E. C. McClure will leave Sunday morning for Gilman, Iowa, to attend the golden wedding anniversary of his parents and enjoy a family reunion.

Herman Schultalbers, one of our valued friends in Box Butte precinct, brought in the city Wednesday, having brought a load of produce which he disposed of at good prices.

Candidates Smyser, Mounts, Baumgardner and Brennan are circulating through the county this week. They attended the Judson sale Wednesday and it is reported that all were bidders for the same article—votes.

J. F. Whelan, a substantial citizen of Dorsey precinct and one of our old-time friends, transacted business at the county capital Monday. Mr. Whelan would have had splendid crops this year had it not been for hail.

John Riley, who farms Marshal Shay's place in Box Butte precinct, brought in a sample of corn which may be seen at Buechsenstein's cigar store. It is of good size and sound as a dollar. Mr. Riley has 85 acres which he expects will yield 40 bushels per acre. He raised about 3,000 bushels last year.

Miss Elizabeth Dobbins will give a song recital in the Methodist church next Friday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock. Miss Dobbins comes highly recommended, having been a student in the Chicago Musical college and of Francis Fischer Powers of New York. Everybody invited. Admission, 25 cents.

The Baptist congregation will observe their annual harvest home festival the third week in October. Sunday evening, the 18th, their will be a literary and musical entertainment given by the Sunday school, when an offering will be taken for missions. Tuesday evening, the 20th, the ladies of the church will give a chicken-pie supper. The church will be decorated with fruits of the harvest.

Now is the time to prepare for winter. Cold weather is on the way. Don't wait until stocks are broken before buying your Underwear. Let us call your attention to an especially fine ribbed-fleeced garment at 35c. Its a leader. If you want better we have all grades.

DEMISE OF JOHN REARDON

Alliance Mourns the Loss of One of Her Most Worthy and Esteemed Citizens.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL

Universal Regret Expressed by All Classes for the Loss of a Kind Friend and Good Neighbor.

A wave of sorrow and sympathy swept over Alliance Tuesday afternoon when the sad tidings of the death of John P. Reardon, late master mechanic of the Wyoming division of the B. & M. railroad was noised abroad among the citizens. Not since Alliance was located was there such an universal expression of heartfelt regret from every class of society. An acute sense of loss seemed to pervade every heart. A good man, citizen, neighbor and friend, a natural-born gentleman, God's noblest handiwork was taken away in the person of John Reardon. All who knew him mourn for him.

A year ago the first indications of the malady that afterward caused his death made themselves manifest. Still every hope was entertained that he would overcome the inroads of the infirmity. But slowly his strength ebbed away and at length when it became apparent that death was inevitable he prepared to meet his last end with heroic Christian fortitude. He received the last sacraments of the Catholic church, of which he was always a devoted member, with every mark of faith and humble piety. And after bearing with edifying patience and profound resignation to God's holy will, a long, tedious wasting sickness, he breathed his last breath peacefully surrounded by his sorrowing family. At his deathbed were gathered his wife and five children, his aged father, Michael Reardon, and his two brothers, Michael Reardon, Jr., of Creston, Iowa, and Edward Reardon, Sr.

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock a requiem high mass was celebrated at the church of the Holy Rosary in this city for the repose of the soul of Mr. Reardon. The body, encased in a neat casket, reposed for the last time at the altar where in life he had often knelt. The pall bearers on the occasion were Messrs. C. A. Newberry, M. F. Nolan, Wm. Haley, L. B. Johnson, F. W. Irish and Ed. O'Donnell. A large congregation of mourners representing every creed and class overflowed the church. Many who could not get in were compelled to stand all through the services in the vestibule and even outside the church. The altars were appropriately draped in black. The Gregorian plain chant requiem mass was impressively rendered by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Raymond. The scene was indeed impressive and the spirit of peace and consolation that prevailed was heavenly.

After the mass, and the blessing of the remains, Father Galvin spoke at length of the deceased. He reviewed John Reardon's character as a faithful, devoted Catholic, as an affectionate husband and father and as an honest, conscientious citizen. Father Galvin extended to the bereaved family the sympathy and consolation which St. Paul gave the Thessalonians, when he tells them not to grieve like the others who have no hope. That those who fall asleep in the Lord await the resurrection, just as the Lord himself has risen. And that we who are left shall meet again in the world to come those who have gone before us to be happy for eternity. The death of this good man did not carry with it that awful loss that comes to those who see no hope beyond the grave, but his soul was soothed and sustained by that unflinching faith, like one going home, confident of the peace and happiness that abide forever.

John Reardon was born in Quincy, Ill., July 18, 1855, thus making him a little over 48 years of age. He was educated in the schools of Quincy and at the Francis- can college there. He commenced work as apprentice in the mechanical department of the Burlington shops at Quincy at the early age of fifteen. He went to Creston, Iowa, in 1873, and worked there as a machinist fifteen years. He was married on May 1, 1879, to Miss Rose Sweeney, a lady whose estimable qualities of heart and head have endeared her to all who know her. Of the marriage five children remain, Edward, Jr., Joseph, R. Emmet, Henry and Marie. John Reardon went to Pacific Junction in 1888 as foreman and remained three years, being promoted to master mechanic of the Wyoming division at Alliance in April, 1891, which position he ably filled till his resignation in the early part of their present year. In all he worked 32 years in the employ of the C., B. & Q. and B. & M. roads. His ability as an expert mechanic is attested by all who are competent to judge. His genial disposition and kindly temperament made him a fast friend of every railroad man who came within the sphere of his influence. He will be sincerely mourned all over the Burlington system, and his loss will be long felt in Alliance. Mr. Reardon was a member of the Catholic Knights, in whose interest he was always a zealous worker.

The remains were taken to Creston, Iowa, Wednesday night for burial beside the remains of his mother. The local organization of the A. O. U. W., of which deceased was a member, escorted the body to the depot. Those who accompanied the bereaved family on their sad journey were Messdames W. A. Hampton, Hillier, Sexton, Record and Kremer, and Messrs. Wm. Haley, L. B. Johnson, Gene Parks, D. Landrigan and C. A. Newberry.

Arrived at Their New Home. The following letter from Rev. Dr. Horn, dated Dillon, Mont., Sept. 28, will be of interest to THE HERALD readers and friends of the Horn family:

"After seeing Denver, we crossed the piled-up Rockies; visited the 'City of the Saints' where we were shown the Mormon edifices by a lady who seemed glad to act as guide, and, at the same time, glad to show evidences of being proud of the fact that she was a Mormon and the wife, along with many others, of some man who had a corner on wives. We arrived in Dillon Thursday, at midnight, and found a splendid people eager to give us a warm, royal welcome. Delicacies of the season were spread upon the dining-room table and a cordial invitation to partake was extended as soon as we arrived at the parsonage. We partook and are still partaking of the fragments which comprise less than twelve baskets full. In Dillon every street has its splendid shade trees and stream of water flowing by, reminding me somewhat of Damascus. The residences are worthy a place in a large city, some of them, I am told, cost from $40,000 to $50,000. The state normal has a most beautiful location, and its three large buildings would do credit to any city on the map. A three-story hotel offers traveling men first-class accommodations. As an evidence of Dillon's wealth and surplus cash, it may be well to note that one of its banks, the First National, has nearly a million dollars of deposits. I feel like it would be almost an indiscretion bordering on insult to offer to deposit with such a bank my little thimbleful of greenbacks. Such a place for girls and young ladies I never saw. This seemingly disproportionate display of the world's best material is due to the fact that more than 80 per cent of the state normal students are neither masculine nor neuter."

Stolen Horses Recovered. Sheriff Reed succeeded after much hard work in trailing the horses stolen from Zbinden Bros. three weeks ago last Sunday to Ardmore, S. D., where the thieves disposed of their stolen property to Doc Middleton. Sheriff Reed gained considerable information of the horses wanted through Sheriff Miller of New Castle who got track of them. Sheriff Reed in company with Sheriff Petty of Hot Springs secured the release of the horses from Middleton last Tuesday with little trouble or expense, and the stolen property was returned to the owners. The thieves rounded up and drove off two more horses near New Castle, which they disposed of. The last heard of the thieves in Sheriff Reed's pursuit was about 45 miles southwest of New Castle, where they took breakfast at a ranch. A fine saddle carried off by the outlaws has been located by Sheriff Reed and will be recovered.

Select Entertainment. Miss Ola Bidwell, one of Chicago's most noted and versatile entertainers, having achieved fame throughout the entire south, is now touring west. She is a pupil of Edwin Wareham, London's favorite grand opera tenor, and critics pronounce her voice the deepest and richest of the four lady baritones known to the musical world. A violin pupil of Earl Drake, and having finished in elocution under Madam Marco, she gives a program in which are artistically blended humorous, pathetic and dramatic readings, pleasing violin solos, and songs that reach the heart.

Miss Bidwell will give an entertainment in the opera house Wednesday evening, Oct. 17. Half the proceeds will be given to the high school library fund, a most worthy department of our educational system. The program to be rendered will consist of vocal and violin solos and select readings.

Notice. All parties are hereby notified that the following section of the revised ordinances of the city of Alliance will be strictly enforced for the protection of property:

Ordinance 25, section 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to stack or pile hay or straw at any place within the city, except it be thoroughly enclosed in a barn or shed with a good board or shingle roof.

LOUIS BUECHSENSTEIN, Mayor.

COLLISIONS CAUSE DEATH. Two Men Meet Almost Instant Death in Wrecks.

Ill fate attended the operating of trains on the B. and M. in Nebraska the past week and death has claimed victims in more than one instance. The destruction of property amounted to thousands of dollars and there was considerable delay of trains as a result.

Last Friday evening at 6:30 a stock train running as extra met a work train at Remington, north of Crawford, and a head-on collision resulted. Engineer McDonald and William H. Conn, fireman, were pulling the stock train, with Conductor Harry Beans in charge. Before the engines came together, Fireman Conn attempted to get out of danger by jumping, but fate ruled otherwise and he landed into eternity. The unfortunate man was badly lacerated about the head and body. Engineer McDonald stayed at his post and was uninjured, but Conductor Beans received several serious injuries and he was taken to the company's hospital for treatment after being bandaged and cared for in this city. Brakeman Spears escaped from the collision with a sprained ankle. The crew on the work train were not injured. The remains of Fireman Conn were taken to Darling's undertaking establishment in this city and arranged for burial order. A brother of the deceased, Courtland Conn, who is a conductor on this division, arrived from Seneca and took charge of his brother's remains and with the assistance of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen conveyed them to the deceased's home at Utica, Neb., for interment. The death of Fireman Conn takes from the employ of the Burlington one of its most trusty and competent men. Only twenty-five years of age he was cut down in the bloom of youth.

A second collision took place last Monday morning on the Burlington, this time three miles west of Halsey and some twenty miles east of Seneca. A special stock train running ahead of passenger train No. 42, east bound, was compelled to stop on account of hot boxes. A brakeman was sent back to flag 41 but through some misunderstanding the passenger train failed to stop and crashed into the rear of the stock special with terrific force. Engineer Fitzpatrick and Fireman Murphy jumped and were uninjured with the exception of light scratches and none of the passenger were hurt. On the stock train were several shippers who made their escape from the caboose with the exception of L. E. St. John, one of the party, who had left the car and rushed back to get his satchel, when the collision occurred. The injuries he received were shocking, both legs were broken and he was so badly hurt internally that he died a short time after the accident at Broken Bow, where he was taken. Twenty head of cattle were slaughtered and a number of cars wrecked. As a result of this collision traffic was delayed several hours.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Mabin, accompanied by Mrs. Mabin's sister, Mrs. McCoy, and B. Lamper, an old acquaintance, both of whom reside at Canton, Ill., drove down from the ranch in Nonpareil precinct Wednesday. The visitors were very much pleased with Alliance. "Uncle" Zeke said his visit would not be complete without calling at this office and accordingly we had a political chat, Mr. Lamper who is a democrat, assisting us in holding Uncle Zeke down. Mr. Mabin ordered the paper sent to Mrs. McCoy for a year and also had his stock brand inserted in our brand page.

A heavy-weight lifter gave an exhibition of Herculean strength at Billy King's saloon last Saturday that put the local lights in the shade. He could lift anything from a 280-pound dumb-bell to two or more men of that weight. He raised Doc Edwards above his head with the ease that a mother would her babe and accomplished other wonderful feats with ease and grace. It seemed as if this modern Samson would raise the world if he could get a hold. And yet that mighty giant declared that he was as afraid of his wife as an elephant was a mouse.

Poor old John Logan, a familiar figure about town, died at the Fox house last night after a lingering illness of several months. John in his day was a well educated, bright intellect, but he tripped in life's path and never was able to regain himself. Yet with all his human frailty he had a kind heart and pleasant disposition, taking with him from this world of trouble the good will of all. Today John's remains were interred in Evergreen cemetery after funeral services had been conducted at the M. E. church.

The detachment of soldiers from Fort Robinson bound for Ft. Riley, Kans., will start October 4 and reach Alliance the 5th inst. As announced in THE HERALD a few weeks ago when the quartermaster was here making arrangements, the soldiers and horses will go into quarters for rest and feed at Alliance.
