The University of Nebraska has issued a catalog of purebred Holstein cattle which it has for sale out of its dairy herd at the College of Agriculture. In the list are several cows with high-producing records and good records for themselves and a number of young bulls sired by the $10,000 head of the University dairy herd. Those interested in this stock may obtain a catalog by writing the Department of Dairy Husbandry, University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

One gallon of waterglass will make solution enough to preserve fifty to sixty dozen eggs, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture, which is urging people to store eggs for next winter. The solution is made up of one part waterglass to nine parts pure water. Boil the water and allow it to cool before adding the waterglass. The containers should be either earthenware or wooden pails and should have covers. Storage should be made in cool and well ventilated places.

An enormous waste of grain and great loss of time every year thru inefficient work of threshing machines that are not properly adjusted and repaired, says United States department of agriculture farmers' bulletin 1636, "Care and Repair of Farm Machinery—Grain Separators." The bulletin tells about the repair and adjustment of threshing machines and gives hints where to watch for needless waste of grain. The bulletin may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture.

The assessment of the various counties of the state will be made on 70 per cent of the increase asked by the state officials last spring. This was decided at a meeting of the county assessors and the state board of equalization held at Lincoln Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The proposal after the assessors had agreed that this was a fair way of adjusting the assessments. It also was decided that the board should compare the counties. Most of the counties succeeded in raising the increase asked by the board last spring. While Dakota county looked 15 per cent, it made a much better showing than some of the counties in the western part of the state. Under the new adjustment Dakota county's assessment will raise more than the required 70 per cent of increase, according to County Assessor J. P. Rockwell, who attended the meeting at Lincoln. The general fund of almost every county in the state is short, as only 15 mills on the dollar for that fund is the maximum levy. The equalization board was in session Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

The time is come when the Lutheran church must begin to look forward to the matter of taking care of the parsonage property. We have all seen lamenting the ravages of the river this spring, and it is truly lamentable, and while other property is being destroyed and endangered, the parsonage property is in for its share. We are in no immediate danger, the river is 400 feet from us, and when you remember that the stream has cut in almost that much this season, you can readily see our need for doing something. The necessary thing at present is to determine the thing we want to do when the move is necessary. There is no wisdom in waiting till we have to come to an immediate conclusion and have to act instantly. We have time to think this matter over, now, but if we put it off till the evil day we will have no time. Why wait till the river is at the corner of the property. We are not raising an alarm because we are excited, for we are neither alarmed nor excited, but getting at some things in good time saves much work and many possible mistakes.

There are but two things to be done in the matter. Move the house to some other location and sell the land for what it will bring, or sell the property as it is, and build new. In either case there is the matter of location to be considered. Some three years ago there was a not too serious talk of a parsonage at the Salem church. There were some real questions as to its feasibility, and it is still so. No snap judgment will do here. What we need now is to know what we are going to do when the time comes to act. If it is the idea to build anew when necessary, it will take considerable time from the inception of the idea to the moving into the completed house. If it is the sense of the congregation to dispose of the property, the sooner it is done the better. Personally, the pastor is loathe to leave the present location with its trees, and large premises, but when one has to do a thing there is no argument, at any rate with the Missouri river.

The council has been on the ground and looked the situation over, at some meeting in the near future the matter will be taken up seriously. If any of the congregation have anything to say on the matter, I'm sure any of the council will be glad to hear what you have to say of it. It is a situation we must face. Of course it may be said there may not be any further cutting. True there may not, but with the history of the thing for the last twenty years, and the condition of the present, it is hardly possible to rest upon such an improbability, which is at best a possibility and a hope. Just for the present, give the matter some real thought as to what ought to be done, talk it over with other members.

President Lewis of Emerson, has been in South Sioux City several times the last few weeks in company with Rev. Mahron, of Ponca, and Rev. I. W. Guss of Omaha, for the purpose of looking over the field with the view of reorganizing the Lutheran church work there which has been discontinued for some years. He reports there have been found some twenty-five families there of Lutheran connection, but he is not yet able to say what may be done with them in the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leamer have asked for and received their church letter to the South Sioux City Presbyterian church.

The departure of Miss Amy Calbertson from the community deprives our Sunday school of a very faithful and efficient teacher. We are sorry to lose her. Miss Lulu Larson will teach Miss Amy's class of boys while she is at home this summer.

The young people will meet at the church Friday night for their practice.
