled to draw the money apportioned to their respective districts.

Done at Dakota City, Neb., this 26th day of March, 1920.
Draw your apportionment with other moneys, please.
(J. H. Bonderson will draw $99.59 for No. 61's apportionment that it failed to receive for 89 pupils in July, 1919.)

Good Sires Necessary for Good Profits

Almost every year sees a greater advance in farm values, and as land becomes worth more its producing powers must increase if farmers and livestock growers are to make adequate profits. Improved breeds and better animal husbandry offer the soundest solution to the problem, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture, in fostering a campaign for the use of purebred sires only. Corn costs the same whether fed to purebreds or scrubs, but there is a great difference when the animal is finished for the market. Livestock profits are the result of good breeding and good care. The average farm with equipment means an investment of from $40,000 to $50,000. It is no longer profitable to grow high priced grain and feed it to low grade stock. The price of good sires is relatively small compared with the total investment.

Farm Bureau Field Notes

C. R. Young, County Agent

Mr. Orville Legg, of Dakota City, one of the best Hampshire swine breeders in Nebraska, is offering a special prize of $10 to the winner of the Hampshire pig club in this county. This makes a total of $110 to be distributed in the county. All boys and girls from 10 to 18 are eligible to join this club or that of any other breed.

Several of our sheep men are planning to put their wool in the State pool. It is also very probable that some wool from outside the county will be sent here to be shipped with ours. The shipment will likely be made about June 10th. This method of handling wool netted Iowa farmers from 10 to 12 cents more per pound than was received by the men who did not pool. Full particulars will be furnished on application to the Farm Bureau office.

Frank Tomson, editor of "Short-horn in America," says, "If all the purebred Shorthorns in the United States were gathered together, there would be two head for every quarter section in Iowa." If all the pedigreed cattle in the United States were gathered together there would only be ten head for every quarter section in Iowa. Still many people are afraid that the raising of purebred cattle is being overdone. Some won't even use a pure-bred sire. Are you among that number? If you use nothing but purebred sires on your farm let the Farm Bureau know and they will present you with an emblem that is being used over the state.

We have at the Farm Bureau office, cuts, directions and costs for making a four-horse hay stacker and four-horse sweep. These plans were worked out for western farmers by County Agent W. H. Campbell. We also have full instructions for making a dehoring chute which Mr. Campbell originated. These and other plans may be had on application.

Many people who are not doing so can well afford to feed more mill feeds, oil meal and tankage than they are now using. The trouble is we become so accustomed to feeding corn. At present prices of corn and oats each are worth more than three cents a pound. Bran and shorts at this time are selling at three cents per pound, oil meal at four and a half cents, and tankage at six cents. These last feeds are bought for their protein contents, or to balance the ration as we generally say. Corn is very high in carbohydrates but low in protein. Protein is especially needed in the ration of growing animals, as it is a muscle building material. It is also needed to some extent in fattening mature animals. Milk contains a large amount of protein so that these concentrates should at present prices form a part of the grain rations fed to dairy cows.

Corn contains 7.5 per cent protein; oats 9.7 per cent and shorts 12.5 per cent; oil meal 31 per cent and tankage or meat meal 60 per cent. From these figures it is easy to figure the feeding values of each of the feeds.

Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

The young people will meet for their choir practice at the home of Mr. Edwin Morgan next Friday night. The Ladies Aid society will meet with Mrs. Leslie Bliven Thursday, May 27th, at 2 p. m. You are asked to be able to describe the oldest thing you have in the home and tell something about its history. Bring it if you can.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday morning, June 6th. Make it a point to be there. The pastor will be at the commencement exercises of Midland College next week. If the roads are good he intends to drive and take the family. It will be necessary to go to Fremont on Monday in order to be there on Tuesday in time to fill our place on the program.

We are much pleased, indeed to see the young folks of the Sunday school stay for the preaching services. Some parents have the mistaken opinion that between the Sunday school and the preaching service, the Sunday school is the more important. This is not the case, if you cannot attend both services come to church. The Sunday school is the Child of the Church, and the regular worship of the preaching is the more essential.

M. E. Church Notes

Rev. S. A. Draise, Pastor

That was a fine Sunday school last Sunday. But there were some folks who failed to come again.

Nearly everybody was there on time. There are a few who are nearly always late. Turn your clock up a little. 10 o'clock we start singing, and we need you to help.

The Children's day will be June 13. Next Sunday is Memorial Day. A special program is being prepared for the eleven o'clock service, consisting of appropriate singing, and Memorial sermon by the pastor. All Civil war veterans, wives, and widows, together with all service men who had any part either across the sea or in camps at home, during the world war, are urged to be present. It is a service for you and your fallen comrades. It is a service for everybody who will desire to keep sacred the memory of those who offered their lives as a willing sacrifice that we might continue to have the blessings of our great national life. We are all parts of a great commonwealth. This service will be in keeping with that spirit. The evening service will be at 8 o'clock.

State Encourages Ornamental Plantings

Several circulars on ornamental and forest plantings and varieties of fruits have just been published by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. The state is divided into five districts and a list of plantings given for each. One series contains a list of ornamental and forest plantings, or shrubs and hedges, and another series contain a list of varieties of fruits, and still another gives names of perennials for the different sections of the state. Another circular is called "Roses for Nebraska," and another "Planting Evergreen Trees in Nebraska." Requests for circulars should specify the kind of circular wanted, that is which of the following is wanted: "Varieties of fruit," "Ornamental and forest planting," "Perennials," "Roses in Nebraska," or "Planting Evergreen Trees in Nebraska." The proper circular for his section of the state will be sent.
