"CORNS"

Lift Right Off Without Pain

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn. Instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

A Good Trader.

"Of course I realize from all you have said that you are the smoothest business man who ever hit this town," the quiet chap observed when the salesman slowed down for want of breath, "but there are some others. Now, for instance, I'll sell you an article for a dollar that I paid five for, and still make a profit on the deal."

"Can't be done, I'll take you!" the salesman responded briskly, and handed over a dollar.

Whereupon the quiet chap gave him a $5 meal ticket that had been punched for all but ten cents of its value.

After Ten Years—

Eatonie Proves the Best

"I say, God bless Eatonie," writes Mrs. Della M. Doyen. "I can truthfully say, after suffering with stomach trouble for ten long years, that I have never had anything do me so much good as this one box of Eatonie."

We print those grateful words from this dear lady, so that sufferers everywhere may have hope and a little faith—just enough to give Eatonie a trial. Why, folks, last year over half a million people used Eatonie and found relief.

This is the secret: Eatonie simply takes up the excess acids, poisons and gases, and carries them right out of the body. Of course, when the cause is removed, the sufferer gets well. Stomach trouble causes about seventy non-organic diseases, so, if you are suffering any kind of misery, not feeling well, go right to your druggist today and obtain a big box of Eatonie; cost is a trifle. Use it and find quick, sure relief.

Make this test—you will see, and then, if you are not satisfied, your druggist will hand your money back. He does not want one penny unless Eatonie pleases you. Adv.

Sixty-Year Old Apple Tree.

In 1858 a Missouri farmer decided that he wanted to take Greeley's advice and go west to do a little growing up with the country. He took with him a tiny apple tree growing on his farm, to see what luck it might bring him. From all appearances he made a wise move, for the tree is still growing and showering apples all over the orchard each year.

END OF EIGHT YEARS MISERY

Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Recovered.

Newark, N. J.—"The doctor said I had an organic trouble and treated me for several weeks.

At times I could not walk at all and I suffered with my back and limbs so I often had to stay in bed. I suffered off and on for eight years. Finally I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was a good medicine and tried it with splendid effect. I can now do my household work and my washing. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound and your Blood Medicine and three of my friends are taking them to advantage. You can use my name for a testimonial."

THE MODE IN SPORTS CLOTHES

"IN SILK attire my lady goes," sang a poet of days gone by of his dainty sweetheart. Today he would change it. "In sports attire my lady goes," would be more accurate. Whether of silk or whatever else, sports clothes have almost eclipsed other wear for summer days. Since women look for this cheerful apparel with so much avidity, creators of it are making excursions in all directions in search of original ideas. It seems that sports clothes fit in almost anywhere, and the task of designers lies in making them suited to all personalities. For young women they have an easy task; for older ones, they must add a flavor of dignity to sportive garments.

A sports coat of some sort goes without saying in every complete summer outfit. This season finds black ones of flannel, of silk or velvet, or any other material that the designer may choose so long as he knows how to give it the chic touches that make it smart. But there are legions of coats that are in colors, some of them going so far as to flaunt red in large open plaids. What makes sports clothes enticing is their general jauntness, but color plays a less important part this season than in the early history of sports attire; designers arrive at their results by more subtle means. There is plenty of color, however, for those who find it becoming and it is used with delightful artistry in some of this season's sports sets—a set being a skirt and overgarment of some sort. In the picture above there is a skirt and smock of coarse natural linen. The skirt is short and full and plain. The long blouse has convenient three-quarter length sleeves and comfortable round neck. What puts this smock on the map of the fashion world is the vivid embroidery about the bottom of the smock which might of course be an applique of linen in bright colors outlined with yarn in black. Figures of birds and geometrical forms take the place of floral motifs occasionally. Unbleached domestic will make a successful set of this kind. The small, soft hat is made of narrow ribbon and has a little cluster of yarn flowers applied to the upper edge of the brim. Flat-heeled canvas shoes and hosiery stockings finish this sports dress correctly.

GETTING OUTSIDE THE WALLS

OUTDOOR life has come into its own, especially in the lands of brief summers. Everyone appreciates the benefits and the charm of life out in the open air and modern homes are built to allow much time to be spent outside of walls. Even city dwellers, with no bit of garden or scrap of ground with a single tree, have learned to make the most of such porches as they may be blessed with and are migrating to the roofs and converting them into a semblance of gardens.

The family that has a porch at its disposal can almost live in the open air. Everyone gravitates toward it as toward an open fire in the winter time. It is a good idea to furnish it for comfort and as attractively as possible, including a table for serving breakfast, lunch, or refreshments when one has guests. The porch furniture may be of wicker or equally fashionable painted wood. Colors should be quiet and cool and a coat of enamel used as a finish. The housewife will find this use of the porch for meals a great labor saving and an exhilarating change from the dining room. Instead of linen for the porch table there is a vogue for plain oil cloths, white or colored, cut into center pieces and dollies and painted or stenciled in colors. They do away with the laundering of linen, saving the precious fabric, now so scarce as well as saving labor. With vines and flowering plants a porch becomes a lovely place and guests enjoy it. For serving refreshments, colored linen, the embroidered, unbleached sets, take the place of oil cloth sets, or pretty center pieces and dollies of cretonne with edges finished with crochet.

If one is lucky enough to have a lawn, a terrace, a grape arbor or even so much as a single tree on a bit of grass covered ground, outdoor meals are more than a treat served thereon and a luncheon allows one to entertain a considerable number of guests with little service. Since the "cafeteria" idea has become a fad the duties of the hostess are limited. She decks out her table, provides it with food, sees that there are plenty of comfortable seats scattered about and leaves it to the guests to do much of their own serving.

Those who are building homes now are providing for dining out of doors with an out-of-doors room of some sort or a porch, ample enough to allow a part of it to be used for this purpose.

Every porch that is large enough—and it need not be very large—should have a swinging couch. For solid comfort nothing equals it. Some member of the family is sure to be benefited by sleeping on it at night. It will attract everyone, for the daytime nap, for the pleasant twilight and evening hours. In fact it fulfills the mission of the porch, which is to provide comfort.

Watch Your Steps.

The importance of graceful walking never has been more evident than now. All the styles in fashion are intensely feminine, and it is no exaggeration to say their success depends almost entirely on the way they are worn and carried. Draperies floating from the waist demand spring in the step and light feet that do not lag. Short sleeves are lamentable, unless the arms and hands are well formed and well kept, and there is no charm in the display of silk stockings unless the ankles be slim. In the choice of clothes women must first be honest with themselves and then choose according to nature's endowment.

The Need of Matrons' Hats.

That the matronly woman needs as much attention in supplying her with becoming and suitable hats as does the stout woman in regard to suits and dresses is the opinion of one of the most experienced salesmen in a wholesome millinery house. He deplores the lack of attention that is given to hats for elderly women. They are harder to suit than anyone else, it is true, he said, but the reason is that no special effort has hitherto been made to meet their need. The matron's hat he considered one of the possibilities of the millinery trade in the future.

Novel Bag Handle.

A chain which will be very fetching on a black bag is one which is easily and cheaply made. Get a number of the smallest white bone rings and connect them with loops of black silk braid. These loops should be about an inch in length. A black taffeta bag with this sort of chain fastened to the top will give an effect which is chic to a black and white costume. A bag of navy blue or gray would lend itself to this sort of handle treatment also.

Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not. Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, toothbrush or sponge.

Children Cry For

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor. But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

Paging Herself.

While a member of a college society, I was called upon one evening to act as recording secretary in the absence of the one elected to that office. After a short prayer, with which all programs were opened, I began to call the roll. When I came to my own name, which I called several times, I waited so long for the "here" or "present" response that a smile and titter ran around the hall. I then became conscious of what I was doing, and proceeded to finish the roll call in a hurry.—Chicago Tribune.

Sunlight for Malaria.

Dr. G. Viale reports to Pollicinco (Rome) that cases of long rebellious malaria improve rapidly when the nude trunk is exposed to the sunlight for several hours after each dose of quinine.

First Choice.

Down in Terre Haute there are two places of interest, to which every Terre Hautean takes his visiting friends—the Davis gardens and Highland Lawn cemetery. The other day a young society matron started to take her two visiting friends out for a drive. Now, her roadster was new and the way she drove it was exceedingly reckless. Near Main street she turned to the women and asked: "Now which place shall I take you first?" The most frightened one turned to the other visitor: "Oh, tell her Davis gardens," she whispered. "I'm sure we'll get to the cemetery if she keeps up this sort of driving much farther."—Indianapolis News.

Nickel No Good.

A little girl walked into a confectionery one morning, placed a nickel on the counter and called for an ice cream cone. "Ice cream cones are 7 cents, little girl," the flax clerk announced. "Well, then gimme a soda pop." "Six cents." "Got any root beer?" "Yep, 6 cents, too." The little girl sighed disappointedly and started out, leaving her nickel on the counter. "Here, little girl, you're leaving your nickel," the clerk called to her. "Oh, that's all right," the child shouted back. "It's no good to me—it won't buy anything!" Those who are gossiped about least.
