Armstrong Sells to Spry.

H. C. Armstrong surprised his many friends last Friday by the announcement that he had disposed of the well known business establishment, the "Red Light" saloon, and that the purchaser was none other than the genial, good natured Simon Spry. By this transaction it's simply an instance of one popular man succeeding another. Who ever has had business transactions with Henry Armstrong or have the pleasure of his acquaintance know him to be a man of his word, every time. Henry has other business interests that will occupy his mind and it is his intention to concentrate such business so as to center it at Sheridan, where he has been interested for some time. It may be that Alliance will lose this public-spirited citizen, much to its detriment for in every move that meant the advancement of the city's interests Henry Armstrong was in the lead. With such interests removed to another point it will naturally require his personal supervision which will sooner or later mean a permanent change. We cannot refrain from dwelling on the manly, open manner which characterized Henry's record in Alliance. That good, old Scotch blood, that never betrayed its origin, stood out in the open, fearless but just, like the gladiator of old, neither seeking favors nor cowering, like some dogs, before an enemy. God bless your good old spirit, Henry!

As for the new proprietor of what is now known as "The National Club" we can say as much. Simon Spry has the confidence of this community. He is a man in the true sense of the word, and as we previous said, it is a change of ownership in which both parties have the confidence of the community.

New Orders Issued.

Sheridan Post: An order has been issued by the Burlington railroad company to concentrate the general repair work of the B. M. system at the Havelock shops, near Lincoln. In compliance therewith there has been a general reduction of shop forces at the several division points along the line. The shops at McCook, Neb., have been permanently closed. At Alliance and Sheridan only light running repairs will be done in the future, the heavy work being sent to Havelock. Twenty-five men were laid off here yesterday. These comprise machinists, helpers and round house men. Some few others may be laid off later, but it is not believed that there will be a general reduction. The force now employed in the Sheridan shops comprise about 75 mechanics and laborers, and the total number of employees in the shops and yards averages about 200. The monthly payroll approximates $15,000 to $20,000.

Superintendent Smith Talks.

Lincoln Star: A rumor has been afloat to the effect that there is to be a general shut down in the mechanical department of the Burlington road. It has been said that the shops at Lincoln, Havelock, Alliance and McCook, were to be cut to an alarming degree.

The superintendent of motive power, R. D. Smith, said to a representative of The Star yesterday that this rumor was erroneous. The action of the company is misinterpreted by employees.

"We are going to make a slight reduction," he said, "but it is only because of the general decrease of business. Traffic on the road is small, and it is the falling off in business that has caused the company to take the action it has decided to take."

"During the last winter the company has hired a great many men, and has put all its rolling stock in shop that it could, so that it might be in shape this summer for the St. Louis fair. We consider that if a car has been shipped within one year, it is in first class shape, and every car on the B. & M. has been shipped within the last eight months. All our locomotive and car stock is in first class shape. It is only at the passenger car and locomotive shops that there will be any cut. In the freight car repairing department there is a demand for men and we are hiring all the time."

D. W. Hughes, the ice man, has his crop harvested and stored. Shipments were made from Marsland, Bridgeport and Sidney. The quality is excellent and the patrons will have the satisfaction of indulging in a pure article of congealed water.

McCoull was united in marriage to Miss Blanche E. Holmes. The groom is an employe in the train service of the B. & M., and the lady of his choice though a new comer to this city has a number of warm friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rosenberger were down from their ranch in Nonpareil precinct Monday. Mr. Rosenberger is one of the most successful farmers and stockgrowers in the county. Last season he raised about 2500 bushels of potatoes and 1300 bushels of small grain which netted him a snug amount. Mr. Rosenberger called at this office and left an order for extra copies of the illustrated edition.

The month of March was ushered in as a most pleasant, spring-like day. The rays of the sun from a cloudless sky warmed the atmosphere to such an degree as to make out-door recreation delightful. But hoary old winter was not to be conquered by such pacific tactics and the second day of this month he landed a terrific norther on the tender part of the unsuspecting lamb. Tuesday night, the north king sat upon his icy throne, surrounded by a frigid atmosphere which extended over a wide area of territory. Even the modern idiom of Omaha, which is said to derive heat from the infernal regions beneath its surface, complained of the sudden change.

Rev. A. C. Wunderlich, formerly of this county but a resident of Germania, Big Horn Basin, Wyo., for the last five years, came in from Cheyenne yesterday, going west on No. 41. THE HERALD enjoyed a pleasant visit from Mr. Wunderlich. He informed us that the Big Horn country is developing rapidly and there is a great influx of immigration. Work will soon begin on the new Wyoming Central railroad to be built by the Belgo-American Drilling Trust, from Orin Junction to Lander, Thermoplia, Cody and the National Park. The road will be approximately 250 miles long and will pass through the oil fields which are being opened up in central Wyoming. It is announced that the new line will be built in six months. Governor Chatterton and Denver capitalist are interested in the project. Mr. Wunderlich thinks that the Big Horn country has a great future. He will spend a day at Crawford and expects to be accompanied west by Henry Wohlers and bride, whom he married a week ago, and several other friends.

Mayor Buechsenstein a Candidate.

At the urgent solicitation of a majority of the citizens and business men of Alliance who believe that the administration of Mayor Buechsenstein and his colleagues in the council has been for the best interests of the city, Mr. Buechsenstein has consented to become a candidate for re-election to the mayoralty.

Mentally Unbalanced.

C. W. Hodges, who has been employed in the railway paint shop at this place, has been suffering with mental aberration of late and realizing his condition at rational moments made it known to the county authorities with the request that he be guarded. It seems that Hodges' insanity is of a violent nature, and Sheriff Keed placed him in the county jail after he had been judged a fit subject for the asylum, until the arrival of No. 42 Tuesday night, when he would be taken to the state institution at Lincoln. While alone in his cell, Hodges secured the lid of a tin pail and attempted suicide by cutting his throat. He succeeded in inflicting a deep, jagged cut from ear to ear, that almost reached the jugular vein. When discovered, the insane man was covered with his own blood, presenting a pitiable sight. He was, however, in a condition that enabled him to be taken away the same night.

It is said that Hodges' insanity dates from the time he fell from a car, some three months ago, when he received a severe fracture of the head. Since the accident he has not appeared rational at all times and in fact has been growing worse. Mrs. Hodges is away from home visiting at Lincoln.

Quivey, who has charge of the large output of potatoes the Alliance Grocery Co., has stored at Hemingford, has about completed the task of shipping the Box Butte "spuds" to the four quarters of the land, where potato crops were a failure the past season. A large quantity of these shipments were excellent seedlings, which eastern growers were especially in need of.

A movement was on foot to institute a Knight Templar lodge in this city last Saturday night, and in fact every arrangement was completed for the occasion, but as the old saw goes, "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and lip," this instance proved no exception.
