Will Nebraska Save 20,000 Lives?

Will Nebraska save 20,000 lives? This is the question that will have to be answered.

Nebraska has been assigned the task by the National Relief committee of saving this number of persons from dying of starvation in China, by furnishing $200,000.

Ten dollars will save a life.

Omaha's quota in this drive is $75,000, and from present indications, the metropolis of the state will go over the top as in past drives.

Attention is now centered on the state. The eyes of the national committee are directed toward this state with much hope, because of its wonderful showing in past drives.

At a recent meeting of the state workers in Omaha, Dr. J. P. Connolly, who recently returned from China, made the following statement: "We do not realize how terrible the conditions are in China, and we should help China because China is the real ally of the United States. The Chinese are genuine friends of the Americans, and in any trouble they would stand by us. There are at present more than 350,000,000 Chinese, so you can imagine what a power they would be in case we needed their help. We have an opportunity to prove to them conclusively that we are their friends. The real test of friendship comes when a man needs help. China, our friend, is asking America, its friend, for help. It's the test. We must help.

"Looking at this from the humane standpoint. While we have plenty for food, thousands are dying daily of starvation in China. In the famine-stricken district, roots and dried leaves are being sold at a premium; whole families are committing suicide; girl members of households are being sold by their parents for immoral purposes; children are being sold into slavery."

The drive is being carried on under the direction of L. W. Carpenter, president of the Carpenter Paper company of Omaha. "I volunteered to take up this work," said Mr. Carpenter, "because I had read of the terrible condition in China, and the plea of the suffering people touched my heart. It is the duty of every God-fearing man and woman to do their share in relieving the suffering in the orient. In the eyes of God, there is no race, no creed, no color—when a people is suffering, I know that Nebraska will do her utmost in joining with the other states of the union in helping these people. There is an old Chinese saying, 'Within the four seas, all men are brothers.'"

Contributions should be mailed to W. Dale Clark, vice president of the Omaha National bank.

Lutheran Church Notes

By Rev. C. R. Lowe.

When you missed the first entertainment at the Salem church last Wednesday night, you missed one of the best entertainments that has come to this section for a long time. Capt. H. W. Munson is surely what he is represented to be in the matter of entertaining. It is seldom that you will see an audience kept in laughter for the most of an hour and a quarter, but that is what Mr. Munson did the first night of the two entertainments. The second night he gave an inspirational lecture which was freely interspersed with humor and mighty good sense, the burden of which was that you can do whatever you want to do if you want to do it bad enough. Just idle longing will not accomplish anything. Everything has its price, and to do a thing you must pay a price of labor for it and the denial of other things which interfere.

If you will study the life of men who have made a success of their work you will find they have done just this. Anell F. Haines, vice president of "The Admiral Line" of steamships on the Pacific, got where he is just this way: Sinclair Lewis, the author, came to his place over the same route; Senator Smoot declares he works sixteen hours a day; Edison works from sixteen to twenty, and so does every man who makes a go of his business, whether he be a statesman or a peddler. And yet there are multitudes who declare the "good places and the good things of life" come by favoritism and silver spoons. Multitudes declare for an eight-hour day with a forty-four-hour week, from that to a thirty-six-hour week, and then wonder why they are what they are. One man who has lately gone through the Eagle office clamors for a four-hour day. There is an inequality in men, that is right. We have deeply wondered what it is that makes for that inequality, why one man has the advantageous quality and another does not; that inequality is the willingness to labor long hours and well. Where there is no labor there is no reward. There are too many men who, while demanding that every man shall work to earn what they have, desire on the part of themselves that they have much they have never earned. Labor is the best philosophy of life.

The entertainments were under the auspices of the Community Farm Bureau.

M. E. Church Notes

Rev. S. A. Draize, Pastor

Last Sunday was a good day at the church in Dakota City. Starting off with a rousing Sunday school session at 10 o'clock, in which several of the former absentees were noticed. There still is one man, one woman and two children who ought to go to Sunday school. They will, perhaps, all come next Sunday. We will not be surprised because we have been looking for them a long time.

The communion service at 11 o'clock last Sunday was unusual, in the fact that more people came to receive the elements at the altar than ever before—in the memory of those present.

The spirit of the service was fine. The absent ones missed a blessing. The evening service was also fairly well attended. The second sermon of the series was given.

Everybody better go to Sunday school and church next Sunday. It is a good place to spend at least a part of the day.

The mid-week meeting will be at the Wm. Berger home, subject, "The Boyhood of Jesus." Thursday at 8 o'clock.
