Osmond Republican: Mrs. J. F. Knepper of South Sioux City, who has been visiting here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. V. W. Strain, returned home yesterday.

Wakefield items in Wayne Herald: Mrs. Chas Barto went to Sioux City for an operation Monday. Mrs. Charles Barto and Mrs. Arthur Barto left Monday morning for a visit with relatives in Omaha.

Lyons Mirror: Frank Phillippe is here visiting his sister, Mrs. David Everett. C. W. Phillips and wife, of Exeter, Neb., are visiting the family of their daughter, Mrs. Snethen, this week.

Orchard News: Ira Howard was over from Sioux City Monday of this week. Among those from away who were here to attend the funeral of Dennis Drayton were: Mrs. Riley Howard, of Dakota City.

Pierce Call: So Webb Rice, the democratic candidate for congress, wants to debate the League of Nations with Congressman Evans. It's a cinch that Rice could produce the wind if he can't produce the convincing arguments.

Wayne Herald: Sylvia Hatch, who is employed in Wayne, went to Dakota City to spend the week-end with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. W. Buckley of Hubbard, Neb., came to Wayne yesterday to visit the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnson.

Fonda, Iowa, Times: Burt Kroesen and Beth and Merle Kroesen were at Pomeroy between trains Sunday and had the pleasure of eating dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Waldo. Mrs. Waldo is just as good a cook as she was printer girl before her marriage, and that's saying something.

Sioux City Journal, 29: Chester Leidig, 1310 Hill avenue, and Miss Stella Galchea, of South Sioux City, were married yesterday. After a short trip to Omaha, they will be at home at 1417 Myrtle street. Mr. Leidig is employed at the Goodrich Tire company. Miss Galchea was a bookkeeper at Davidson Bros. department store.

Royal items in Orchard News: Alta Francisco was in Osmond Friday. Mrs. Martha Francisco was home from Creighton Sunday. Miss

Lela Francisco came home from Osmond Friday night. Miss Lela is teaching the seventh and eighth grades at Osmond, and penmanship throughout the school. She has been relieved of four studies in order to give her time to do this.

Ponca Advocate: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fowler, of Indiana, Pa., are here on their wedding trip, visiting at the home of Mrs. S. P. Mikesell. They will leave here tomorrow for Dakota City, where they will visit for a day or two with Mrs. Fowler's aunt, Mrs. Nan Altemus. They were married last Thursday.

West Point Republican: The football team won its first game of the season on last Friday. Homer, who had the distinction of not losing a game in northeast Nebraska last year, was here to play the local boys. The local team proved to be too strong for the Homer team, and won a victory, score standing 9 to 0 in favor of West Point at the end of the game. It was a very interesting game throughout, and very closely contested.

Waterbury items in Allen News: Frank Way and family of South Sioux City, spent Sunday in the G. A. Herrick home. G. W. Hays installed a Fairbanks Morse electric light plant on the E. J. Way farm the past week. Billie O'Neill's little boy was taken to the hospital Saturday night for an operation for appendicitis. He is getting along very nicely. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Herrick expect to go to O'Neill, Neb., Thursday night for an extended visit with their daughter Mrs. Elmer Surber.

Emerson Enterprise: Jim Shearer made a business trip to Dakota City Wednesday. Miss Hazel Smith spent the week-end with relatives in South Sioux City. Miss Polly Ann Gerhald, of Omaha, is visiting Miss Beatrice Blume this week. Mrs. M. S. Mansfield of Winnebago, visited at the home of Sol Smith Tuesday. Mrs. Shanshan of Hubbard, visited at the home of Wm. Sweeney Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Varvais went to Bloomfield Monday to attend a family reunion of the Varvais family. Glen Smith and family of Bassett, visited a few days at the home of his brother Sol, last week.

Sioux City Journal, 2: Work on the paving of the South Sioux City streets is at a standstill owing to the lack of ready money. The three machines that have been mixing the concrete for the paving were made idle when the men employed on the project were paid in full and laid off indefinitely yesterday afternoon. John A. Beebe, of Omaha, contractor, contracted with the city council to dispose of the bonds. A Chicago bonding company agreed to float the bond issue, but after the work was started the company refused to supply Mr. Beebe with money until after an assessment had been made. The council is anxious to have one side of Main street paved this fall. An assessment cannot be made before October 16. It then would be too late to start paving the street. An effort is being made by Mr. Beebe to borrow from $50,000 to $75,000 to carry him over until the assessment has been made. G. A. Thurston, treasurer of the Equitable Trust company, of Omaha, is in Sioux City, and is endeavoring to borrow the money from Sioux City business men. Mr. Thurston last night said he expected to have the deal closed early next week.

West Point Democrat: By a 9 to 0 score the local high school football team defeated Homer high school in a game played here Friday afternoon, September 24. The teams were quite evenly matched. However, the visiting team had the advantage of having older and more experienced men. They also have the record of only one defeat last year. The game started with West Point kicking off, when Homer carried the ball back to her 40 yard line. Here they maul their downs by end runs and fakes through center. West Point then held them for downs and Homer had to kick. The first half ended with a tie score, 0 to 0. In the second half McDonald scored a touch down and Kase kicked goal, which gave West Point 7 points. Later on in the game West Point punted and McDermitt, Homer's quarter back missed catch. Lothrop, Homer's big half back, picked up the ball on his own 10 yard line and tried to run but was forced back across his own goal line, scoring 2 for West Point, and the game ended 9 to 0. This is only the second game of the season and the West Point team showed a great improvement in their tactics of playing. If they keep on as well as they have started they will have very little trouble in cleaning up their schedule in fine shape.

Early Lambs Advocated

Where the sheep raiser is fairly well equipped breeding so that the lambs come in March is advocated by the State College of Agriculture. A gestation of around 150 days means that breeding must be done in October for March lambing. Where a moderately warm barn will be available at lambing time, the lambs should not come probably before April, for chilled lambs are hard to save. There are several advantages in having early lambs. Early lambs are not so subject to worms as late lambs; early lambs are big enough to eat the first grass in the spring; early lambs are ready for market before the western sheep begin to bear down on the price; the farmer has more time to care for lambs that come in March than he has in April. The College recommends the use of purebred Hampshire, Shropshire or Oxford rams to breed up the farm flock. A College circular called "The Lamb and the Farm Flock" may be obtained free.

Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

The pastor will be absent this week attending synod at North Platte. The sessions do not begin till the evening of the 6th, but the Brotherhood meeting begins Tuesday, The Woman's Missionary meeting begins Monday night, and while we are going so far we are going to take in the whole of the meetings. And then Mr. Leamer has to be there on Tuesday, and so as to have company we go with him.

We have in mind the beginning of the catechism class some-time for the early fall. We also have in mind a course of study which will be different than any we have ever undertaken, and the method of it will be different than any we have ever used, but we believe it will be a good change. There ought to be a good number for the class this fall. If any of the parents have children whom they think ought to be in that instruction class, you will consult the pastor and confer a favor on him, as well as getting the young folks in line for the work. A good deal of the success of the class instruction depends on the parents. Remember that when you had the children baptized you made a solemn promise that you would instruct him in the knowledge of the bible. We presume you have been doing this all the time, but this is a special instruction, and it ought to be the "finishing" of all the teaching you have given. This leads directly to the confirmation, when the child takes this baptismal vows upon himself. All of our parents ought to desire this for their children, this is the way we enter the Lutheran church ordinarily, when we are young. We heard a pastor say the other day that there were none received at all in the church of which he was pastor unless they had received their instruction in the catechism. We have never been as strict as this with adults, but it is good. We lay a great deal of stress upon it for the young. We have them instructed in the things of life and give years to their schooling. We ought to give some time to their instruction in religious things. The life and conduct, the inner spirit is worth more than the outer attainments. To have a good education is a good thing indeed, but it would be better to have less education in the three Rs and have a godly spirit than to have a lot of learning and be lost with it. We better teach the young to fear God.

Every man ought to fear God. He has made us and all there is in the world. Sometimes we think we are pretty big and worth a lot. We wonder how many ever stop to think what they are in comparison with the world, say, for size. I know we go around it, and we build cities with skyscrapers, and we do a lot of things, even fly up into the air. Suppose the world were the size of an egg and every thing was of proportional size. The mountains would disappear, and could not be found. You could not find a man with a microscope. We crush an ant, and do not think much of it, but a man would have to be 85,555 feet high to be a mean between the ant and the earth. When David wrote of men that they were but worms of the dust, if he meant size he made it big at that. What, after all, does a man have save the love of God that makes him anything at all? He lives and dies and plays a very little part in the affairs of the world. It is God that abides and is over all. The affairs of man after all are but small in the great world of the ages, and smaller yet in the sight of God. He provides, he gives, and he takes, and what is a man that he should ignore God. It is noble to fear Him.

Farm Bureau Field Notes

C. R. Young, County Agent

For the past three months the hogs of this county have been unusually healthy. However, with the cooler nights and, on most farms, the change in feed to new corn, complaints of sick hogs are becoming more general. Investigation shows that most of these are cases of pneumonia. A view of the swine quarters on farms where calls come from generally reveal the fact that the sheds are very full of fine dust and that in most instances the hogs are sleeping along the side of buildings or hay stacks. This disease characterizes itself by heavy breathing, some fever and a loss of appetite.

Pneumonia in hogs as in persons is more dependent on good nursing for its cure than on medicine. For that reason, if the dust in these sheds comes from manure, it should be taken out. If it comes from earth, it should be leveled and wet with water enough to make it pack. This should then be heavily bedded with clean, bright straw. Every few days the straw should be removed and new added. In wetting the dust it will add 2 or 3 per cent of a good coal tar dip which will serve as a disinfectant. Hog houses should always have good ventilation where large numbers are quartered together, but they should not have a draft blowing on them.

Hogs that have pneumonia are always more or less constipated. They should therefore be given a heaping tablespoonful of salts for each 100 pounds live weight. If they are shut off feed, and the salts put in good slop, no trouble should be experienced in getting them to take it. Judicious feeding is also advised in cases of pneumonia.

But, let us not feel too sure that our hogs have some minor disease when they become sick, for at present eight counties in Nebraska are reporting numerous cases. Sick hogs should be isolated until someone has had an opportunity to diagnose the case. In case of doubt, the wise thing to do is to vaccinate the herd with serum and virus. When once the disease has gained entrance into a neighborhood the only safeguard is for everyone to vaccinate.

Agricultural School Opens October 8

Nearly 500 boys and girls are expected to enroll in the University of Nebraska School of Agriculture which opens at Lincoln October 8th. Boys 17 years old and girls 16 years old with at least an eighth grade education may enter this school. Boys entering for the first time must have had at least three months of farm experience. Short courses in agriculture and mechanical training will be given by the state beginning some time in November. For further information write the principal, School of agriculture, University Farm, Lincoln.
