Sampson, the instructor, says he uses two reels of 1,000 feet each. "The purpose," he says, "Is not to teach geometry but rather to gain a valuable aid in the teaching of it. "The subject is introduced on the film by a Japanese juggler. He appears with a basket filled with geometrical figures of all kinds which he juggles with skill. Thus the students are early interested in the general subject. Because too few students appreciate the value of the historical background there is next introduced a series of short life sketches."-Boston Dispatch in the

OBITUARY

Mrs. Margaret Flannery, widow of the late John Flannery, died at the home of her daughter, Kathryn Flan-nery, 511 Riverside Drive, Sioux City, nery, 511 Riverside Drive, Sioux City, lowa, Monday afternoon, May 16th, at 4 o'clock, aged 87 years.

Mrs. Flannery had been ill some time with a conplication of diseases. principally caused by old age.

She had lived at their farm near Jackson, Neb., some forty years or more, removing to Sioux City with her daughter about three and a half years ago. Besides her daughter, a son, John Flannery, of Jackson, survives her, he living on the old home farm

She was a devoted wife and mother, giving up her whole life for her Wednesday of last week. family. Of a mild, quiet and retiring disposition, her home and church guests at the Jas. Allaway sr., home occupied all of her time, and she was much beloved by those who knew her well.

Such a good life of unselfish lators and devotion, cannot but reach a rich reward from God, who knoweth alldoeth all things well.

The remains were taken to the old home at Jackson Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the funeral held from St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, attended by a great number of old friends and neighbors.

Burial was at St. John's cemetery, where she rests beside the husband who preceded her to the other world some years ago.
