Ponca Journal: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Armbricht of South Sioux City, came to Ponca Saturday and visited over Sunday with Mrs. Armbricht's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogosh. Mrs. Rogosh accompanied them home and visited several days, returning home Tuesday.

Pender Republic: Conrad Jacobson of Ponca, was elected superintendent for the ensuing year. He is well and favorably known here. As a beginner he taught the Wehberg school and later the Bancroft school. The board did not complete the election of the high school teachers. The salaries agreed on are about the same as last year.

Walthill Citizen: Mrs. Geo. H. Lamson returned from a visit at Omaha Friday. Mrs. Bert McClain and children came down from Waterbury Tuesday to visit her parents. Leona Darnell, who had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Will Darnell, returned to her home at Jackson Monday. Mrs. M. G. Brasfield returned to her home at Homer Monday, after a short visit with her sister, Miss Helen Queen, at Macy.

Allen News: Mrs. Maloney of So.

Sioux City visited over Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Hiram Baker, and family. Mr. Duncan returned Wednesday night of last week from Hinton, Iowa, where he had been visiting the C. D. Hall home. When Floyd Lenox stepped off an auto truck one night this week he stepped on an emery wheel which turned round, throwing him to the ground in such a way as to sprain his wrist quite badly.

Sioux City Journal, 17: Died—in Elk Point, S. D., March 14, 1921, Mrs. Helen Harbeck, 29 years old, of a complication of diseases. Mrs. Harbeck is survived by her husband, Louis Harbeck, and five children, of Elk Point; her father, B. Newcom, sr., of Sioux City; four brothers, J. P. Newcom, W. B. Newcom, Leonard Newcom, and Benjamin Newcom, all of Sioux City, and two sisters, Miss Violet May Newcom, of Sioux City, and Mrs. Mabel Larson, of Dakota City, Neb.

Niobrara Tribune: Mrs. Jas. Nelson, who came to the bedside of her sister, returned to her home at Homer the first of the week. Mrs. L. D. Wellman, who has been on the sick list for the past two weeks, is much better, which her many friends will be glad to hear. Ira J. Endersby, son of Mrs. L. D. Wellman, returned to his home at DeSmet, Tuesday. As soon as his mother is able to stand the journey he intends to come in his car and take her with him for a few weeks' visit.

Hartington Herald: Mrs. Charles Ireland and her sister, Miss Bessie Varvais, left on Tuesday for Vermillion, S. D., where they were called by the death of their uncle, George Cowling. The late Mr. Cowling, who died at the age of 65 years of pneumonia, was an old settler and many years ago carried the mail from Yankton to this city. He made many visits to Hartington, and will be remembered by the older residents here. Mr. Cowling leaves to mourn their loss a wife and two children, E. W. Cowling, of Sioux City, and Mrs. Warfield, of Vermillion, besides numerous other relatives.

Winnebago Chieftain: Great interest was manifested in the diamond case tried before Judge Graves at Pender last week. Suit was brought against John Ashford by Jason Weiler & Sons of Boston, Mass., for the alleged sale of a diamond valued at $1,100.00. The testimony proved that John Ashford was in California when the diamond was ordered and delivered. The order for the sparkler was forged by a fellow named Murphy who was employed as a clerk in the Ashford office. In due time the diamond arrived by registered mail and was delivered to Mr. Murphy who made his getaway soon after. As was to be expected, the court found that John Ashford was not held liable for the diamond. All efforts to locate former Murphy and his valuable gem have so far been of no avail.

Sioux City Journal, 22: Mrs. Sarah Mick, 83 years old, died at her home in South Sioux City, Neb., Monday morning of cancer. Mrs. Mick arrived in South Sioux City, fourteen years ago, following the death of her husband, Robert R. Mick, at Wayne, Neb., their former home. She was born at Mansfield, W. Va., on July 14, 1837. At the age of 12 she moved with her parents to Illinois, and resided there until she was married, when she and her husband removed to Jasper county, Iowa. In 1891 they took up farming near Wayne, where they were in continuous residence until 1906. Mrs. Mick is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mary Andrews, of South Sioux City, Neb., and one son, W. R. Mick, of Neosho, Mo. Funeral services were held at the Boles Methodist church Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. G. U. Ballard officiated. The body was sent from Westcott's undertaking parlors to Wayne for burial.

Emerson Enterprise: Joe Smith of Hubbard, spent Monday night at the home of his uncle, James Heaney. Mrs. C. H. Dobbs and Miss Ruby Dobbs went to Nacora Saturday and spent the day with friends. Miss Katie Uffing, from Hubbard, spent last week here at the home of her sister, Mrs. P. A. Shearer. Mrs. Winnie Fuller went to Sioux City Monday and spent the day with her friend, Mrs. Ross, who is seriously ill. Mrs. Joe Heenan and children, from Jackson, visited a few days last week at the home of her father, James Heaney. Miss Anna Blanche Evans from Hubbard spent the week-end here at the home of her friend, Miss Hazel Hansen. Miss Kavanaugh of Waterbury, who has been visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Steve Dorsey, for a few days, returned home Friday. Mrs. Will Flegg and daughter Welma, from Crofton, spent the week-end here at the home of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. McEntaffer. Mr. and Mrs. James Heenan and children from Willis, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heeny from Nacora, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Kate Kerwin. A few girls were entertained at a slumber party Saturday night at the home of Dr. N. L. Hansen. The party was given in honor of Anna Blanche Evans of Hubbard. Mrs. Fred Wolf died at her home near Nacora last Wednesday morning of pneumonia, after an illness of about three weeks. Mrs. Wolf was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langmack, and was born in Mills county, Iowa in 1881. She moved with her parents to Nebraska in 1888 and lived here ever since. In 1903 she was united in marriage to Fred Wolf and to this union three children were born, Albert, Mabel, and Lillian, all of whom survive her. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the English Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. Lewis. Interment was in Rose Hill cemetery. Besides her husband and children, her father and mother, two brothers, Frank and Bert, and two sisters, Mrs. August Jensen and Mrs. Bennett Brustern, are left to mourn her loss. Mrs. Wolf was a good christian and a devoted wife and mother, and the family have the sympathy of the entire community.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

The decision of the United States supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the bonds of the Federal Farm Loan Bank system is of general interest to the people of Nebraska, in fact it is a life saver for the farmers and stock raisers of the middle west, says Congressman Evans of this district in a letter to The Herald giving a brief digest of the decision, as follows:
'The creation of these banks, and the grant of authority to them to act for the government as depositaries of public moneys and purchasers of government bonds, brings them within the creative power of congress although they may be intended, in connection with other privileges and duties, to facilitate the making of loans upon farm security at low rates of interest. This does not destroy the validity of these enactments any more than the general banking powers destroyed the authority of congress to create the United States bank, or the authority of congress to create these institutions.'
'In the brief filed upon re-argument counsel for the appellant says: 'Tax exemption is the real issue sought to be settled here.' Deciding, as we do, that these institutions have been created by congress within the exercise of its legitimate authority, we think the power to make the securities here involved tax exempt necessarily follows.'
A number of Nebraska people attended the inauguration ceremonies in Washington and witnessed the simple but impressive induction of the President into office. Those who called on the Nebraska delegation during the past week were, Al Galusha, former Secretary of State; Governor and Mrs. S. R. McKelvie, of Lincoln; Joe Alter and son Ernest, of Alma; Miss Margaret McCutchen, County Superintendent of Schools of Merick county; Miss Brown of Pender; Miss Schwarzin, of Schuyler, and Miss J. Marsh of Blair.
The Packer Bill died on the House Calendar for the lack of a rule under which it could be brought on the floor for consideration.
The Cold Storage Bill failed to pass for the reason that an agreement was not reached in conference in time for the report to be considered by either branch.
President Harding demonstrated his desire for co-operation with the legislative branch of the government by going on the floor of the Senate and asking for confirmation of his cabinet.
For the first time since the War, the gates of the White House are thrown open and Mr. Harding says they will remain so during the next four years.
'Industry,' a magazine published in Washington, and representing industrial interests, discussed the American Federation of Farm Bureaus at some length in an article under the heading, 'Is the American Farm Bureau Federation Planning to Control the Food Products of the Nation.'

Congressman Evans in commenting upon the article in question, stated that he thought the article unfair to the "Committee of Seventeen," the American Farm Bureau Federation, and to Agriculture. The article, while conceding the present distress of the agricultural interests, suggests a course that permits labor, capital, mercantile, manufacturing and other interests to continue their organization and allows the agricultural interests to use only moral suasion to secure remuneration for its products.

No action is being taken concerning any postoffice appointments until the policy of the new administration is determined. According to the best authority from the new Postmaster General, there will be a thorough investigation and a decision given at an early date.

Honorable John Esch, of Wisconsin, one of the authors of the Esch-Cummings bill for the return of the railroads to private ownership, has been appointed on the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the appointment has not been approved by the Senate as yet, although it will doubtless be approved in the near future.

Hon. R. B. Howells of Omaha, national committeeman from Nebraska was in Washington last week attending a meeting of the national republican committee.

Congressman C. F. Reavis of the First district, and Congressman A. W. Jeffers of the Second district, have returned to Nebraska during the recess between sessions of Congress, and Congressman Andrews of the Fifth district expects to leave about the middle of the week.

Congressman Evans of the Third district has been spending the recess redrafting the bill which he presented in the Sixty-Sixth Congress to control the gambling in grain futures and in studying other legislation in which he is interested.

Senator Norris has been chosen chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee of the Sixty-Seventh Congress and Harry Thomas of Harvard, Neb., who has been appointed secretary to Senator Norris, will act as clerk of the committee. Mr. Thomas was formerly secretary to Congressman Barton of the Fifth district.

Congressman Kinkaid of the Sixth district returned to Nebraska the past week for a short stay during the time Congress is not in session.

Members of the Ways and Means committee of the House are working on a new tariff bill to be presented as soon after the Special Session is called as the committee can agree on a bill.

O. C. Anderson of West Point is in Washington presenting a case before the United States supreme court for the Omaha Indians.

F. L. Eaton of Sioux City, yard chairman of the Sioux City Stock Yard Company, was in Washington presenting the switching raters before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Relief maps of the United States size 16 by 28 inches, and copies of the Federal Farm Loan Act may be had by making a request for the same to Congressman Robert E. Evans, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Farm Bureau Field Notes

C. R. Young, County Agent Dakota county milk producers met with others from Woodbury and Plymouth counties, Iowa, in Sioux City on Saturday of last week to take the final steps in the forming of a milk producers association. It was voted to become a local in the Iowa Dairy Marketing association. Mr. P. R. Madison of Dakota county was elected secretary and E. M. Blensing one of the board of directors. The new organization will employ a manager with an office in Sioux City, through whom all the milk will be sold.

Spring litters will soon be found on every farm where swine raising is a part of the income, as it is in the corn belt. The number of pigs to be farrowed will be somewhat small this year because of the limited number of sows bred. For this reason, it behooves each hog raiser to take the best possible care in starting his new crop. This should begin before the little fellows come, by thoroughly cleaning and disinfecting the farrowing pens and placing a small amount of clean straw for nesting. Large amounts of bedding makes it hard for the young porkers to move around and gives the mother a chance to make a hole in which many pigs are killed by being laid upon.

Just before she farrows the sow's udder should be washed with soap and water and a small amount of some good disinfectant. If weather conditions permit, the sow and her litter should be removed from the farrowing house to clean quarters at the end of the second week. Old yards and houses are becoming so badly infected with germs causing out nose, enteritis and other related diseases, that on most farms the pigs should be grown on clean soil. The individual house serves admirably for this purpose as they may be pulled where needed. This should be planned for a year in advance so as to have an abundance of green feed, if natural shelter is not accessible, posts may be set and a cheap covering provided. Where water cannot be piped or wells be established at a low cost, hauling will likely have to be done. These things all mean added labor and expense. However, on some farms the operators, after years of failure while using less careful ways, have carried out a large part of the things suggested here and are again raising profitable herds.

Tuberculosis in Poultry Because the older birds furnish the greatest number of tuberculosis cases, the flock may well be kept free of those two years old or older, says extension bulletin 63 of the college of agriculture, 'Tuberculosis in poultry.' The elimination of the older birds is always a good practice and will undoubtedly help to retard the spread of tuberculosis. Sanitation is also an important consideration in the prevention of this disease. Cleanliness of pens, houses, eating and drinking utensils, well lighted and ventilated houses, have an excellent influence on the general health of the flock as well as on the resistance of the birds to infection. Overcrowding should be especially avoided, because should an infected bird be present the intimate contact with many birds in close quarters is the best possible factor for the rapid spread of the disease.

ONLY A FEW WEEKS - anw we will wake up some fine morning to find the sun shining on the north side of the fence; and the GREEN GRASS - beginning to show through. THE FARSIGHTED FARMER - and everyone else is beginning to figure on the NEEDED SPRING IMPROVEMENTS - And, while there are some things that you may be able to get along without for a short time, there are NECESSARY BUILDING REPAIRS - also fences to make and repair. YOU MAY BE TIGHT FOR MONEY - and you may make the old car run another season; but you are going to BUY THE BUILDINGS, REPAIRS - tools you need to do business with, and the fences you need to keep the stock out of the crops just as sure - well, just as sure as you plant a crop. LUMBER PRICES ARE LOW - just as low as Farm Product prices. WE HAVE TAKEN OUR LOSS - along with the producers of crops. We are starting on the New Year with CONFIDENCE IN THE FUTURE - It is the only way during this time of readjustment. We want you to visit our Lumber yard often; and we will do our best to serve your needs. G. F. HUGHES & CO. H. R. GREER, Manager. Dakota City, Neb.
