CANTON CULLINGS.

A. S. Stewart has been improving his ranch by adding another room to his residence.

Misses Bessie Shetler and sister and Minnie Wanek of Lawn were guests at the Broshar home Saturday and Sunday.

L. E. Hood of Snake Creek dropped into our sanctum Monday night on his way from Hemingford where he had been to lay in supplies for the ranch.

The good rain that fell Friday night was immense. It will make all crops in fine shape. Early cut rye is sure to make a second crop. The first was upwards of two feet high and the second is sure to be better than the first for it is thicker. Corn and potatoes are in fine condition.

S. M. Naugle, one of Lawn precinct's cattlemen, has sold his ranch. Cattle and horses all go to Louis Barta. Consideration, $2,150. Mr. Naugle left Monday for Central City where he will locate. We are sorry to lose so valuable a citizen and friend as Mr. Naugle. We wish him success wherever he may go.

Tariff Revision.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says:

Tariff revision cannot be postponed much longer, in the opinion of politicians here, and it would not be surprising if the first session of the next congress should enact tariff legislation of a moderate character if the republicans are successful in the fall campaign. If the democrats should win it is believed congress at the short session would revise the tariff so as to have it done under republican auspices. A majority of the republican members from Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, and other western states are heartily in favor of tariff revision. The action of the Iowa convention has brought the tariff question prominently to the front. It is pretty well understood now among the republican leaders that the tariff question cannot be kept out of the coming campaign in the congressional districts, for the democrats in their hue and cry against trusts which they insist on making the leading issue of their canvass, are constantly telling the people that the trusts are children of the tariff.

How general will be the necessity for the republican speakers to meet the tariff issue cannot be foretold, but the action of the Iowa republicans has put it beyond question that tariff revision will have to be much talked about in that state and probably in other parts of the middle west during the coming fall.

The same correspondent also says: "Such men as Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate finance committee; Representative Payne, chairman of the ways and means committee; Senator Hanna, and Speaker Henderson were opposed to the revival of the tariff question at this time. They regard the present tariff laws as satisfactory, and deplore the unsettling effect which tariff agitation would inevitably have on business and commerce."

If the chairman of the senate finance committee, the chairman of the house ways and means committee, together with Senator Hanna and Speaker Henderson vigorously oppose any "tinkering with the tariff," it is difficult to see how any confidence can be placed in a prediction that the republican party will revise the tariff. The power of these men is so enormous and the smaller fry of the party is so tractable that so long as Hanna, Henderson, Aldrich and Payne hold out against tariff revision it is not at all likely that there will be any tariff revision so far as the republican party is concerned.—World-Herald.

Little Norman Newberry met with quite an unfortunate accident Tuesday afternoon. He with other children had been playing with a lawn mower and, remembering that they had been told not to play with it, started to put it up. Norman stooped to take out a strap from under the mower when his companion, not noticing what he was doing, pushed it forward and cut off the two middle fingers on his left hand just above the nails. A physician was called at once and the ends of the fingers were reattached in place. They have not caused him much pain as yet and there has not time enough elapsed to know whether the ends will grow back to the fingers.

In the case of assault wherein Mrs. M. Hood was plaintiff and Clayton Worley, defendant on trial before County Judge Spacht today, the defendant pleaded guilty and agreed to pay all costs, including attorneys' and doctor bills of plaintiff, whereupon the court fined him a nominal sum and the case dismissed. This was the case mentioned in the HERALD a few weeks ago, the trouble arising over range matters.

McCook Wins Both.

The McCook ball team came up last Saturday to play two games with the Alliance team and somehow "erruther" the latter didn't seem to be playing ball to any great extent. Leastwise they did not win either game. But it is only fair to the home team to state that four of the McCook team have played with university teams and Mr. Jones, who pitched for them Monday, has made such a record for himself that Pa Rourke has made out papers of adoption for him and is going to make him one of his family next summer. Following is the score by innings for Sunday's game:

McCook.....1 2 0 0 0 0 5 0 —8
Batteries—Whited and Sitzer, Beltzer and Doan; struck out by Whited, 8; by Beltzer, 8; errors—Alliance, 9; McCook, 2.

Monday afternoon's game was better; still, as the score shows, there was room for vast improvement. It resulted in the following score:

McCook.....0 0 0 0 4 0 0 3—7
Batteries—Bell and O'Connor, Jones and Doan; struck out by Bell, 5; by Jones, 12; errors—Alliance, 4; McCook, 1.
