THE NEW FLYING FIELD.

Which is Being Scientifically Prepared in the Northern Part of Omaha.

The accompanying picture is an interesting view of the new aero field on North 24th Street where the races and various exhibitions will start and finish during the Aero Congress in Omaha, November 3 to 5. The light colored squares are corn fields which will be eliminated and the ground scientifically prepared before the meeting. The huge trees shown in upper left hand corner were pulled by the roots by giant tractors. This picture was taken from a plane high above the field.

PLAN TO HAVE LEGION HEADS VIEW HUGE AIR SPECTACLE.

There are going to be hundreds of members and celebrities at the American Legion convention in Kansas City October 31 and the Omaha Aero club is arranging to have 'em come on to Omaha for the big air meet November 3, 4 and 5. A Kansas City delegation recently flew to Omaha to co-operate with the air club in boosting the Omaha event at the Kansas City convention.

MEXICANS WILL SEND ENVOY--MAY BE PRES. OBREGON.

If you come to the Omaha air meet November 3 and 5, you'll see representatives of the Mexican government--maybe President Obregon or De La Huerta.

Earl Kiplinger, just back from extending the official invitation of the Omaha Aero club to the Mexican government at Mexico City, brought with him assurance of a representation here.

Insured Against Weather.

Here's an idea for "outstaters," which originated with the Omaha Aero club in connection with its air congress here November 3, 4 and 5.

Insure your outdoor events, such as county fairs, air meets, etc. against the weather.

That's what the club is doing. It has insured the meet against rain, cyclone and all other kinds of weather.

Raise $5,000 in Single Day.

Business men of North Omaha raised $5,000 in a single day, August 29, to assist in defraying expense of the First International Air Congress to be held in Omaha in November. The dates of the meet are November 3-5, inclusive.

Sewer for Air Field.

Just a little matter of $20,000. But the Omaha Aero club put it over. Got the city council to approve construction of a sewer running through the aviation field where the big air congress will be held on November 3, 4 and 5, at a cost of $20,044.75.

Fred S. Berry, of Wayne, Neb., was looking after business matters here Friday while en route to Sioux City by auto. He said the city of Wayne had just completed a job of about seven miles of paving of the most approved type. As an example of its stability, a box car jumped the track at a street crossing and ran the width of the street on the paving and never marred it.

Joe, Alex and Freeman Quintal, and Chas. Blackieker, arrived here Sunday from Holyoke, Col., having made the 300 mile trip in Joe's flivver. They used twenty gallons of gasoline and one and a half gallons of lubricating oil, the cost in all amounting to about $7. To have made the trip by train would have cost them upwards of $80--enough to buy a second-hand Ford and their grub while on the trip. They drove south and early the next morning took another car at Lyons and continued on to Fremont, where they left the Ream car and stole another car--all Fords--and got as far as Columbus, where they were suspected by the officers, who started a hunt for them, but failed to capture them. The boys hiked for the country and finally drifted home after getting separated while riding the bumpers on a freight train. They will be given a hearing before County Judge McKinley today.

AIR MEET A REVELATION.

Spectacle Scheduled at Omaha, November 3-5 Greatest in U. S. History.

Those who attend the International Aero Congress at Omaha, November 3-5, will see one of the biggest air spectacles ever shown in this country. Next to the famous spectacle staged by the Royal Air Force at Hendon, England, this summer, it is the greatest in the world.

A wooden model of a French village, two blocks in length, with the village church in the center, will be placed on the flying field. In the village square, scores of peasants are dancing with the Americans who have come to help defeat the Hun.

It is evening. All at once the drone of a Mercedes is heard overhead. The peasants hide in their houses, all lights are extinguished. The drone grows louder.

An American ace, who has downed a score of Huns, is in the village. He takes off in his airplane, and rises to meet the Hun. Before he can reach him, the German bombs the village, destroying part of it.

The fight in the air that follows; the reception of the American after he returns; the battle in the clouds, all go to make a wonderful spectacle that is new for this part of the world. It will be recognized by any former soldier who attends.

REUNION OF BIRDMEN.

Air Congress Will Bring Together Flyers from Many States.

The war time flyers came from the small towns and villages of America, according to army statistics. Many of them, since the war, have not had an opportunity to see an airplane. Most of them have not had the opportunity of meeting with their "buddies" of the flying camps.

The first International Aero Congress, planned for Omaha, Neb., November 3-5, will be the first reunion of the birdmen since the war, and airplanes and flyers are expected to attend from every state in the union.

From the minute they land in Omaha, the town will belong to them, according to officials of the Aero Club of Omaha, who are sponsoring the meet. Elaborate preparations for their entertainment have been made.

Many of the Legionaires who attend the national convention at Kansas City are expected to take the six hour trip to Omaha to wind up the week's festivities.

The big men of the air game are expected to attend. The Aero Club of America has promised to send six or seven speakers, who are authorities on aviation, to address public meetings of the bird men.

And there will be plenty of opportunity to play "African golf" and the other pastimes that helped to occupy the idle hours for the flyers, according to S. D. Day, chairman of the entertainment committee.
