ELK VALLEY

A DELIGHTFUL OCCASION

On Friday evening of last week over sixty close personal friends outside of the church, made a delightful surprise on the family of Rev. Geo. J. McClellan who are to leave the first of this week for their new pastoral work at Milo, Iowa.

They were invited out to supper and to spend the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mogenson. Shortly after a sumptuous supper was served, Sophus Rasmussen appeared on the scene and informed them that some "friends" were at the parsonage and wished to see the McClellan family.

When they arrived on the scene, they were greatly surprised to find the church and parsonage grounds filled with people. The evening was spent in games and in a social way. At 11 o'clock a splendid lunch, consisting of cake, fruit salad and lemonade was served to all present.

After the lunch was served, Sophus Rasmussen, on behalf of those present, in a touching way referred to the beautiful and helpful service that the McClellans had rendered in the community, and to the appreciation, love and esteem in which the people of the community, both Protestant and Catholic, held them, presented on behalf of those present, a beautiful solid silver fruit basket which was gold lined, and costing fifteen dollars.

Rev. McClellan on behalf of the family responded in a touching way, thanking those present for the beautiful and costly present, but more than all for the beautiful spirit of love and esteem that prompted the gift.

At a late hour those present departed, after wishing Rev. and Mrs. McClellan and Juanita goodbye and the richest blessings of God upon their labors in their new field of labor.

Concrete Feeding Floors Satisfactory

Concrete feeding floors for hogs are becoming increasingly popular among Nebraska farmers, according to the observations of extension men of the College of Agriculture. A good many farmers believe concrete floors to be worth more than any other piece of hog raising equipment. They save a lot of feed, especially in wet weather, and in addition are sanitary. The hogs are not required to eat mud and filth along with their grain. Time and labor will be saved if the floor is located near the corn crib, and placing it on the south or east side will protect it from the cold winds. Drainage is an important factor; the floor should be sloped in at least one direction so it will drain quickly after rains or when washed off. A slope of one fourth of an inch to the foot is usually enough. The construction is usually in strips or squares, like concrete walks. The surface should be finished rough to prevent slippiness. Full directions for construction may be obtained from the College of Agriculture.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Notice is hereby given that bids will be received at the office of the County Clerk of Dakota County, Nebraska, up to noon of the 10th day of August, 1921, for the rent of the Poor Farm, and the support of paupers, for the year 1922.
GEO. J. BOUCHER, County Clerk.

Culling Means More Eggs

A farmer's poultry flock of 94 hens was culled by a specialist from the College of Agriculture and a few suggestions made as to improved methods of feeding. The report of the owner indicates the advantages of culling and the promptness with which results are secured if the work is carefully done. In three days just prior to the culling, the 94 hens laid a total of 29 eggs. The flock was reduced to 50 hens and improved feeding methods adopted. In three days after culling, the 50 hens laid a total of 61 eggs in three days. The results were due to culling, improved feeding and the improved opportunity which the better birds had to secure feed and care. Certain standard methods of selecting good laying hens have been developed as

"Ouija! What's the good word?"

MY YOUNG sister,
HAS A Ouija board,
AND SHE believes it,
AND TALKS to Noah,
AND I think she talks,
TO HER best fellow,
WHO'S DEAD but doesn't know it,
AND I need to give her,
THE LOUD, rude laugh,
BUT I'M sorry now,
BECAUSE LAST night,
I WAS home alone,
SO I got the board,
AND PUT in a call,
FOR JOHN Barleycorn,
AND OTHER departed spirits,
BUT THE line was busy,
FOR NOTHING happened,
THEN I cheated a little,
AND IT spelled this,
"GRAMMASHOTTA SEVEN."

SO I shut off quick,
TO HEAD off any,
FURTHER FAMILY scandal,
THEN I stopped to smoke,
A CIGARETTE,
AND AFTER a while,
I CRANKED up weejee,
AND ALL of a sudden,
IT STARTED off,
AND QUICK as a dash,
IT SAID something,
"THEY SATISFY."

"SATISFY"—that's the good word. Just light up a Chesterfield and see what experts can do with fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos when they blend them in that can't-be-copied Chesterfield way. You'll say "they satisfy."

Did you know about the Chesterfield package of 10?
