GROWTH DUE TO COMPETITION

Ships of Four Nations Carried 80 Per Cent of Tonnage Which Moved Through Canal During the Last Fiscal Year.

Washington .- Ships of four nations carried 80 per cent of the approximately 11,600,000 tons of cargo which moved through the Panama canal during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921.

American vessels led all others with a total of 5,163,000 tons, establishing a new record by increasing the total tonnage of the previous high years by 615.885.

British ships were second and surpassed even the high mark of 1917, their last banner year. They reached a total of 3,738,250 tons.

Japan and Norway took third and fourth places with 758,600 and 637 880 tons, respectively, Norway dropped below its figures for 1918, but Japan soared to new heights, exceeding her last high mark by 32,279 tons.

Result of Competition.

These unparalleled increases in comby the four nations are attributed by Gov. J. J. Morrow of the Panama canal, in his annual report to competition so keenly developed that it requires use of the quickest routes. "Almost one-third of the total tonnage handled," the report says, "was so strongly competitive that prompt and complete service may have been the determining factor in the choice of the Panama route. In many of the trades served by the Panama canal. the saving of distance, and hence of time, by the use of the canal is so great that shipping could hardly afford to use any other route."

Of the nations which shared in moving the remaining 11 per cent of tonnage the most important were Denmark, Holland, Spain, Sweden, France and Peru in the order named.

"The most important trade route served by the canal," the report adds, "was that between the east coast of the United States and the west coast of South America. Others of the principal routes were those from the east coast of the United States to the fareast and between the west coast of Ton Years' Research Provides Rich Collection for Harvard University and Boston Museum-Get Full List of Rulers.

Cambridge, Mass.-Discovery of the tombs of 26 generations of Ethiopian kings and the recovery of material buried for more than 2,000 years, which makes it possible for the first time to write the history of Ethiopia, were reported by the joint Egyptian expedition of Hardvard university and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The expedition, in charge of Professor George A. Reisner of Harvard, was in Egypt ten years. Its findings in part have been reported from time to time. Find Royal Cemeteries.

The discovery of the lost civilization of Ethiopa was made at Napata, now called Gebel Barkal. Naparata, the ancient capital of Ethlopia, lies in the

from 660 to 250 B. C., most of whose edge. Excavations gradually uncovered the burial chamber of Tirbaqa, the king of Ethiopia mentioned in the book of Isalah, who was one of the five Ethiopian monarchs who ruled over Egypt, and then one by one uncovered the tombs of all the other kings, queens, princes and princesses of Ethiopia for a period of more than four centuries. After the excavations at Nuri, four of the greatest kings of Ethiopia were still lacking-kings who, like Tirhaga, had ruled Egypt as well as Ethiopia. In the third year of search these four kings with their queens, and indeed six generations of their ancestors, were found at the second royal cemetery at El-Kur 'Uw on the north of Napata.

royal family of Ethiopia had sprung from a tribe of Libyan nomads who had entered the province, then a part of Egypt, about 900 B. C., had become Egyptianized, revolted from Egypt and finally, under Plankhy, conquered the older country. From this sunscorched place five of the kings of Ethiopia had Nile valley, and had sent their ambassadors to the courts of Assyria and western Asia.

Careful study of the objects and inscriptions found in these tombs has given the Harvard-Boston archaeologists a full chronological list of the kings of Ethiopia during this period, and a knowledge of the condition and development of the remarkable arts
