DEALERS!

HERE IS THE BIGGEST OPPORTUNITY IN THE FARM FIELD

The demand for farm electric light and power plants is growing with amazing rapidity. It seems that almost every up-to-date farmer wants this great convenience. The advantages of safe electric light in house—barn—yard and other buildings—running water under pressure, and power for all light machinery—are too apparent to overlook.

We are distributors in this territory, for the famous

Silent ALAMO

FARM ELECTRIC POWER AND LIGHT PLANT

This is the remarkable plant that is demonstrated at the fairs, running under full load, with three ordinary drinking glasses as a foundation. It is the plant that is absolutely free from ruinous vibration—needs no special foundation—runs quietly without being anchored—has so many wonderful features that it practically sells itself.

We want a live dealer in every locality—the chance of a lifetime

We will give this dealer exclusive territory and back him to the limit with the stuff that makes sales.

This is the fastest growing business in the farm field. Live light plant dealers are all doing a big business. Silent Alamo dealers are unusually successful.

Winside (Net.) Tribune: The Tribune has nothing but praise in speaking of the entertainment last Saturday evening. Miss Olson was simply grand, and by far the best elocutionist ever in Winside. Her delineations were perfect, and carried the audience with her, particularly in the pathetic horse-race recital.

Chickens do better during the hot months if provided with plenty of shade, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture. It pays to provide artificial protection from the sun if there are no trees or bushes. Overcrowding also often results in disaster in hot weather. A coop that is large enough to hold baby chicks will not do when they are two or more months old. Growing chicks require plenty of room.

Miss E. Margaret Olson, dramatic reader and impersonator, of Sioux City, formerly of Seattle, Wash., will give an entertainment at the M. E. church on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, June 24th, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society. The proceeds of the entertainment to be used for the new basement. Miss Olson will dramatize "Polly of the Circus," in which she impersonates sixteen characters. She will be assisted by Prof. Orwin Allison Morse, pianist, of Sioux City, and Miss Mildred Nelson, vocalist. Miss Olson is a reader of great ability, and holds her listeners intensely interested to the end.

Cedar Rapids Man Is Now Convinced

BELIEVED NOTHING COULD HELP HIM, BUT TANLAC PUT HIM BACK ON FEET.

"Since I began taking Tanlac I not only feel better than I have in years, but I have gained fifteen pounds in weight, and am still gaining every day," said Gary Walters, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"For seven years I had suffered from stomach trouble," he said, "My appetite was poor and my stomach so badly upset that at times even the sight of food made me sick, and everything I ate disagreed with me. After every meal I became nauseated, seldom being able to retain a thing and would have such severe pains in the pit of my stomach they almost drew me double. My heart palpitated terribly at times and often I had such smothering spells it was all I could do to get my breath. These spells troubled me more at night and sometimes I had to get up and walk the floor just fighting for breath. My head ached so bad at times it almost drove me distracted and I suffered so much from dizziness I could not begin to do any work that required bending over. I had lost weight and strength until I was in a badly run down, weakened condition, and despaired of ever getting well again.

"I decided to try Tanlac because others said it helped them and no that I had any confidence in it to help me. I did not doubt the word of the people giving these statements, but I had taken so many different medicines without getting a particle of relief from them I didn't believe Tanlac or anything else could do me any good. Well, I had taken it only a short while when I began to realize it was not like other medicines I had tried, for the improvement in my condition was simply remarkable. As I kept taking Tanlac I kept getting better until today I am a well man. My stomach is in fine shape, everything I eat agrees with me, my heart does not palpitate and I never have a sign of shortness of breath. My head had stopped aching, I never became dizzy, and I have regained my strength so that my work as an iron-moulder is actually a pleasure to me. There is a wonderful difference in me now and before I took Tanlac, and it's a real pleasure to tell others about it."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy, in South Sioux City by McBeath's Pharmacy, in Homer by Brassfield & Jensen.—Advertisement.

Poultry Raising Attracting Attention

Five hundred men and women from seven counties attended a poultry field day program at the University Farm at Lincoln recently. Speakers declared that Nebraska is rapidly becoming one of the big poultry states. In 1917 it produced $56,000,000 worth of poultry products. The College of Agriculture is making special effort to encourage the industry. Specialists are sent over the state to give instruction and demonstrations in better poultry raising methods. The state has established twenty-nine poultry demonstration farms in seven counties which serve as centers for the distribution of knowledge regarding better poultry methods, and also for the distribution of better breeding poultry. Thirty-five thousand persons attended culling demonstrations given by specialists last year. A national egg-laying contest is being conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lincoln to encourage the raising of high egg-laying strains.

Junior Farmers and Home Makers Rewarded.

One hundred and twenty-seven boys and girls, representing every section of the state, were entertained by the Nebraska College of Agriculture May 31 to June 5, in what is known as the annual boys and girls club week. All were boys and girls who excelled in farming, stock raising or home making, while members of clubs. Their ages ranged from 12 to 18 years. Half of the week was spent in instruction in automobiles, tractors, crops and live stock, or training in cooking, sewing and other household arts. The afternoons were devoted to sight seeing and educational trips about Lincoln. One day was spent in Omaha, the Commercial club of that city providing a special train and entertaining the future farmers in royal style.
