British Peers Selling Estates

Claim Action Is Forced Upon Them by Taxation and Death Duties.

MUST SEEK SMALLER HOMES

One Big Landed Proprietor After Another Is Dividing and Selling His Holdings—In Same Families for Many Centuries.

London.—England's great estates are crumbling under the weight of taxation and death duties and one big landed proprietor after another among the nobility is dividing and selling his holdings, many of which have been in the hands of single families for centuries.

The latest indication that peers are finding it necessary to seek smaller homes comes in the announcement of the duke of Portland that he may have to abandon his palatial mansion, Welbeck Abbey, in Nottinghamshire. This is only one of the residences of the duke, who owns some 200,000 acres in England.

Duke Expresses Fears.

"For centuries past landed estates have been handed down from generation to generation," said the duke, addressing his tenants on the occasion of the coming of age of his son Lord Francis Cavendish. "Landlords and tenants have lived on terms of mutual trust and affection. I fear, however, that the state of things is passing away, for with the present weight of taxation and the extremely onerous death duties, the future may become very uncertain for all landed proprietors. If this is good for the country, I certainly do not complain.

"With regard to my own case, it may not be possible for me and my family to continue to reside at Welbeck, but I fear that there can be little doubt that those who come after me will not be able to do so."

Many Connections Severed.

On all sides historic houses are finding new tenants and ancient families are severing their connection with the soil. The duke of Devonshire sold Devonshire house in 1919 and Stowe house, the property of Baroness Kinloss, was disposed of recently.

Others who have sold their properties recently include the duke of Bedford, the duke of Westminster, the duke of Rutland, the duke of Grafton, the duke of Marlborough, Lord Leonfield, Lord Beauchamp, Earl Bradford, Lord Aberdeen, Lord Lovat, Lord Harrington, Lord Harlech, the countess of Warwick and Sir Richard Bulkeley.

Runnymede, a meadow on the bank of the Thames river, in Surrey, site of the historic battle where the barons wrested from King John the Magna

Charta in 1215, was up for sale but aroused sentiment compelled its withdrawal. Attacking the government in the debate on the corn production acts repeal bill, Lord Lincolnshire in the house of lords declared the present ministry was preparing to sell the crown lands and said nothing remained but "to pawn the crown jewels."

Aged Woman Chokes Weasel.

Mount Carmel, Pa.—Although seventy-seven years old and recovering from a fractured rib sustained three weeks ago, when a door blowing shut knocked her down the cellar steps, Mrs. Mary Ramsey of Fisherdale went to the rescue of a chick she heard crying in distress and found a large weasel carrying it away. She caught the weasel with her bare hands and choked it to death.

Man's Span of Life Increased Four Years

Columbus, O.—The span of man's life has lengthened fully four years within the last quarter century, in spite of the extra hazards which have come with Twentieth century progress. So declares Dr. George W. Hoglan, secretary of the American Insurance union, who adds that "within another generation the allotted threescore years and ten will be a thing of the past."

RESTORING A SHRINE

Solemn ceremony marked the restoration of the statue of the Madonna Marie at Monta Grappa, Italy. During the war, Monta Grappa became one of the front-line trenches, and the statue of the Madonna was removed.

British Take German Officers.

London.—Seven British officers with the army on the Rhine have married German women since the occupation. It was stated in the house of commons by a government spokesman in reply to a question.

Bandits Robbed Soldiers in Hospital.

Chicago.—Bandits invaded a government hospital here and took all the money and cigarettes possessed by two wounded veterans of the World war.

Army of 50,000 Lost in Month

General Lu's Forces Wiped Out by Mutiny, Surrender and Battle Losses.

CANTONESE WIN THE "WAR"

Righteousness of Their Cause Given as Cause for Victory in Battle Between Two Chinese Provinces—Gambling Licensed.

Canton.—The "war" between Kwangtung and Kwangsi has seemingly terminated with the fall of Nanking on July 22—just a month after the beginning of hostilities—when Lu Yungting, the foremost of southern militarists, made his official exit from the province which he had dominated for ten years.

General Lu was at one time inspector general of the two Kwang provinces, and a constitutionalist leader when constitutionalism was popular in the southwest.

50,000 Army Wiped Out.

Prior to the opening of recent hostilities General Lu had an army of nearly 50,000. He lost it all within a month by mutiny, desertion, surrender and loss in battle.

The Cantonese have won. They attribute their victory to the righteousness of their cause, to disaffection among the Kwangsi forces toward their leader and to better organization and discipline in the Canton army, to assurances given the people of Kwangsi of noninterference with their ambition for self-government, and to Dr. Sun Yat-sen's political doctrine of representative government.

The military governors of Kwangtung province have looked upon that province as conquered territory since the one-time monarchist governor, Lung Chi-Kuang, was ejected, notwithstanding the Cantonese played no small part in ousting Lung.

Gambling Is Licensed.

Under the administration of the Lu Yung-ting faction licensed gambling was revived under the pretext of raising revenue for military purposes, burdensome taxes were imposed to the detriment of trade and industry, and millions of dollars of worthless paper money issued without security.

The Kwangsi people themselves have played an important part in helping the Cantonese to drive the militarists out of the province. Besides organizing revolutionary forces to supplement the Canton armies, they have carried on valuable propaganda to convince their fellow clansmen of the good intentions of the Cantonese.

Cantonese leaders now declare that they have no ambition to dominate Kwangsi. Gen. Chen Chung-ming has repeatedly refused to allow military authorities occupying Kwangsi towns and cities to establish political organs or offices which will be misinterpreted or misunderstood by those who are antagonistic to the constitutionalist government.

HONORS RESTED WITH CHOATE

Possibly Because He Had the Last Word in Witty Duel With Chauncey M. Depew.

New Yorkers agree that either Joseph Choate or Chauncey M. Depew was the finest after-dinner speaker on earth. Some one says: "At an annual dinner of the St. Nicholas society Choate was down for the toast 'The Navy,' while Depew was to respond to 'The Army.' Depew began by saying: 'It's well to have a specialist; that's why Choate is here to speak about the navy. We met at the wharf once and I never saw him again until we reached Liverpool. When I asked how he felt he said he thought he would have enjoyed the trip over if he had had any ocean air. Yes, you want to hear Choate on the navy.'

"Choate responded: 'I've heard Depew hailed as the greatest after-dinner speaker. If after-dinner speaking, as I have heard it described and as I believe it to be, is the art of saying nothing at all, then Doctor Depew is the most marvelous speaker in the universe.'"—Washington Star.

The Dog and the Cat.
"Has your wife any pets?"
"Yes, but I'm not one of them."—Detroit Free Press.

It is a wise proverb that can't be effectually lamed by another one.

An Ozark Genius.

"That is quite an idea of yours, building your house on a side hill so that the slope of the structure will cause the front door to shut itself when left open," admiringly said a tourist in the Ozarks.
"Eh-yop," proudly replied a resident of Straddle Ridge. "It saves a heap of pester, one time and another. But it took me right smart of a while to figure out some scheme for opening it from the outside without touching it, but I got it at last. See that there lever block at the lower end of the house? Well, when the children come tearing home from school, instead of slamming at the door they pile onto the lever, heave ho, lift the house and the door flaps open as pretty as you please."—Kansas City Star.

Progression in China.

At no very remote time China will have a very superior radio system. An American company has undertaken the contract for building a station at Shanghai which will be as powerful as that of Bordeaux, but will be superior in that it will have masts 1,000 feet high. Other stations will afterward be erected at Harbin, Peking and Canton. The Shanghai station will be able to maintain communication across the Pacific without relay.

Good Hint.

Three-Year-Old Girl Walks Up Pike's Peak

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Miss Helen M. Riordan, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Riordan of New York city, holds the world's record for the ascent on foot of Pike's Peak. She and her mother walked up to the burro stand, where they stayed all night. Early next morning they started afoot on the last lap of the ascent, where all the difficult climbing comes in, because of the altitude and cold and winds. The child walked the entire distance unaided.
At the summit, which was reached about noon, she appeared less fatigued than her mother.

LISTEN TO THIS, YOUNGSTERS!

No Exams, No Home Work in These Public Schools.

Evanston Superintendent Announces New Regime Which Includes Music, Folk Dances and Movies.

Evanston, Ill.—Music is just as important as the multiplication table and folk dancing is as great a spur to youthful brains as is geography, in the opinion of Frederick W. Nichols, superintendent of school district No. 76, comprising the South Evanston schools, who announced a new regime for the Lincoln, Oakton, Central and Washington grade schools.
The four schools will be open to the pupils from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until ten at night. Classes will last until 3:30 in the afternoon, but pupils will be permitted to go home at any hour their parents desire.

"I am going to eliminate home work," said Superintendent Nichols. "It is the bugbear of school children. And there will be no examinations; they merely worry the youngsters. The students will do all their scholastic work right in the classrooms."

In addition, the schools will remain open until ten o'clock in the evening for special classes in manual training, music, languages, art, dramatics, athletic games, folk dances, domestic science and movies. The parents will be invited to come to these classes with their children.

"Examinations are an unhealthy, antiquated tyranny," added Superintendent Nichols. "Growing children should not be compelled to sit in classrooms all day and then lug books home for night lessons. You can't get an estimate of a child's mental equipment by insisting that he cram a lot of facts in his head and scribble as many as he can remember on the semester exam papers."

Do you know what constitutes a strong constitution?
To have sound, healthy nerves, completely under control, digestive organs that are capable of absorbing a hearty meal, means you have a strong constitution! Your general attitude is one of optimism and energy.
But an irritable disposition, frequent attacks of indigestion, and a languid depression, indicate your system is not in correct working order.
Probably you are not eating the proper food. Probably the nutritious elements are not being supplied to your system in the proper way.
Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal that promotes normal digestion, absorption and elimination, whereby nourishment is accomplished without auto-intoxication. A mixture of energy-giving wheat and malted barley comprise the chief elements of Grape-Nuts. A dish at breakfast or lunch is an excellent, wholesome rule to follow.
You can order Grape-Nuts at any and every hotel, restaurant, and lunch room; on dining cars, on lake boats and steamers; in every good grocery, large and small, in every city, town or village in North America.
