A letter from M. M. Ream, now living in California, tells, among other things, of celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on May 8th. He also speaks of the wonderful roads and scenery in California, and how they have it all over Nebraska on that score; but for corn and hogs—well, he says, "they are not so good in California."

A sample of our mild winter is shown at the Steve Joyce farm, where he missed part of a row of potatoes last fall when he was digging. The potatoes, after laying in the ground all winter, have sprouted and are up in fine shape, and will make them some real early potatoes. In a number of gardens in town volunteer potatoes have come up from seed that laid in the ground all winter.

The present price of hides is so low that some farmers are neglecting to skin animals. It is possible to cure hides so they may be stored for several months, according to a United States Department of Agriculture farmers' bulletin called "Country Hides and Skins—Skinning, Curing, and Marketing." The bulletin gives suggestions on handling hides, taking them off, salting and curing them, and shipping and marketing. Copies may be obtained thru county agricultural agents or by writing to the college of agriculture at Lincoln. The college also has a circular on tanning hides, which gives methods of making robes, rugs and leather.

Harry H. Adair spent a few days in Omaha this week.

Robert Hansen and family have moved into the residence vacated by Vern Altemus.

Mrs. Georgia Griffey Jay, a former resident of Dakota City, was a visitor here with friends the past week. She has been making her home with her son, Laurence Jay, in Sioux City, for some time past, but expects to leave soon for California to reside.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By Rev. S. A. Draise

The always growing need for some plan of uplifting and helpful training for boys has begun to receive attention in a definite way.

On last Wednesday evening a group of boys and parents met in the basement of the M. E. church. Mr. Fred C. Woolworth, scout executive of Sioux City, was present and led in the organization of a local troop for the Dakota City boys. The organization consists of the following, belonging to the Sioux City Council:

Committee—H. H. Adair, Frank Forrest, W. H. Berger, Wm. Orr, J. T. Graham.

Scout Master—S. A. Draise.

Assistant Scout Master—Ehner Biermann.

Membership Roll—Patrol No. 1, leader, Theodore Graham, Walter Graham, Kenneth Walden, Maurice Niemeyer, Laurence Frederick, Geo. Berger, scribe.

Patrol No. 2—Laurence Lean, leader; Lester Morris, John Orr, Edward Sundt, Horace Graham, Frank Forrest, Alfred Forbes.

The following were also enrolled in the junior work, being under the regular scout age:

Philip Warner, Edgar Frederick, Harry Foltz, Glenn Wadde'l, Eldon Morris, Clair Orr, George Foltz, David Warner.

The juniors will have a separate meeting time and will take up work adapted to their age.

The scouts of patrol No. 1 and No. 2 will meet together and take up the regular work of the "Boy Scouts of America."

FOR RENT

See Need of Horse Breeding

The effort of the State College of Agriculture to stimulate horse breeding has received praise from several sections of the state. One farmer visiting the College recently said he did not believe there were more than a dozen geldings in his county. It was his opinion that farmers will have to buy horses at high prices in order to meet their own needs, unless breeding is stimulated. A year or two ago the opinion prevailed in some sections that the time was approaching when horses would no longer be needed. Now many believe that the horse will always remain the primary motive power on the farm. Last fall horses were selling at rather low prices. Before spring work opened, however, the demand was strong and the price had materially advanced. It now looks like horses would continue to command a price out of proportion to other farm products.

For Sale

Some good cottonwood lumber, also a quantity of stove wood. Don Forbes, 1/2 mile north of Dakota City.

State Sends Eggs to Europe

The State College of Agriculture recently made a shipment of eggs to Czechoslovakia. The eggs were White Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds and were fresh from high laying ancestry. This new European government is endeavoring to improve its agriculture and desires to induce its people to adopt some good American breeds of poultry. The success of the Nebraska College of Agriculture in developing high laying strains of poultry has attracted attention in many states and in several foreign countries. The College is going on the theory that poultry should be bred for egg production and not for fine feathers, as was once the ideal of breeders. It has developed a number of hens which have records of 200 or more eggs in a year.

Evidently, Not by the Senses.
 An American was with a gushing enthusiasm describing his new car to an English visitor. "It runs so smoothly," he said, "you can't feel it. Not a bit of noise, you can't hear it. Perfect ignition, you can't smell it. And speed, why, it simply whizzes, you can't see it."
 "My word!" exclaimed the astonished Britisher. "How do you know the bally thing is there?"—Boston Transcript.

Telephone Nightmares.
 Church—I understand an arrangement has been patented so that when a person is talking on the telephone the face of the person one is talking to is reflected on a mirror in front of them, even if the person being talked to is miles away.
 Gotham—Well, I hope to gracious if that is so some people I happen to know will never telephone me.

Excessive Success.
 "It isn't possible for success to escape the sneer of envy."
 "No," replied Cactus Joe. "Success should be taken in moderation. The first time in an evening that a man holds four aces everybody congratulates him, the second time everybody gets suspicious, and the third time everybody guesses it's about time to stop the game."

Strong-Arm Methods.
 "Politics is a game of give and take," remarked Mr. Wapples.
 "I'll subscribe to the first part of your statement," said Mr. Grabcohn, who had just had an experience with an alert "money digger." "I don't particularly object to giving, but I do object to the kind of back talk I have to take for not giving more."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Her Exact Words.
 Bill—So you asked the sweet little thing to marry you?
 Gill—Yes, I did.
 "And she said 'yes,' I suppose?"
 "No, she didn't."
 "Oh, she said 'no,' did she?"
 "Not exactly."
 "Well, what did she say, then?"
 "She said: 'Nothin' dotn'."

WHAT OFFICERS ARE FOR
 "So you've elected a new set of officers."
 "Yes. Now all we've got to do is to sit back and kick about the way they do things."

Cheerful.
 It may be that I shall not do
 A single thing worth while,
 But while my skies above are blue
 I'll try to show a smile.

Way to Lose Friends.
 Eacon—You're looking down in the mouth, old man.
 Egbert—Well, I'll say I feel pretty blue.
 "You look as if you had lost all your friends."
 "Well, to tell you the truth, I've borrowed money from everybody I know."

Best He Could Do.
 "Good heaven, Dick! Tan shoes with evening dress—that's awfully bad form!"
 "I know it, but stocking feet with evening dress is worse."—Boston Transcript.

A Matter of Taste.
 The Equestrienne—Oh, I'm so furious with myself!
 "Why?"
 "For liking so much the kiss Jack Thrasher made me take in the park this morning."—Judge.

Audience Needed.
 Wife—I've invited a company of the most brilliant people for our dinner, dear.
 Hub—Not all brilliant, I hope. We ought to have some dull ones to listen."

Isn't One of 'Em Rich?
 "Never married, eh? Well, my boy, some day the girl will come along whom you can love."
 "That isn't the trouble. I know four or five now."—Boston Transcript.

Too True.
 "Should a girl marry for love or money?"
 "Well, it's a question. You get fooled on both propositions."

Presents From Editors.
 "It is my one regret that I didn't become a poet."
 "Had you done so, my boy, you would have regrets by the hundred."
