A New Departure.

The HERALD, along with other papers in the city, has decided on a new order of fee for the publishing of cards of thanks, resolutions, and church notices where prices of admission are charged. This may seem an unusual departure from the accustomed rule here, but the fact is that have already been made to the sheriff. such is the case in a great many places and is found to be satisfactory to all interested. The fact that much time and space Ferris Wheel stackers can't be beat. obliging and painstaking and in fact he would go out of his way to do a customer a lavor. As a citizen he was quiet and unasuming and in fact his tragic death was indeed a surprise to all. But strange things happen and human life is one of the deepest problems the sage and philosopher have ever attempted to solve.

A sister of the deceased, Mrs. Lizzie Gravatte, of Waterloo Iowa, arrived Sunday only to see her brother in death, and the tender devotions of her and the surviving brother show how affectionate were the that bound them together. Poor Michael, his wealiness was the cause of his premature end.

New City Appointees. The meeting of the city council Tuesday night was interesting as well as amusing and from the proceedings thereof it is evident that Mayor Bowman has had difficulty in finding men who come up to his standard of proficiency for the positions to which they were appointed.

M. A. Shay was appointed street commissioner to succeed J. A. Rodgers s that of Mr. Frank R. Roberson, next and his salary was fixed at $120 per

> The mayor found it necessary a month ago to let out Mr. Harr, city marshal, and since then Al Wiker, night watch, has comprised the entire police force, doing both day and night work. It was expected by many that at this meeting of the council Mr. Wiker would be appointed to succeed Mr. Harr, but far from it-he was laid on the top shelf and Neal Boon got the prize. Mr. Boon was appointed marshal and there will be no other night officer. Immediately after Mr. Boon's appointment was announced, Mr. Wiker wanted to know why he was turned down and receiving no answer he placed his star and keys on the table before the council and in a few minutes Mr. Boon had taken the oath of office, given bonds and became a full-fledged officer of the law.

Rev. Father Galvin will leave next Sunday night for his long journey across the ocean. In company with three other priests he will sail early next month on an Anchor Line steamer for Naples, Italy, shipping from New York. Father Galvin expects to be absent till next November, and it is the wish of his host of Alliance friends that the visit to the land of sunny Italy, where he spent so many happy stu-dent days, will be enjoyable and that when he stands at the memorable place, where good St. Peter was accosted by our Lord, and returned to his post in the wicked Roman city, Father Galvin will likewise remember us sinners in Alliance Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. He says the exhibits are fine and there is every chance to unload all the small change one is able to carry there. The people are pouring into the city at a tremendous rate every day.
