Dixon Journal: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hopkins drove up from South Sioux City Sunday for a few days' visit in the F. J. Hopkins home. Ralph has made many pleasant visits in Dixon, always greeting his friends with a hearty hello, but this time he wears a different smile, one of those newly married smiles. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were married recently at the bride's home in western Nebraska. Mrs. Hopkins was formerly Miss Frances Blanchard. Shortly after their marriage they came to South

Sioux City where Ralph has a fine home provided.

Allen News: W. A. Morgan of South Sioux City, visited at the Phin Ellis home last Friday night. In speaking of the evening's entertainment, we should not omit the musical treat provided by the graduating class. This was a family by the name of Brown, from Dakota City, and the orchestra music produced by this family of children was greatly enjoyed by all, for they were well trained musicians who handled their instruments with the skill that produced the results so greatly desired.

Ponca Journal: Prof. and Mrs. Conrad Jacobson entertained the graduates and high school teachers at their home Friday evening. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and games and refreshments were served at the close. Farm Bureau Field Notes

C. E. Young, County Agent
Katheline Daley of Jackson, and Charles Beermann and Harry Larsen of Dakota City, left Monday for Lincoln to attend the Junior Club week at the university. These young people are winners of last year's pig and corn clubs. The forenoon of each day of the week will be spent in class room instruction. The afternoons will be devoted to trips about the University and Lincoln. Friday they will be in Omaha. The Junior Department will have the boys and girls in charge. About 150 from all parts of the state will be present.

On most farms the breeding time for poultry is over. Where there is time, all males should be removed from the females. Fertile eggs, kept for but a few days in warm weather, show blood-rings. Do your part in improving the egg market by selling or confining the males.

At a recent meeting of the Illinois State Farm Bureau association, plans were made to make sure of a supply of rock phosphate and limestone for farm crop purposes. In this connection, they are buying large mines in some of the Southern states. They also have a committee to confer with Congress in an effort to persuade them to continue the nitrate plant at Mussel Shoals, Ala. Nitrates as is known by most people, is an essential element of plant growth as well as an element in explosives. Plans were taken at this meeting to procure a draftsman for a month to draw plans for storehouses. Business of this kind will cut out middle men and lower the cost of production.

Some steps of equal importance in the marketing of livestock were also taken at this meeting, but will not be discussed. These things are mentioned to show what some state

Farm Bureau organizations are doing. Nebraska will put on a State Farm Bureau drive this fall. Every farmer should familiarize himself with what other states are doing. Our problems may not all be the same, but are many and important. This organization is 100 percent for the farmer, and should receive 100 percent support.

M. E. Church Notes

Rev. S. A. Draise, Pastor
The service last Sunday morning was a delight to all who were present. A large and appreciative audience was present. This service is evidence without further argument that just a willing co-operation on the part of those who have it in their measure of ability leads on to success. The decorations which were so artistically planned by D. M. Neiswanger and Mrs. Forbes, were a delight and source of cheer to everybody. And the very appropriate musical numbers prepared under the direction of Mell A. Schmied, were sources of helpfulness and encouragement. All the way around, everybody who had a part entered into the occasion with the true spirit and pushed on to the success of the day.

It would help if everybody would be as interested every Sunday.

Work of putting in the floor at the basement is going on this week. The Sunday school, which has an attendance of 100, will be greatly relieved when the added room and equipment is ready to occupy.

Children's day will be one week from next Sunday. A very fine program is being planned.

Remember the big dinner Friday at Don Forbes, served by the Ladies Aid.
Come to church next Sunday.
