 An alarm of fire drew a crowd to the Mrs. Shortley home Tuesday afternoon, when a chicken house had caught fire from the roof in some unknown manner. The blaze was extinguished by a few buckets of water, and little damage resulted. However, with workmen engaged in cleaning and painting the city water tank, and no water supply except what the pumping station could furnish, it would have been a disastrous time for a fire to break out. So be careful.
 Word was received here last week of the death at Seattle, Wash., of Mr. Robert Cunningham, husband of Helen Spencer, a former Dakota City girl. A Seattle newspaper gives the following announcement of his death: "Robert Cunningham, 61, one of the best known and most popular railroad men in the northwest, and for twenty years with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad here, died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon of pleuro-pneumonia at his home, 413 15th Ave. N. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham represented the Milwaukee system in Seattle many years before the Puget Sound line of the road was constructed, and for a number of years past has been passenger and freight agent of the line. Railroad friends say that he had one of the largest lists of acquaintances and friends of any man in the state."
 Days of Scrab Poultry Numbered
 Poultry raisers are so keenly interested in better stock that the days of the scrub flock are numbered. Out of 75 Webster county farmers who in one day enrolled in the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, 65 reported standard-bred fowls. The flocks averaged 94 birds. The principal breeds reported are, in the order named, Plymouth Rocks, Leghorns, Rhode Island Reds, Orpingtons, and Wyandottes. Barred Plymouth Rocks were more numerous than other varieties of the breed. White Leghorns predominated in that breed and White Wyandottes were more popular than the Silver Laed. In filling out application blanks for enrollment in the better sires campaign many farmers emphasize the quality of their poultry. Not only do they report that they are using purebred males but in most instances the females are also standard bred.

 Certified Seed Available
 Farmers in forty-five counties of Nebraska are listed in the Nebraska certified seed list just issued by the College of Agriculture. Kanred wheat, Nebraska's improved Turkey Red wheats known as Nebraska No. 6 and Nebraska No. 60, White Kherson oats known as Nebraska No. 21, Minnesota No. 184 barley and Rosen rye are listed. All of these grains have superior qualities. Kanred wheat is outyielding ordinary Turkey Red wheat from three to four bushels, as are Nebraska No. 6 and No. 60 wheats. Nebraska No. 21 oats is outyielding ordinary Kherson oats seven to eight bushels on the average. Rosen rye is superior to ordinary rye and is becoming popular in the rye growing sections of the state. Farmers in the South Platte section of the state who grow Minnesota No. 184 barley are well pleased with it. Certified seed is seed "examined in the field by representatives of the College of Agriculture. The history of the seed is traced to be sure that the seed is true to name. Mixtures of other grains, diseases, noxious weeds, etc., are noted. If more than a trace of these are found the field is rejected and not certified. If accepted the trace of impurities, if any, is listed. A list of farmers growing certified seed may be obtained by writing the College of Agriculture at Lincoln for circular 108.

Lovers of live stock will enjoy themselves to the limit when they attend the Nebraska "PROGRESSIVE" State Fair, Lincoln, September 4th to 9th, according to officials who have been working all year to make the live stock show an unusual success.

Students of farming all admit that live stock raising is the most important farm industry. Farms that have no stock, or only poor stock, cannot expect to be as profitable as those on which lots of good stock is kept.
 Visitors at the coming State Fair will be surprised when they find out how much good stock we have here at home. Nebraska pure bred live stock breeders have some of the finest animals to be found anywhere in the country. The best of it would compete on an even basis with the best from any surrounding district. A blue ribbon won at the Nebraska State Fair will be of wonderful value as an advertising asset to the owner of the animal winning it.
 In the belief that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," Fair Officials have arranged an entertainment program that will satisfy visitors every moment of the fair. These features include Auto Racing, Horse Racing, plenty of music, fireworks and a Mammoth Circus. It is the best program of the kind ever put together and it is to be hoped that the people of the State will show their appreciation of the efforts of the management by an unstinted patronage.
