Cornelius Donaghe spent a few days in town last week.

Dr. Elkner and Miss Alwilda Church visited Alliance last Thursday.

Thomas Squibb and Henry Clark of Marsland were in town Tuesday.

Rev. N. C. A. Garnes departed on his regular monthly trip Tuesday.

Ira Reed was buying horses in this vicinity the first part of this week.

W. K. Herculall has moved his stock of goods into the O'Keefe building.

J. C. Osborn returned Saturday from an extended visit to Pennsylvania.

H. L. Bushnell has threshed over 1,000 bushels of barley and 200 bushels of millet.

James A. Hunter and B. E. Johnson and wife attended the races at Alliance last week.

Roy Esaney came up from Council Bluffs to attend the wedding of his sister Agnes.

Several prominent citizens will go for a hunt in the sand hills east of here Monday.

H. R. Green, A. D. Millett and son, Warner, went out to the river Sunday for a day's recreation.

Potato digging had to be suspended last Friday and Saturday, owing to the copious rains which fell.

Isaac Rocky and wife returned Wednesday from a month's visit in Iowa and Pennsylvania.

Carl Roberts has leased his ranch to Karl Ferasstrom. Carl will leave almost immediately for his farm in Iowa.

C. R. Polen and T. E. McKinney and their families left for Independence, Oregon, on Wednesday's passenger.

James E. Friel has moved into the Congregational parsonage and will make it his home for this winter at least.

Cream checks for the month of September amounted to a little over $1000 for this station. This is very good for a fall month.

Mrs. Bradford Fenner was called to Alliance early Sunday morning by a telegram stating that her mother was not expected to live.

Commissioner Loer was in town Saturday and expressed himself as optimistic as to the result in this commissioner district this fall.

Lou Leavitt has a fine new double-seated carriage. This is an evidence of prosperity in Mr. Leavitt which we are very glad to see.

The Highlanders will have an open meeting October 18, 1902. A program will be rendered worth coming to hear. Everybody cordially invited.

All of the merchants have been stocking up recently. Every store in town has a filled up appearance and from this we conclude that a large fall trade is expected.

There seems to be an endless string of "picture men" on the road and they hang on like a turtle to a stick. Every picture in the county ought to be enlarged by this time.

Calvin J. Wildy has purchased all of Hamilton Hall's sheep and will move them down to his Malinda ranch where he will run them. Mr. Hall also bought about 100 head of cattle of Mr. Wildy.

Many of the chimneys in town were constructed with poor mortar, in some cases it being possible to pick bricks out of the chimney. Property owners would do well to have their chimneys attended to while there are workmen here who can do it.

A box social was given at the Iverson schoolhouse, where Miss Myrtle Bolen is teaching, on last Friday night. The people of the immediate community and some from quite a distance were present. The people of the district are much pleased with the entertainment afforded and hope that there may be similar gatherings during the coming winter.

We hear many words of commendation for the work of Dr. Elkner from his patients and their friends. Those who have had Dr. Elkner during sickness, express themselves as considering the community fortunate in having a physician of the education and experience of the doctor locate among us. Dr. Elkner has had some very difficult surgical and other cases to treat and has been singularly successful.

Hemingford affords the best market for potatoes this year. Some potato raisers have been hauling their crop to other towns, taking five cents less per bushel than they could get here. C. J. Wildy and some people from the country have been shipping car load lots of potatoes. Owing to the great supply the price is not high; but the fact that potatoes bring a better price here than elsewhere is something to be proud of and is evidence that Hemingford merchants are enterprising. As yet there is not a cash price set, the prices offered being in trade, but this price is better than anywhere else.

Mrs. A. C. Iverson was in town Monday. Mrs. Iverson says she could not be satisfied with the tests of her cream and that a friend of hers urged her to send a can of cream to the Hygea Creamery Co. of Omaha. This she did and she found from the report received that the test was 35 and identical with the test given by the station here. She says that the Hygea Co. wrote her that they could not make quite as much butter from the cream as she could at home on account of the length of time and usage in transportation. She made a profit, however, in that she received a cent a pound more for butter fat from the Omaha company. She received twenty cents. Much dissatisfaction was evinced over tests during the summer and we think Mrs. Iverson is to be commended for pursuing the plan she did to discover whether the testing was rightly done and also for making known the result of her investigation for the instruction of others.

Last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of W. H. Esaney there took place a quiet wedding, the contracting parties being Mr. Fred Neeland and Miss Agnes Esaney, the ceremony being performed by Rev. N. E. Gardner of the Congregational church. The following guests were present: Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Gardner, Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sherwood, Mr. Neeland, Luther Neeland, Mrs. C. J. Wildy and the Misses Hettrick of Hemingford; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner of Chadron, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Fenner of Dunlap and Mrs. G. H. Brown, Miss Thyra Karr and Roy Esaney of Council Bluffs. They received many valuable gifts. Both these young people are well and favorably known in this community. Mr. Neeland has a fine ranch northeast of here on the Runningwater and is one of Nebraska's self-made young men. Miss Esaney has been a teacher in the Box Butte county schools for several years and has been very successful. Mr. and Mrs. Neeland went to house-keeping immediately. We trust that their married life may be long and happy.

The stockholders of the Alliance Dairy association has paid all its indebtedness and Secretary VanBoskirk informs us that $8.44 will be paid for each share which is more than was expected. The stockholders are pleased with the action of the county commissioners in refunding that part of the taxes which were assessed illegally and paid under protest.

Job Hathaway, sergeant of the Lincoln police department, died at his home in that city last night of Bright's disease. Mr. Hathaway resided at Hemingford for several years, where he was president of the bank. He was prominent in Masonic circles and the funeral services will be conducted by the Knights Templar. Mr. Hathaway was a genial, whole-souled man and has many friends in this county who will regret to learn of his death.

The Baptist Endeavor society will give a social at the church this evening—a social for sociability only. A good many young people are attending the church who are newcomers and unacquainted, and these kindly disposed young people desire that they may become acquainted with each other and with those who have lived here, and be made to feel that the Baptist church is indeed a church home and its members brethren in a deeper meaning of the word than that sometimes conveyed by the brotherhood of church membership. Entertainment for the evening has been arranged and a good time is expected.

The Times Makes Another Blunder.

J. A. Lore and Frank Caha commenced another "wake" at the courthouse Wednesday with the object of prolonging a session of the board of county commissioners as long as decency and the outraged taxpayers of the county will permit. These faithful(?) servants of the people are very proficient farmers—of the county treasury.—Times.

The Times seems to have "hit the pipe" again and had another dream. We hardly understand what it means by calling J. A. Lore a treasury farmer. He's a good, staunch republican of Wright precinct who was in the city yesterday and expressed surprise at the Times' accusation of him being a county commissioner. Doesn't the Times know it? We beg leave to inform it that he is not a county commissioner at all. It probably refers, or would if it knew who the county commissioners were, to G. W. Loer. But here another question arises. If the Times doesn't even know the names of the county commissioners, isn't it a little out of place in assuming all those awful charges against them? We would advise it to investigate a little more closely, and warn it that until it acquaints itself with a few little details like these its utterances are likely not to have the effect it intended. The people will believe the Times knows as little in regard to the charges it makes as it knows those against whom it is making them. We will just give it another caution, also. One of the members of the county board is a republican. His name is G. W. Duncan and every time the board meets he is there, too, along with Messrs. Loer and Caha and draws a salary just as they do. Now is he a treasury farmer, too? He helps hold these "wakes" just as faithfully as the other two do. The HERALD publishes in this issue a list of the pieces of business the commissioners disposed of at this last one. Perhaps the Times won't be able to see it this way, but most people—those acquainted with that sort of business, we concede that the Times is not on this list—would consider there was ample reason for having held it. If the Times would like any further information regarding the personnel of the county officials, who the governor of the state is, or who the president of the United States is, the information will be cheerfully forthcoming. The HERALD is just debating whether it wouldn't be well to open a department of historical information for the Times' benefit, it has seemed so lamentably ill-informed in regard to such matters in its recent issues. And then the idea of the Times trying to cast aspersions on the county commissioners or any one else!

A Novel Idea

$1,000 IN GOLD.

That's more than a great many grown people earn in a year.

Few men can, after a hard year's work, put $1,000 away in the bank.

Yet Whittemore Bros. & Co., the well-known manufacturers of high-grade Shoe Polishes, are going to show some boy or girl how to do just that—OWN A THOUSAND DOLLARS.

They have asked us to tell you about it, and we're waiting to see you at our store.
