DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

First and Second Wards Meet and Select Delegates.

Though it came near raining pitchforks Tuesday evening when a storm burst over Alliance that was terrific enough to arouse terror in the hearts of the brave, the unswerving disciples of Jefferson feared not and at the appointed hour were promptly on hand to see that the ship of state was safely manned and the people's interests properly looked after. Although the rain was enough to take the starch out of most political enthusiasts, there were good representations at the caucuses.

The first ward caucus was held at the office of Wm. Mitchell. By unanimous consent of those present, A. Triplett was chosen chairman and S. M. Smyser secretary. Then followed the selection of delegates to the county convention, which resulted as follows: Wm. Mitchell, John O'Keefe, T. J. O'Keefe, Robt. Graham, A. Triplett, A. D. New, L. Buechsenstein, H. K. Scharitz, Ed. Reardon.

At the second ward democratic caucus, held at THE HERALD office, Lee Edwards was chosen as chairman of the meeting. The genial "Doctor" thanked the caucus for the "unmerited recognition," stating that he considered it a great honor to preside over a body of men who represented the principles of the common people. Mr. McGraw was selected secretary of the caucus and incidentally remarked that it seemed quite an honor to be so recognized after being taken for a delegate to the republican county convention. The caucus then resolved itself into a committee of the whole and elected the following named delegates to represent the Second ward in the county convention to be held at the court house next Saturday: Lee Edwards, L. A. Berry, B. V. Reeves, W. S. Ridgell, S. A. Miller, James Graham, C. W. Brennan, F. J. Bitzold, John Hill.

People's Independent Caucuses.

Like the democrats of Alliance, the populists are not afraid of water. This fact was demonstrated Tuesday night in the good attendance at the caucus held to select delegates to the county convention, which is to take place tomorrow in this city. Though there was discord and contention between the elements of the atmosphere all afternoon and evening, peace prevailed at the caucus and there was complete unity and brotherly love. The following delegates were selected to represent the first ward: A. M. Dake, F. J. Culver, J. E. White, A. D. Rodgers, B. W. Young, T. W. McClain, J. A. Wolverson, F. A. Hood, Robt. May, A. D. Rodgers was elected chairman and F. J. Culver secretary.

The second ward caucus was held at the court house. J. P. Hazard was chosen chairman and C. W. Jeffers secretary and the following list of delegates was elected: D. K. Spacht, C. W. Jeffers, J. W. Miller, Lee Safford, O. Neff, J. P. Hazard, A. C. Johnson, Ernest Lemke, Orville Owens.

The State Convention.

The democratic state convention held at Columbus Wednesday evening was well attended and proved a brilliant and harmonious affair. J. J. Sullivan was nominated for supreme judge and M. A. Jones of Hastings and Dr. Ernest O. Weber of Valparaiso for regents. Mr. Sullivan's as well as the regent candidates' nominations were made by acclamation. The populists state convention, held at Grand Island the same day, endorsed these nominees amid great applause.

The men placed in nomination are worthy the honor conferred on them and the voters of the state of Nebraska can find in them men who are deserving of the votes of every citizen who decides upon a candidate's qualification by his past record.

The committee on resolutions at the democratic convention drew up the following resolutions, which were passed by that body amid great applause:

We, the democrats of Nebraska, in convention assembled, reaffirm our faith in the principles of the party as enunciated in the last national platform adopted at Kansas City.

We denounce the national republican administration for its failure to carry out its promises heretofore made and its subservience to special interest at the expense of and detriment of the public at large.

We are unalterably opposed to any form of asset currency legislation and to any legislation of the character of the Aldrich bill.

We believe the judiciary to be the cornerstone of American government, both state and national. Upon its ability, independence and integrity rests the future of American institutions. We therefore demand that the judiciary of this state be kept free from partisan bias and the undue influence of special and corporate interests.

We commend to the voters of Nebraska the record of John J. Sullivan as embodying our ideas of the high character the judiciary ought to entertain.

Ohio for Tom Johnson.

Tom Johnson, mayor of Cleveland, was nominated for governor of Ohio at the convention at Columbus Wednesday. The honorable Tom and the democrats of the Buckeye state are to be congratulated upon the stand taken in adopting the principles of democracy as enunciated by the Kansas City platform, and the action of those brave and fearless democrats should be a lesson to the weak-kneed party men of Iowa who failed to sustain the convictions of their principles at their late state convention. Let the fearless stand taken by Ohio and Nebraska democrats give them courage to stand by the principles of Jefferson. The Lord always did hate a coward, political or otherwise.

AMERICAN VICE CONSUL ASSASSINATED

A cablegram received by the state department at Washington from Minister Leischman at Constantinople last night announces that William C. Magelssen, United States vice consul at Beirut, Syria, while riding in a carriage was shot and instantly killed last Sunday. Secretary Loomis cabled Minister Leischman instructing him to demand the immediately arrest and punishment of the persons guilty of the crime. Magelssen was from Minnesota.

ADVERTISEMENTS ARE NEWS.

Represent the Intelligent Effort of Successful Business Men.

The New York Journal says that there are some people who have the impression that the information to be gleaned from a newspaper is found only in its news columns.

Let such people read carefully the advertising columns of a newspaper.

Let them take as an object lesson the advertising pages in just one issue of their local newspaper. This object lesson will prove a revelation to them. They will find not only many matters of interest to them, but they will by reading advertisements find that they can keep in touch with the business pulse of the community.

The business man will find an inspiration in reading his own ads, and those of his business neighbors. He will become enthusiastic and his efforts in his business will be doubled. It is the enthusiastic effort of the business men of a community that makes that community grow from a town to a city.

The want ads are an index to not only small possibilities, but to the largest transactions. The business man can keep posted on the values of real estate by reading these little ads.

Advertisements are business news, and this news is just as important as telegraph or local news. The biggest advertiser has the biggest store.
