Byron Reynolds has been at Excelsior Springs, Mo., for some time for his health. Recently his father died, but before he could go to the place the funeral had occurred. Mr. Reynolds does not experience much improvement in his health.

Owing to the fall in price of live stock, meats are greatly reduced in price. I quote the following prices: Beef steak, sirloin and porterhouse, 15c; choice roast 10c; boiling meats 3 1/2 to 7c; dry salt pork 12 1/2c; home rendered lard 13c, all other meats in proportion. H. L. Bushnell, Palace Meat Market.

C. E. Connell was returning from E. M. Snider's place Tuesday evening and was overtaken by the storm. In attempting to turn the load into the shelter of the barn at the parsonage it was overturned and his wrist badly sprained. Several boys were with him, but all came through with only a few bruises.

J. K. Neal stopped off a few days while enroute to Washington to seek a new location. He seems to have done well during his absence, but being afflicted with the periodical moving germ which attacks all healthy Americans once every 10 to 12 years and stirs up their pioneering dispositions, he has concluded to begin anew in the far west.

Miss Margaret Combs and Elmer G. Rowland were married at noon Sunday at Alliance. They came up from Alliance Monday and were met by their host of friends here and cordially congratulated. They will live in the Sherwood residence and will shortly begin housekeeping. We heartily congratulate this couple and believe that the gain of another young married pair may help to liven up the social life of the village.

A hailstorm and high wind prevailed in this section Tuesday evening. It was first heard from at Ardmore where the news came by wire that large hail stones were falling and the windows were being demolished. Looking north toward Pine Ridge the hills could be seen coated white. The storm began by a high wind accompanied by rain and no hail fell in town to amount to anything. The first place it struck in this county was Hollinrake's. He had 150 acres of small grain and the loss is total. They had made about five rows on a 45 acre field when the storm came. Cattle were badly lacerated by hail and windmills and house roofs were badly pounded up. The hail moved from here slightly east of south and cleaned up Whelans', Fronapfel's, Snider's and Osborn's crops. It jumped John Kuhn's but destroyed Kinsley's, Roland's and McCandless' grain and Kidwell's partially. Emery Abbey and those west of town escaped as well as Uhrig east of town. Several people in town not in the habit of seeking shelter in caves or cellars confess that they did so on this occasion. Considerable grain had already been cut so the loss is not so great as it would have been two weeks ago and much of it can still be cut for feed.

CANTON.

Haying is now the order of the day and hay hands are scarce and the hay crop is heavy. The second crop of rye is looking very promising at this writing.
