

The News at Hemingford.

KEITH L. PIERCE, REPORTER.

[Keith L. Pierce is fully authorized to solicit subscriptions and job work and collect and receipt for same, and transact all other business in connection with his position as an accredited representative of this paper.]

A. D. Millett returned from Bruning Saturday.

J. C. Wood and G. W. Hatch were in from the river Saturday.

Bert Hopkins sold several horses to a horse buyer from Alliance last week.

Wm. Hollirake has been hauling a quantity of barley to the mill recently.

Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Randall and Otis Bass were in town Friday and Saturday.

James A. Hunter returned from Omaha Friday where he disposed of his sheep.

C. J. Wildy went to Angora Tuesday from which he went to his Malinda ranch.

Z. Partridge, who lives near Esther, was a business visitor to Hemingford Friday.

Mrs. Romer expects to move in the spring onto some claims she has taken west of here.

Miss Mary Nelson, who is to teach near Marsland, is visiting Rev. and Mrs. Connell this week.

Miss Lena Wildy of Lenzburg, Ill., arrived Monday to remain some time. Her health is very poor.

Miss Blanche Fosket had the misfortune to break her arm just above the wrist. The injury is very painful.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsella desire to thank the friends who so kindly assisted them during their recent bereavement.

Bessie Whaley came up from up Alliance to be present at the wedding festivities following the marriage of Winnie Keane and Miss Shimek.

Mrs. Evans, who sprained her ankle so that she was unable to attend to her school duties for several days, has improved so that she began her school again Monday.

Henry Swanson and Joseph Hatting of Loomis, Phelps county, are visiting with Peter Swanson this week. They came via Brush but will return by way of Aurora in order to see more country.

Perry Ball and Marie Duhon were married at the Methodist parsonage Wednesday. They expect to make their residence in this vicinity, living at the home of the groom west of town. Both are well and favorably known and they no doubt are the ones for each other. We wish them much happiness and trust that the matrimonial bark so auspiciously launched may sail the conjugal sea with very few storms.

One of the most enjoyable gatherings the writer has attended for some time took place last Friday night at Luke Phillips' home. The evening was spent in games, conversation and dancing. At 11 o'clock a splendid supper was served. It was so good, well—if ever we are invited to Phillips' again no blizzard can keep us away. And we believe every other person of the hundred and more who were there will say the same thing.

Another of Time's Changes.

Chadron Times: Mrs. Anna Wildy, nee Neeland, of Hemingford, arrived in Chadron Friday morning and visited among relatives and friends until Wednesday, when she returned. It looked to us at the moment almost unique to see her whom we once familiarly called "Anna" when she went cheerily tripping to the academy, with a bright little descendant of her own by her side. How it softens the rougher nature to have these tender little visitors in the homes. Otherwise the world would not have much to do but wipe its eyes—while it lasted.

RENO.

Little Winona Blair is quite sick with the mumps.

W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Rooker visited at J. F. Strong's Tuesday.

Krause brothers are unloading a car of corn at Reno this week.

Stanley and Thelma Larson are quite sick with whooping cough.

Mrs. G. E. Rooker and son visited at Mrs. B. E. Betebenner's last Wednesday.

Messrs. Carley and Young dipped about 350 head of cattle at J. C. Berry's this week.

Bert Hedgecock came down from Hemingford Monday night to visit his brother George.

The ice on the Reno lake is fine now and the young folks are enjoying themselves skating.

Roy Sholtzer commenced work for J. C. Berry Monday. He is staying at the north ranch feeding cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Berry and daughter Nellie, J. G. Wilson and Mrs. G. E. Rooker spent Sunday at Lakeside and attended quarterly meeting.

I will give painting lessons till March 1, paint on any kind of cloth, twelve lessons for $5, and will furnish paints and brushes.—Mrs. Zehring, Phone 194.

Clash Among Wyoming Stockmen.

A special from Cheyenne to the World-Herald February 3 says: "A band of thirty masked raiders, supposed to be cattlemen raided the sheep camp of William Minich in the Big Horn mountains, thirty miles east of Thermopolis, yesterday afternoon. They were armed with Winchesters and pistols and carried a large quantity of dynamite.

"At first the raiders attempted to drive the flocks away and scatter them, but failing in this the sheep were driven into a corral and dynamited to death. Flockmaster Minich protested and was shot through the lungs. His sheep wagon and entire outfit was then burned and his horses killed. Minich was left on the scene to die, but one of his herders, who had been caring for another flock a few miles distance, heard the shooting and came to his assistance. The wounded man was removed to a cabin in the mountains and the herder came to Thermopolis for aid.

"Physicians and a posse of officers left Thermopolis this morning for the scene of the outlawry but they will probably be too late to save Minich or to arrest the raiders.

"The sheep and cattlemen of Thermopolis county have been on the verge of a conflict for some time, and yesterday's clash causes no surprise. Feeling is at fever heat and fears are entertained of more trouble."

Notice.
To whom it may concern: My wife Elizabeth Keeler has left my bed and board and the public is hereby notified that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her. E. H. KEELER.

THE WOMAN'S WAY

A woman there was, and she wrote right fair,
(As you or I might do.)

How out of a barrel to make a chair,
To be covered with chintz and stuffed with hair,
'Twould adorn any parlor and give it an air
(And we thought the tale was true.)

Oh, the days we worked, and the ways we worked,
To hammer, and saw and tack,

In making a chair in which no one would sit,
A chair in which no one could possibly sit
Without a creak in his back.—HE WHO TRIED.

Never try to make so useful an article yourself unless experienced at the work. You can surely make a selection from our line of chairs and get one that fits you comfortably
