The Soul of the Violin

If the success of the photoplay is largely dependent upon a musical rendition to command the attention of the theater-going public, why allow music to take second place? In the film symphony entitled "The Soul of the Violin," the music is part and parcel of the play. This we believe will prove to be the first big step towards the realm of perfection for which we all strive. We will send without any obligation to you the story and prospectus giving in full detail our plan of procedure and form of operation. Dramatic Productions, Inc., 309 Madison Ave., New York City.

London to Have Another Great Skyscraper

A general view of the three-acre site at Aldwych-in-the-Strand, London, on which the great Bush International Sales building will be built. Steel construction has already been started on the structure, which when completed will represent an investment of $10,000,000. It is said to be the largest single building enterprise undertaken in London in 20 years. The picture was taken at the Aldwych end of the site, looking toward the Strand, and shows the famous church of St. Mary le Strand, to the architecture of which the new Bush building will conform.

TEXAS RANCHMAN DOWNS "CON MEN"

Norfleet Spends $18,000 Trailing Them, but Feels That It Is Worth It.

ONE LIVES UP TO HIS NAME

Furey Puts Up Stiff Fight, but the Ranchman Proves to Be Something of a Fighter Himself—Saved by His Automatic.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Frank Norfleet, a ranchman of West Texas, delivered Joe Furey into the hands of the local police here, the third of a trio of confidence men to be run down by Norfleet, who mthey fleeced out of $45,000 on a bogus oil stock deal about a year ago. One of the other two committed suicide in jail in Washington; the other is under a ten-year sentence.

Besides losing the $45,000, Norfleet spent $18,000 trailing the swindlers over the country. His chase after Furey was full of thrills.

"Determined to bring to justice the man who had swindled me," he said, "I began a hunt that took me through 18 states and Old Mexico. I took my son, Pete, out of the West Texas Normal at Canyon to assist me in the hunt, and it was he who located the man at Jacksonville. Upon arriving there we separated and registered at different hotels to watch for Furey. Pete had never seen the man, but had studied a picture of him, and a few minutes after registering at his hotel Furey emerged from an elevator. The boy telephoned me and I came to him. We followed our man into a restaurant, and there I placed him under arrest, following a desperate struggle.

Norfleet exhibited his finger, showing where Furey bit him during the struggle. He also showed other minor injuries, scratches and bruises.

"At the police station Furey denied that he had ever seen me," Norfleet continued. "The officers asked me what authority I had and how did I know he was the right man. I told them I was a Texas officer and I had a warrant for Furey's arrest; that I had Furey's police picture—and, above all, I knew he was the man who had taken my money. I told them that he was my man and that I was going to take him.

"They asked me by what further right I expected to take him. I pulled out the requisition papers already honored by the governor of Florida. The officers looked at the papers. 'We can't do anything for you, Furey,' they said; 'you are a prisoner bound for Texas.'

It Took Four Policemen.

"Believe me, those words sure tickled me. I wanted to rush him away. I was afraid that attempts might be made to have him released or to detain him through a writ of habeas corpus. I decided to take Furey 13 miles from Jacksonville and get on a train. He fought. It took four big policemen to finally lock the handcuffs on him. Pete and I put Furey in the automobile and started to go the 13 miles. As we neared the little station the train was almost ready to leave. Furey again started to fight. His hands were in the cuffs, but he picked and scratched so much that the train pulled out before we got him in. We put him back in the car and drove back to Jacksonville.

"We heard Furey's lawyers were getting busy. We knew they might get him out on some technicality. Therefore we dodged 'em. We took Furey to a private home. We chained him in bed. We waited there until train time.

Furey Jumps From Train.

We were nearing the end of a long, long trail. I had faith in our chance to return him to Texas. So far there had been no bloodshed. That is why

Negro Kept Hog "Farm" in Parlor of Her Home

Belle White, negro, was taken into police court at Dallas, Tex., on the charge of violating the local sanitary law by raising hogs in the front room of her flat in the heart of the business district. The discovery that she had converted her flat into a hog farm was made by her landlord.

The woman admitted that she had raised five fat porkers in the room and that four of them were slaughtered there and the meat sold. The remaining hog was about ready for market. No fine was assessed, but she was warned to change her location if she wanted to continue the hog-raising business.

NOT A GOOD BUSINESS MAN

Young Corn Husk Evidently Was Never Intended for High Place in Modern Life.

J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., said in a Y. M. C. A. address: "The successful business man today is one who knows how to choose his managers. A successful modern business is too vast for any one man to handle. So managers are essential, and if these managers are badly chosen, failure follows.

"The unsuccessful business man is apt to depute authority to such creatures as young Corn Husk.

"Young Corn Husk's daddy sent him to the mill one day to try to sell the season's wheat crop.

"Corn got hold of a miller and submitted a handful of wheat to him. The miller examined the wheat carefully. Then he said:

"How much more has your father got like this?"

"He ain't got no more like it," young Corn answered. "It took him all morning to pick that out."

GOLFER NOT "WHOLLY" BAD

Player Makes Ingenious Defense of Those Who Insist on Using Links on Sunday.

"Chick" Evans, the brilliant golfer, was talking at a golf dinner in Chicago about Sunday golf.

"The prejudice against playing golf on Sunday," said Mr. Evans, "has practically disappeared, but in New England there are still clubs where the game is not permitted on the Sabbath.

"To deprive the modern player," continued Mr. Evans, "of his Sunday golf—the only day in the week that some men can play—is a great hardship."

Smiling, the great golfer added whimsically:

"And as a matter of fact, doesn't the golfer remember the Sabbath day and keep it 'holier'?"—Los Angeles Times.
