Farm Bureau Field Notes

C. R. Young, County Agent

At last Friday's monthly Farm Bureau board meeting, it was voted to co-operate with the Bureau of Animal Industry of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in intensive control of tuberculosis in the livestock of Dakota county, during the coming months. The plan is to have a veterinary placed in the county for half time by the Bureau, who will test the cattle in neighborhoods where a number of farmers are willing to sign the agreement to make their herds tuberculosis free. The requirements are: 1. The entire herd is to be tested and re-tested at such times as may be deemed necessary. 2. All animals showing physical evidence of tuberculosis are to be sold for slaughter under the regulations of the Bureau of Animal Industry. 3. Animals which react from the tuberculin test, but show no physical evidence of tuberculosis, shall be disposed of as recommended by the Bureau or State Officials. 4. Tested cattle will be kept separate from those that have not passed a tuberculin test. 5. Premises contaminated by tuberculosis animals are to be cleaned and disinfected at the expense of the owner under supervision of the Bureau or State Officials. 6. It is agreed that the owner shall receive reimbursement for all reactor cattle slaughtered by order of the state under this agreement, a sum equal to one-third of the difference between the proceeds from the sale of the salvage which the owner receives, and the appraised value of the animal, provided the state does not pay to the owner a sum in excess of $50 for any pure-bred and $25 for any grade, the U. S. Department of Agriculture to pay a like amount. This work will start as soon as a veterinarian is located in the county, and communities are organized. Those interested in the work should consult the county agent or one of the Farm Bureau officers or directors at once, as we will try to take the neighborhoods in the order in which requests are received. The veterinarian to do this work will also do similar work in Thurston county. This is free to cattle owners. This is the season when pneumonia in hogs usually becomes prevalent. It may be very largely, if not entirely, overcome by having them sleep in clean hog houses free from drafts and dust. Ventilation is always essential, but keep the wind from blowing over the sleeping hogs. Dust is very injurious to the hog's lungs. In houses it is best gotten rid of by leveling the floor, thoroughly wetting with water and covering rather deeply with straw. If a good dip solution is used in wetting the dust, many lice and germs will be destroyed. Renew the bedding frequently enough to prevent its becoming fine. During the fall months many hogs are found sleeping between corn cribs in dust wallows. Such hogs are very likely to develop pneumonia. HOME DEPARTMENT OF THE FARM BUREAU. By Geneva Rankin. Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, assistant in charge of Extension work from Washington, D. C., will be in the county Thursday, October 20th. Miss Harris will attend the meetings held at Hubbard and hopes that the women whom she met in June will be present. All directors and project leaders are urged to be present at this meeting held at the home of J. P. Heaney, of Hubbard. The Home Millinery school held in Dakota City last week was well attended and all considered the time well spent. Friday was open day; each woman displayed the hat she had made and told how much it had cost her. The prices of hats ranged from 35c to $3.50, depending on the amount of old material used. It was sometimes hard to distinguish which was new and which was old. Each project leader has agreed to "pass on" the suggestions learned at this school to five others. The first five who enroll from a district with their leader will have the opportunity to attend the schools in each precinct. The millinery project leaders in this county are: Mrs. S. A. Mason—South Salem. Mrs. M. G. Leamer—North Salem. Mrs. Walter Miller—Dakota City. Dr. Nina Smith—Hemer and Fidler Creek. Mrs. John Thacker—Combs and Vicinity. Mrs. Dan Sheehan—Nacora. Miss Elsie Herringfeld—Emerson. Mrs. Budke—Jackson. Mrs. Harold Sheehan—Jackson.

Short Cuts in Sewing by Use of Sewing Machine Attachments.

A great deal of time and money can be saved by the use of machine attachments. Most women have sewing machines, but few use the attachments to save their time. Hand decoration on garments require large amounts of time; there are many new and attractive decorations that may be done on the machine with comparatively little expenditure of time. Ready-made garments elaborately braided and otherwise trimmed are much more expensive than those made at home. Two kinds of bound and one kind of loop buttonholes, tailored pockets, hemstitching, braiding, yarn trimming, machine couching and sewing on lace and hemming at the same time, are some of the other possibilities. Through the use of sewing machine attachments there may be a considerable saving of both time and money. Each woman is asked to bring her own box of attachments to the meetings. Miss Gladys Legg, the State Clothing specialist, will give demonstrations on the use of machine attachments in the following communities: Tuesday, October 4th, at 2:00 p. m., at the home of M. S. Glen DeForest, Walker's Island. Wednesday, October 5th, at 10:30 a. m., at Nacora; and at 2:00 p. m., at Pigeon Creek at home of Mrs. A. Linafelter. Thursday, October 6th, at 1:30 p. m., at home of Mrs. J. P. Heaney, Hubbard. A dress form demonstration will be given at the Guild meeting at Jackson, Thursday, Oct. 13th. Women from Summit precinct, if interested, may attend this meeting.

They Satisfy

Why Rural Telephone Service Is Paid for in Advance

Charges for switching service furnished rural telephone companies connected with our exchanges are paid in advance, because— 1. Rural telephone companies are usually so organized that the payment of bills requires a meeting of the officers, who during certain times of the year are too busy to attend meetings. 2. The charge per telephone is small and it is more convenient to pay for several months service all at once. 3. Collecting in advance from the members by the officers of the rural company avoids loss because of members moving away without paying. 4. Collection expenses are a part of the cost of furnishing telephone service. High expense of collection must in turn result in higher cost of service. NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.
