COMING EVENTS

(From Farm Bureau News) Mr. R. E. Holland, state leader of County Agents, and Mr. Gilbertson of the Washington office, will be in the county from May 30 to June 2nd, studying county agent and farm bureau work as conducted in the county. Mr. Gilbertson is in the state for but a short time, during which he intends to visit four counties in this work.

Mr. E. H. Hoppert of the State Extension office will assist the County Agent to conduct a spraying demonstration at 9 a. m. on the M. J. Beacom farm in Summit precinct, and at 2 p. m. on the Guy Manning farm on Walker's Island, on Friday, June 3rd. Those interested in orcharding should attend one of these demonstrations.

Newton W. Gaines of the State Extension office, has been secured to speak before three of our communities. On the evening of June 7th, he will be with the Combs community at the school house. On the evening of the 8th, with the Hubbard community in the Danish hall, and on the evening of the 9th with the St. John's community at St. Patrick's hall. Mr. Gaines is a splendid entertainer, having spent several years on the chautauqua platform. Co-operation and organization are the topics of his talk. Men, women and children will be both instructed and entertained by hearing Mr. Gaines. Besides Mr. Gaines' talk, a referendum will be taken, asking Congress to make such loans to foreign countries as are necessary to aid the farmers in getting rid of their surplus grain. The election of a woman director to the County Farm Bureau from each of these precincts will be made a part of these meetings. Everyone should assist in making these meetings a success.

During the first part of the month, meetings will be called in all precincts, asking for signers to a petition calling upon Congress to loan money now in the hands of the U. S. Grain Corporation to foreign countries, in order that they may be able to buy our surplus goods. This money is profits made by this corporation in the handling of grains during the war period, amounting to some fifty million dollars. Plans have been worked out whereby the loan may be made on good security and be returned in time to the government. Detailed information will be supplied at these meetings, which will be announced later.

On June 24th and 25th, the North-east Nebraska County Agents and Farm Bureau conference will be held at Crystal Lake. Eight of the organized counties in this part of the state will be represented. A large crowd is expected, and everyone is invited. Programs for this conference will appear later.

On June 16th Miss Harris of the Washington office, and Miss Stella Darrow, leader of women in Home Demonstration work, for the State University, will be in Dakota City to conduct a meeting explaining the work of the home demonstration agent. Until further information can be secured, it will be impossible to state the exact hours for these meetings. We will be glad to have a large attendance of men and women from all parts of the county. Kindly watch the papers for further announcements.

On June 23 and 24, Miss Jessie Green of the State Junior office will be in the county to meet with our girls' clubs. If you are interested in organization of sewing, cooking, canning or other clubs for boys or girls, let us know at once in order that these clubs may be organized before Miss Green's arrival.

SWAT THE ROOSTER

(From Farm Bureau News) As soon as the hatching season is over, roosters should be killed, sold or confined away from the hens, because fertile eggs so readily spoil during the warm weather. Roosters may even be removed from the flock two or three weeks before it is known that the eggs will be fertile for that time after removal. One mistake that is often made comes from the idea that it is necessary to get new cockerets each year. Our best authorities state that roosters may be successfully mated to their own pullets and cockerels to their own dams. The danger in breeding comes when mating brothers and sisters. Because of a lack of this knowledge, many roosters each year are sold or killed. The losses from spoilage due to infertile eggs in summer weather amount to millions of dollars annually. All of this comes from the producers, inasmuch as it is deducted from the purchase price. Co-operation is the big word in producing good market eggs. Every poultryman should get behind this movement.

PRESERVING EGGS

(From Farm Bureau News) The season is now on for preserving eggs, either in waterglass solution or lime water. Eggs are very abundant and prices low. Our State Poultry Department says: "Put them down now and they can be kept from 3 to 12 months and used with good results. It is absolutely necessary, if satisfactory results are to be obtained, that eggs should be fresh, clean and, if possible, infertile. Eggs that float when put in the solution are not fresh and therefore cannot be preserved. If the eggs are soiled, a cloth dampened with vinegar can be used to remove such stains. Under no circumstances use dirty eggs or dirty jars. Detailed information on preserving eggs may be secured from the Farm Bureau office."

REAL CO-OPERATION

(From Farm Bureau News) The appointment of the committees of "17" and "15" by the National Farm Bureau Federation, representing all farmer's organizations, was a real forward move in co-operative work. The work of the committee of "17" shows what can be accomplished when the best brains of the country work together. Now the Nebraska State Farm Bureau Union has advanced and placed members of all state-wide co-operative farmer's organizations on equal foot-
