Lutheran Church Notes
 By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

The Ladies Aid society of Salem will meet at the home of Mrs. M. G. Leamer on Thursday, July 1, at 2:30 P. M.
 The pastor will preach a patriotic sermon next Sunday morning from last Sunday's Sunday school lesson. The matter of National righteousness is very largely, not only wholly, a matter of personal righteousness. The people as a nation, should recognize that God is over all and that His hand is for or against a nation to raise it up or to cast it down, and that this fact should be considered.
 The young peoples choir will meet at the church on Friday night.

ODE TO THE GIRLS

(Taken from the Westhope, N. D. Standard, and credited to "One of the Boys.")

Little girl, you are so small,
 Don't you wear no clothes at all?
 Don't you wear no shimmy shirt?
 Don't you wear no "petti" skirt?
 Just your corsets and your hose—
 Are those all your underclothes?
 Little girl, you look so slight
 When I see you in the light.
 With your skirts cut rather high
 Won't you catch a cold and die?
 Aren't you 'fraid to show your calf?
 It must make the fellows laugh!

Little girl, what is the cause?
 Why your clothes all made of gauze?
 Don't you wear no undervest?
 When you go out fully dressed?

Do you like those peek-a-boos,
 'Stead of normal underclothes?
 Little girl, your 'sunders show
 When the sunshine plays just so.

I can see your tinted flesh
 Through your thinnest gown of mesh;
 Is it modest, do you 'pose,
 Not to wear some underclothes?

I can see way past your throat
 To a region most remote;
 'Taint my fault, now, don't you suppose,
 Why not wear some underclothes?

Little girl, your socks have shoals
 Of those tiny little holes;
 Why you want to show your limb
 I do not know; is it a whim?

Do you want to catch the eye
 Of each fellow passing by?
 Little girl, where is the charm
 In your long, uncovered arm?

And the "V" behind your neck—
 Is it for the birds to peck?
 Little girl, I tell you those
 Are not as nice as underclothes.

Little girl, now listen here:
 You'd be just twice as dear
 If you'd cover up your charms—
 Neck, back, legs, and both your arms.

I would take you to some shows
 If you'd wear some underclothes;
 But no lover—goodness knows—
 Wants a girl "sans" underclothes.

Little girl, your mystery,
 Loving charms and modesty
 Are what makes us fellows keen
 To possess a little queen.

'S'pose I wore some harem pants,
 Or no shirt like all my aunts,
 Or a ringlet through my nose,
 They'd arrest me, don't you 's'pose?

I must wear a coat of mail,
 Clothed from head to big toe nail;
 I must cover up my form,
 Even when the weather's warm.

Farm Women Average 13 Hours a Day

Nebraska farm women are not joining in the crusade for shorter hours. A United States Department of Agriculture survey of 350 Nebraska farm homes shows the following facts: Farm women are working an average of more than thirteen hours a day during the summer months. Only 30 per cent of the farm homes have running water. Sixty-five per cent of the women carry water an average of fifty-five feet. Only 17 per cent of the farm homes are lighted by electricity or gas. Ninety-nine per cent of the farm women are doing the family washing and ironing, and 28 per cent of them are still washing with a board and tub, and only 20 per cent have gas or electric irons. While less than 5 and a half per cent of the farm women work in the field 23 per cent of them help care for livestock and 42 per cent help with the milking. Ninety-eight per cent bake their own bread and 97 per cent do the family sewing. Fifteen per cent of the farm houses have bath tubs. Kerosene stoves are in 77 per cent of the homes. Women produce 95 per cent of the $60,000,000 worth of poultry products raised in the state annually.

Canned Food May Be High in Price

Indications point to a greatly reduced amount of commercially canned food in the country this year, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The packers are finding it difficult to obtain labor and the cost of the raw product that will be canned will be high in price. High raw product, high labor and high sugar can only mean high canned food for next winter. The Department is urging that home canning be stimulated to the utmost. All vegetables and fruit possible to obtain should be put into cans. If sugar is not obtainable or too high in price, it is urged that the canning be done without sugar.

HOMER

D. C. Bristol and family are visiting their son Charles and family at Kenwood, Iowa.
 Albert Bristol, of Sioux City, was a Homer visitor Wednesday of this week.
 Miss Margaret Pomeroy of South Sioux City, is a Homer visitor this week with relatives.
 Sherman McKinley, jr., of South Sioux City, while cranking his car Sunday sprained his wrist. An X-ray was taken and it is thought the bone is split.
 Fred Brasfield and family moved Friday into the Joseph Smith house recently vacated by Will Blacketer. Chas. Jochimsen, of Los Angeles, Cal., visited his aunt, Mrs. Alice Bolster Friday.
 Mrs. Alice Bolster and daughter Helen, and Mr. Chas. Jochimsen were guests Sunday at the H. C. Rasmussen home.
 Warren Kinnear was a Sioux City visitor Monday.
 Miss Olive Leamer of Dakota City, visited with home folks Sunday.
 Roy McKinley, who we were informed went to California to visit relatives, is back in Homer. Floods have no terrors for him, or he would not have returned so soon.
 Homer had quite a heavy rain on Monday and Monday night. Strange to say we never thought of a flood, but slept like an infant through it all.
 Ashford and Churchill had a fine bunch of feeders going out to the Ashford farm one day last week.
 Will Hansen had a fine bunch of whiteface cattle on the market Tuesday.
 Mrs. H. A. Monroe departed Sunday to visit her relatives at Humboldt, Iowa. An aunt expects to return with her to visit her sister, Mrs. Rachael Kinnear, in Homer.
 While down town a few days ago, we heard a party say that after the flood there were people from Pender camped near town and they said they had gathered over a thousand dollars worth of floatage, or salvage, or whatever you call it. Our marshal law did not extend far enough it seems.
 J. B. Bowman and wife of Albia, Neb., on their way by auto to Minnesota, called at the S. A. Brown home Monday to say "hello" to Miss Nadine Shepardson. Mrs. Bowman was principal of the Superior schools when Miss Shepardson taught there.
 Ralph Smith, son of Oliver Smith and wife, is now head shipping clerk for the Avery Implement Company of Omaha. Pretty good for a Homer boy, in so short a time.
 Miss Alice Leamer returned from Fremont Friday, where she visited Miss Edna Ochander for several days.

Honey Producers Make Big Profits
 While there is increasing interest in Nebraska as a honey state, profits which some honey producers make seem to justify even more consideration. A farmer near Florence purchased a two-pound package of bees April 25, 1919, for $4.50. He obtained 248 pounds of honey from this start last year, which he sold for 35 cents a pound, or a total of $86.00. A Douglas county woman paid $20 for a stand of bees a year ago this spring, and sold last year 144 pounds of honey from them, for which she received 40 cents a pound, or a total of $57.60.

Starved Chickens Don't Grow
 Several instances where baby chicks were over-fed the first six weeks, and then turned out to rustle for themselves have been found by the College of Agriculture Extension poultry specialists in their travels over the state. The result in nearly every instance was impoverished chicks, with the owner wondering why the stock did not do better. It is recommended that moderate feeding be continued until the chicks have the framework for proper development. A variety ration, such as dry mash, sour or buttermilk, and green feed, is necessary if the chicks are to be kept going forward.

CITY MAN HAS BIG ADVANTAGE OVER FARMER

New York Has Billion and Half Tax-Exempt Securities Now Outstanding.

THEN WHY TAX FARM BONDS?

Guy Huston Shows That Proposal to Tax Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds Would Injure Farmer and Raise Interest Rates on Farm Mortgages.

New York city alone has outstanding $1,450,000,000 of tax-exempt bonds, and there is a total of $8,000,000,000 of tax-exempt municipal bonds outstanding at the present time. Hundreds of million of this amount are invested in electric light plants, water works, municipal docks, subways and other large income-producing properties. Then why deny to the farmers of America the right to borrow a few hundred million dollars on tax-exempt bonds?

This was the question raised by Guy Huston, president of the American Association of Joint Stock Land Banks, in January at a hearing before the senate committee on banking and currency. A bill, known as senate bill 3109, which would repeal the tax-exemption feature of the farm loan act as applied to the bonds of joint stock land banks, was before the committee and the argument urged by the supporters of the bill was that the government needed the revenue. Mr. Huston showed that these farm loan bonds constituted less than one-third of one per cent of the amount of tax-free securities and that the income the government would derive by taxing these farm bonds would amount to nothing as compared to the income that might be derived by taxing city bonds.

Mr. Huston said: "There are four billions of dollars of farm mortgages in the United States, which, according to the best authorities, are held as follows: Insurance companies... $1,100,000,000 Savings banks, state banks, trust companies and commercial banks, 1,000,000,000 Eleemosynary institutions 400,000,000 Local loans 1,250,000,000 All other 250,000,000 $4,000,000,000

Farm Mortgages Not Generally Taxed.

He explained that the $2,100,000,000 of farm mortgages carried by the insurance companies, savings banks, state banks, trust companies and commercial banks escaped the income tax, and that the income tax paid by these institutions is a tax only on the profit on the stock of these corporations. He said that the joint stock land banks now pay an income upon the profit on their stock the same as these other institutions.
 Mr. Huston also explained that eleemosynary institutions which carry $400,000,000 of farm mortgages pay no income tax.
 He said further that $1,250,000,000 which he classified as local loans are carried in small units by local investors who pay only a local income tax. If they happen to pay any at all. These cannot be rewritten under the provisions of the federal farm loan act because they have been made on terms and conditions which could not be accepted under the federal law.

Food More Important Than Revenue.

Mr. Huston then showed that in reality there was left only $250,000,000 (out of the original $4,000,000,000 of loans on farm mortgages) which are now paying an income tax but which in the future might escape taxation under the farm loan act as it now stands.
 Mr. Huston said that the need of the nation for increased production in agriculture was so great that the government, acting for the common welfare of the entire nation, should permit the issuance of farm mortgage bonds without their being subject to the income tax.
