Elk Point, S. D., Courier: With the death of Julius Quintal, of Jefferson, who died in Montreal, Canada, August 10, 1920, there passes a typical French voyager as well as a pioneer of this section. He died at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lari-viere, where the funeral was held. He had been in California and was on his way home to Jefferson when suddenly stricken. He was born in Maryville, Quebec, Canada, on November 23, 1831, being nearly 89 years of age at the time of his death. He was united in marriage at Iberville, Canada, to Celina Lallen. They came to the United States and arrived at Jefferson in 1870, and purchased a farm four miles northwest of that town. Twenty-two years ago he and his wife moved into Jefferson to reside. To their union seven children were born, but only two of these, with his wife, survive him. The children are Julius of Holyoke, Colo., and John of Civil Bend township. Mrs. Quintal and her son John went to Canada to attend the funeral. He is also survived by twenty grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren. When Mr. Quintal was a young man he left Canada for California joining in the gold rush in '49, where he mined for a few years. He returned to Canada for a while and then went back to his work as a miner in the west. On these two trips he made considerable money with his gold mining ventures and having married he came to Jefferson and bought land which he later gave to his three sons. When gold was discovered in the Yukon in 1900 he could not withstand the call of the gold fever so joined an expedition. But after 18 months hardships he returned. In 1902 he went to Montana to the mining districts but a year later went back to the Yukon. But fortune seemed to evade him and he made very little on these three ventures. As he had a good memory and was a good talker he was always surrounded by a group of men listening to the recounting of his travels. He was a man of quiet and retiring disposition, a good neighbor, and had many friends among the early day residents of this section.

Charles E. Hughes Joins Actors In Paying Tribute to Harding

On the same day that sixty members of the Harding-Coolidge Theatrical League journeyed from New York to Marion to greet Senator Harding, Charles E. Hughes dropped off the train at the now famous Ohio town to visit the Republican nominee for President. Al. Jolson, president of the league, immediately elected Mr. Hughes a member, and together they played an important part in the day's program. Here we see Senator Harding, Eugene O'Brien, motion picture star, and Mr. Hughes.

Omaha Daily Bee, 14: U. C. Bridenbaugh, 56, retired banker of Coleridge, Neb., leaped to his death yesterday afternoon from the Douglas Street bridge into the Missouri river. Mr. Bridenbaugh, who had been confined at the St. Bernard's hospital in Council Bluffs for the past two months, is thought to have suffered a relapse and escaped from his nurse, Miss Nancy Fogg. The nurse and Oscar Fleming, a hospital attendant, had taken Mr. Bridenbaugh and another patient to an Omaha theater. The body of the suicide victim has not been recovered. How the man escaped from his nurse has not been learned. Authorities at St. Bernard's hospital had not learned of Mr. Bridenbaugh's death until Omaha detectives informed them. Identification of the victim was made through a letter addressed to Dr. Frank T. Seybert found in a coat left on the railing of the bridge by the suicide victim before he climbed to a water barrel and took the fatal leap. Mrs. E. L. McGuire, 1706 Fourth avenue, and Mrs. W. E. Murphy, 2100 Avenue A, both of Council Bluffs, saw the man leap from the bridge as they were crossing in an automobile. Mrs. McGuire screamed. The man turned his head, shouted, "I am going!" and

Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

The annual congregational meeting of the Salem Lutheran church will be held Sunday morning, September 20th. The business to come before the congregation is the election of officers, the presentation of reports, and such other business as should properly come before the congregation at such a time. This is your meeting, and as members of the congregation you ought to be there. This is the time and the place for you to have your say.

The trustees are busy getting a heating plant in order for the winter. This is a thing we have needed for a couple of winters, and we have come to the place where it is a necessity. We are not able to say just what they will decide upon, as the preliminary work is what is under way just now, but whatever it will be, will be done in Salem's way and we will all be glad of it.

The benevolences received at the communion service last Sunday were large. This is the time when we will have to get them all in before the close of the synodical year. There are some who were not able to be present, and did not get to bring theirs. These will be seen shortly, and their part will be received, too. This is a matter that has always been responded to cheerfully by our Salem people, and we are sure it will be the same this year. Some of the councilmen seem to favor the plan of adding the benevolences to the regular budget, and then pay our part of the synodical benevolence quota directly from the church treasury. This plan has some good features to it, and it is practiced by a number of the churches of the synod.

Synod meets at North Platte, October 6, 7, 8. It will not require the pastor to be absent over Sunday, so there will be no dismissal of the services.

On Sunday evening of the 26th, there will be a meeting of the new congregation to be formed at South Sioux City. I am not informed if there will be an organization that night, but I am told the Home Mission and Church Extension committee of the synod will be there, and that Dr. Baltzly of the Kountze Memorial church of Omaha will preach. Dr. Baltzly is the pastor of the largest Lutheran church in the United States. You will be interested in hearing him at that time. It would be a good thing for us to go down and encourage the folks at South Sioux City. I am not able to tell you now where the services are held, but will try to inform you next week. The folks are worshipping in one of the store buildings.

Nation Has Big Corn Crop

The marketing bulletin issued by the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture contains the following comment on the corn crop: The estimated acreage for 1920 is 103,648,000 acres, which is a little below the ten-year average. The estimated production is 3,003,322,000 bushels, which is nearly 10 per cent above the five-year average of 1914-1918. Unless we have an exceptionally early frost here 1920 corn crop will be the second largest ever produced, being exceeded only by the crop of 1917. The excess production in 1917 was used to produce pork. What will be done with the 1920 surplus?

State Teachers Co-operative Management.

A two-year course in co-operative management is offered this year by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Among the subjects required in the course are accounting, typewriting, marketing, grading and English. Co-operative companies find difficulty in securing competent managers because the supply of trained men is not equal to the demand. High school graduates who want a field where there is plenty of action, and almost unlimited possibilities, will find here their opportunity.
