BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB WORK AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

The Championship teams in Home Economics, Animal Husbandry and Farm Projects from eleven northwestern states will compete for interstate honors at the Boys and Girls Club encampment at the Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th. The boys and girls work both on the farm and in the towns is most important and the United States Government is especially emphasizing this work in all government aided schools. A permanent building has been provided for this work at Sioux City and it will be made a prominent feature of fair work.

GOATS AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

A means of reducing the high cost of living can be seen on exhibition at the Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th. A herd of goats, recently imported, has been entered. They are of the "milking strain" but are not guaranteed to be "smellless." It is well known that the oriental nations live upon milk products from the goat and bible students especially should be interested in this exhibit. With the high price of milk it should be easy to follow in the footsteps of the ancients.

CATTLE SHOW AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

Entries of Beef and Dairy Cattle for the Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th, are commencing to come in and indications are that a very fine showing in both divisions will be on exhibition. Dairy breeders are coming out this year in larger numbers and the farmers of this territory will be able to improve their herd conditions from purchases made at Sioux City.

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture has tested fifty-nine models of tractors to determine if they will produce the power which their makers claim for them. A state law provides that the university shall test all tractors before they are given a permit to be sold in the state. Tractors are submitted to a ten-hour pulping test, a belt wheel test, and tests for fuel consumption.

Bulletin Tells About Silage Making

Silos on Nebraska farms are growing in number every year. Silage is the best and cheapest form in which to store succulent feed. Many forage crops can be made into silage, but corn makes the best silage. Silage is well suited for feeding all kinds of livestock. Dairy cows need it perhaps more than other classes of animals, because the succulence it supplies is necessary for large milk production. It is a cheap and economical feed for beef cattle, from breeding cow to fattening steer. Sheep like it and it is well suited to their needs. Even horses and mules may be fed a limited quantity with good results. Good silage depends upon cutting the crop at the right stage, fine cutting, even distribution, thorough packing, and plenty of moisture in the cut material, says United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin 578, "The Making and Feeding of Silage," which may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Lincoln. This bulletin makes many suggestions regarding silage making and feeding that will be of interest to every farmer who feeds silage.

Pullet Lay 200 Eggs in Ten Months

Seven pullets entered in the Nebraska National Egg Laying Contest being conducted by the College of Agriculture at Lincoln have laid 200 or more eggs each since November 1 and thereby attained the standard set for recognition in the Official Record of Performance. Thirty pullets in the contest laid 25 or more eggs each during the month of July. It is expected that a large number of the hens will lay 200 or more eggs each during the year. This is a remarkable number, especially where it is considered that the average Nebraska hen lays only about 65 eggs a year. The contest is being conducted in an effort to stimulate breeding for egg production. Those having pullets entered are encouraged to use their better laying hens to mate with purebred cockerels with high laying ancestry. Entries are now being received for the second contest. Those interested in having the state test the egg laying ability of some of their best pullets should write the Poultry Husbandry Department, College of Agriculture, Lincoln.

Making Farm Life More Attractive

"Beautifying the Farmstead" is the name of a United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin which will be of interest to many Nebraska farmers who are trying to make their farm home surroundings more attractive and homelike. It is well illustrated with pictures of good and bad examples of arrangement of farm buildings, trees, lawns, shrubs, flowers, walks, lanes, and all that goes to make up attractive farm homes. It is remarkable what a few shrubs, trees, flowers, or rearrangement, will do to change a bleak, barren and shabby looking place into an attractive home. A few dollars spent in beautifying the home surroundings may add hundreds of dollars to the selling price of the place. The College of Agriculture at Lincoln is sending out hundreds of copies of this bulletin to Nebraska farmers. Ask for bulletin 1087.

"Grandest in the World," He Says

DES MOINES MAN IMPROVED SO FAST ON TANLAC HE COULD HARDLY BELIEVE IT.

"Tanlac, to my mind, is the grandest medicine in the world," declared Harry Baker, R. F. D. 3, box 151, Des Moines, Iowa, machinist at the Union Shops.

"I have actually gained twenty pounds in weight since I started taking Tanlac and feel as well as I ever did in my life. For five years I suffered terribly from indigestion. I had very little appetite, and the little I did manage to eat always hurt me. After every meal I would become badly nauseated and bloat up something awful with gas. I was subject to severe spells of headaches and often became so dizzy I could hardly stand up. My kidneys also worried me a great deal, and there was always such an intense pain across the small of my back I could hardly do my work.

"When I began taking Tanlac I commenced improving so fast I could hardly believe it. I kept getting better until now I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want without having a sign of indigestion. My kidneys never bother me any more, the pains have entirely gone out of my back, and I can bend around and do my work as good as I ever could. I never have headache or become dizzy, feel good all the time; in fact, am a well man in every respect. I am glad of the opportunity to tell others what Tanlac has done for me, as I hope it may be the means of helping some one else who may be suffering as I was."

Tanlac is sold in Dakota City by Neiswanger Pharmacy, in South Sioux City by McBeath's Pharmacy, in Homer by Brassfield & Jensen, in Hubbard by Duggan & Heffernan. Advertisement.

INTERSTATE FAIR BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB WORK

"To make the best better" is the working ideal of the 700,000 young Americans who, as members of official Boys' and Girls' Clubs, are studying the sciences of agriculture and home-making. Products of the local groups will be a spectacular feature of the Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th.

Fully 40,000 Boys' and Girls' clubs are now active throughout the country, under direction of the federal Department of Agriculture in co-operation with local agencies. Approximately 7,000 of the clubs are devoted to gardening. Other groups include the following: corn, 1,000; potatoes, 1,500; canning, 4,000; poultry, 3,000; baby beef, 500; pigs, 4,000; bread, 2,000; garment making, 25; dairy calves, 500; sheep, 500.

Products of the club work last year were valued at between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. Members have earned such reputations for their business capacity that banks in many sections have loaned them money with which to purchase pure-bred stock and equipment.

IMMENSE MACHINERY EXHIBIT AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

More acreage has been added to the plot set aside for the manufacturers and dealers in machinery, to exhibit their wares at the Kansas Free Fair. Better arrangements of the spaces allotted to machinery exhibitors, too, will enable many more exhibitors to be represented at Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th. The American farmer is the greatest buyer of machinery in the world, and by its use is enabled to grow greater crops on more acres than any other farmer in the world. These facts, and the prevalent world food shortage combine to make the machinery department one of the most important of the entire fair.

MAMMOTH AUTOMOBILE SHOW AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

More than 65 per cent of all of the automobiles manufactured in the world this year are being turned out by American factories. Approximately 1,500,000 cars will be built this year in U. S. This country has displaced every other nation on the face of the globe in producing machines. One of the greatest showings of autos in history will be in the automobile show at the Interstate Fair, Sept. 19th to 25th.

There are being manufactured in this country today some 120 odd makes of trucks. Practically every car being placed on the market will be displayed at the fair show. Beside the cars, there will be countless accessories, tire and oil exhibits.

BETTER BABIES AT THE INTERSTATE FAIR

On September 1st the entries in the Better Babies Contest at the Interstate Fair, Sioux City, September 19th to 25th, number slightly over 200. This indicates that there will be over 300 babies whose fond mothers are sure that their own particular household pet will be the winner of the Royal Purple Ribbon. This is a work that has been a feature of the Interstate Fair for many years past and is one that proves more popular as the years go by.
