

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S.C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish."

—ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, wife of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

Feel All Worn Out?

Has a cold, grip, or other infectious disease sapped your strength? Do you suffer backache, lack of ambition, feel dull and depressed? Look to your kidneys! Physicians agree that kidney trouble often results from infectious disease. Too often the kidneys are neglected because the sufferer doesn't realize they have broken down under the strain of filtering disease-created poisons from the blood. If your back is bad, your kidneys act irregularly, and you feel all run down, use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's has helped thousands. Ask your neighbor!

A Nebraska Case
D. W. Young, 814 and Jefferson Sts., Lexington, Neb., says: "For about six months my back had been bothering me and I noticed it more in the morning when I got up. It was a dull pain that made me cranky and irritable. I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills had been recommended to me and I got two boxes. They cured me."

Russian Nobles Now Work Hard

Refugees, Impoverished by the Bolsheviki, Help Each Other in Warsaw.

MME. LUBINOFF IS LEADER

Conducts Relief and Commands Admirals, Generals and Governors—Peel Potatoes and Chop Wood in Poland for a Living.

Warsaw.—Driven from palace to hotel, some of the members of the aristocracy of old Russia now are peeling potatoes or chopping wood here for a living.

Five thousand men and women and children, some of whose resounding titles once brought them homage of courtiers, are clustered here after having fled to Poland before the Bolsheviki. Helping them to help themselves is Mme. Ludmila Lubinoff, herself a refugee, though born a princess of one of the oldest Russian houses and the wife of the former civil governor of Warsaw.

This remarkable woman is conducting soup kitchens, sewing rooms and workshops for members of her unhappy class, and taking orders from her men who once commanded the armed forces of the Russian emperor. On her staff are admirals, generals, governors, mayors and members of the old Petrograd court, while her husband has laid aside his gubernatorial duties to become her secretary.

A Woman of Action.
A beautiful woman, she hides the tragedy of her life under an optimism that is an example to the unhappy folk to whom she ministers. A woman of action, too, for she escaped from Petrograd with her two sons after freeing her husband from the fortress of Peter and Paul and arming him with a fictitious passport that enabled him to flee to Warsaw. Here the family was reunited.

Selling virtually all she possessed to aid her fellow countrymen, Mme. Lubinoff organized the Warsaw branch of the Russian Red Cross, which is being aided by the American organization.

Springing not herself, Mme. Lubinoff has not spared the colony of refugees which included many of the former Russian nobility. In the soup kitchen and wood yard, which she has established in a Russian orthodox church at 5 Podwal—a squalid property placed at her disposal—are working men and women of title at tasks which once servants performed for them.

In the dingy little courtyard General Obolonsky, formerly architect at the Russian court, chops wood for a living with several officers of the crack imperial guards, one of whom has lost his reason and must be watched. In a small and dirty building Prince Meschersky, who was master of ceremonies at the imperial court, peels potatoes for his daily bread.

Nobility as Servants.
In the crowded rooms the meals are served by women of the Russian nobility—Princess Rukoff, widow of Admiral Rukoff, who was executed by the Bolsheviki; Princess Ouchtomsky, whose husband was reputed one of the richest men in Petrograd and is now cashier in the next room at 4,000 Polish marks a month, the equivalent of $4 today, and Mme. Koudravatsky, widow of the vice mayor of Petrograd, who was put to death by the Red revolutionists.

Colonel Kesselhoff of the Imperial Russian Guards runs errands for Mme. Lubinoff, and refugees who collapse from exhaustion while waiting for their food are attended by Mile. Caragostoff, a former wealthy resident of Petrograd, now a nurse.

Working in an American Red Cross warehouse are twenty officers of the Imperial Guards regiment headed by M. Riekschensky, a lawyer of Kieff, who arrived in the Polish capital

Today Miss Tarrant's income from the many wells which have been drilled is about $100 a day.

3,700 CHINESE WORK ROADS

Employed in Railway Construction, Relief Body Reports—Town's Girls Sold.

Pekin.—The engineering department of the American Red Cross famine relief organization reports that up to the end of December, 3,700 Chinese had been employed in railroad construction.

The men are in charge of division engineers—sergeants from the Peking guard, who have as assistants privates from the guard.

The line under construction extends from Tehchow to Lintsing on the Chih-Shantung border.

In one district a census of families showed that before relief arrived all girls between nine and fourteen years of age in two villages had been sold. A shipment of foodstuffs brought by the United States transport Merritt was moved from Chingwangtao to Tehchow with little delay.

RULER IS VICTIM OF ROYAL FLUSH

Amar Alayam, Tribal King of Armenia, Lands in Jail in Minneapolis.

POKER GAME HIS UNDOING

Seeks to Rally His Tribesmen to Regain Heritage of His Fathers—Turns to Gambling to Supply Necessary Funds.

Minneapolis.—Amar Alayam, by right of birth a tribal king of Armenia, is a prisoner in the Hennepin county jail, held there on the charge of giving a worthless $50 check to redeem his losses at poker and afraid to summon his clansmen to his aid for fear they would repudiate the leadership of a man in a felon's cell.

At least such was the story told by Alayam to Floyd B. Olson, county attorney, from whom he besought a recommendation of probation that he might once more rally his tribesmen and seek with them to regain the heritage of his fathers.

Ten years ago Alayam, according to the story he told Mr. Olson, became the king of his tribe in Armenia upon the death of his father, Abu Alayam. Abu had been a strong ruler. During his lifetime he had held at bay the emissaries of the Turkish sultans who had sought to despoil his lands. Upon his death the Turks came.

Alayam was but a youth of twenty-two at that time. Marauding Turks, backed by the power of the Sultan, seized upon the richest of his inheritance. It was useless to resist their strength by force. For money they promised to release the farms of his fathers, so, gathering about fifty of his young men, Alayam came to America, the land of fabled fortunes.

After the custom of the Armenian immigrants, Alayam was spokesman for his tribesmen in the new land. It was through him that they hired out for various occupations. A title of their wages they gave to Alayam, who hoarded the money that he might go back to ransom his kingdom from the Turks.

Almost enough money was raised to accomplish the purpose when the world war came. Upon the heels of news of the war came tidings of the ravishing of Armenia by the Turks. Tales of the suffering of his countrymen caused Alayam to abandon his dream of going back to his kingdom. The money saved for that purpose he sent overseas, a contribution to the Armenian relief funds. Many of his colonists returned to enlist as soldiers to fight against the Turks. The rest were scattered.

Still those who remained continued to give a part of their wages to Alayam and he stayed on in this country, feeling that the money he could raise here would be of more value to his countrymen than his presence in Armenia as a common soldier.

Year's Round of Red Tape All for Six Mills

Nuremberg.—An automobile carrying the license No. 11 B 488 passed through the town of Schwabach last November without paying the toll of 40 pfennigs (normally eight cents, but at the present rate of exchange three-fifths of one cent).

Unable to ascertain who owned the car, the Schwabach police chief reported to the German ministry of the interior, which turned the matter over to the Bavarian foreign minister. Then the report went through Munich police department, the Schwabach board of aldermen, and a score of hands to the agricultural council of the Palatinate, which found that the automobile belonged to the state of Bavaria and therefore was not subject to the Schwabach municipal toll.

On January 20, last, the Schwabach town government was informed of the result of an investigation that had lasted more than one year. And all about 40 pfennigs.

RESULTS REMARKABLE SAYS NEW YORK MAN

Prominent Rochester Citizen Tried Ten Years To Get Relief, But Tanlac Is Only Thing That Helped Him.

JAMES J. BEASLEY Of Rochester, New York.

One of the latest to testify regarding the powers of Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results, is James J. Beasley, 102 Elmford Avenue, Rochester, New York. Mr. Beasley has been chief record keeper for the Department of Water Works, city of Rochester, for thirty years and is a well known and highly respected citizen. In referring to the remarkable recovery of his health by the use of Tanlac, Mr. Beasley said: "I have been trying for ten years to find relief from a case of dyspepsia. Nothing ever helped me to amount to anything until I got Tanlac. This is saying a great deal, for I did everything it seems that a man could do to find relief. Of course, I was hardly ever sick enough to go to bed and was most always able to keep going, but I just never felt right. At times during those ten years, my stomach would become sour like vinegar. I would have an uncomfortable bloated up feeling after eating that would last for hours. I suffered a great deal from nausea. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate and I would become alarmed over my condition. My nerves were on edge all the time, and I became irritable, nervous and restless. I had no strength or energy to do anything. In fact I wasn't like myself at all. Even a week or two ago it was an effort for me to get out of my chair and I felt as stiff and clumsy as an

"It is really remarkable what Tanlac has accomplished in my case. It has relieved me entirely of indigestion. I never have that distressing feeling any more after eating, and I feel perfectly fine in every way. I will always feel grateful for what this wonderful medicine has done for me and I am only too glad to give it my heartiest endorsement."

Begin Right Now to Conquer Your Rheumatism

If you are going to again rely upon the liniment bottle to try to rub your Rheumatism away, you will be doomed again to nothing but disappointment. A disease that can cause so much pain and suffering is not on the surface of the skin, and cannot be rubbed away.

Many forms of Rheumatism are caused by a tiny disease germ in the blood, and in such cases the only logical treatment is to search out and remove these germs from the blood.

For this purpose there is no more satisfactory remedy than S.S.S., the fine old blood remedy that has been in use for more than fifty years, and has given such general satisfaction for Rheumatism.
