

Mrs. Mary E. Meserve, of Salisbury, Mass., was cured of Anæmia, a disease in which there is an actual deficiency of the blood, by the use of

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

She says: "The first symptom was an unusual paleness. Later the blood seemed to have all left my body. I had shortness of breath and fluttering of the heart. I was depressed, morose and nervous. I suffered for two years. Physicians did me little good but I am now a well woman because I took twelve boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These pills really make new blood and have cured obstinate cases of rheumatism, scrofula and erysipelas. They are especially useful to growing girls.

A GREAT INSTITUTION.

It is unusual that a single institution in a city of 8,000 people will overshadow in importance every other interest, but such is the case with the American School of Osteopathy, and A. T. Still Infirmary at Kirksville, Mo.

A stranger in Kirksville is immediately impressed with the idea that the town is sustained by this institution, in fact, Kirksville has been made what it is to-day by Dr. Still and his famous School and Infirmary. It is the largest patronized unendowed institution of its kind in the United States.

Dr. Still's school enrolls over 700 students yearly and each student is required to attend four terms of five months each before completing the course of study. There are over 2,000 graduates and they are practicing in every state and territory of the Union. About two-thirds of the states have passed special laws legalizing the sciences.

This school teaches every branch taught in medical colleges except "drugs" and osteopathy is substituted for that. So thorough is the teaching in anatomy that over one hundred human bodies are dissected yearly by the students.

At the Infirmary, patients from every part of the country and with almost every form of disease are constantly under treatment. For the past fifteen years almost every train coming to Kirksville has brought some new sufferer hoping to find relief by the science of Osteopathy. By the thousands who have left the institution benefited by the treatment, the science has been heralded to the world as a safe and rational method of cure. Several years ago a free clinic was established in connection with the practice department of the school and this is still in operation. Hundreds of the worthy poor, who are unable to pay for treatment, are treated every afternoon by the senior students free of charge.

Golf is World Game.

At Bagdad there has been a golf club for nearly ten years. The eighteen-hole course, which is laid out in the desert some three miles from the city, is said to be of "a decidedly sporting character"—which means, according to some that one loses an immoderate number of balls there. Golf may be played at Zanzibar, Benin ("the city of blood." It will be remembered), Crete, Bangkok, Honolulu, Perak and also at Wel-Hai-Wel.—London Times.

Black Kerchiefs for Sailors.

All sailors in the British navy are obliged to buy a black silk handkerchief. They get it from the government stores, and the price, about $1, is deducted from their pay. This year the Admiralty has ordered 160,000 handkerchiefs from the largest silk manufacturers in the world. This number is 40,000 more than has ever been required before. Each handkerchief is thirty-five inches square.

To Utilize the Shark.

The tooth, which is so abundant in the waters of Central America, is to be utilized in commercial products. A company has been formed which converts sharks' fins into jelly and tinned soup, makes fine machinery oil from their livers, handsome leather, equal to alligator's, from their skins, walking sticks from their backbones, and numerous articles from their jawbones and teeth.

Unable to Distinguish Red.

The most common form of color blindness is an inability to distinguish red. Last year thirty-four officers and would-be officers of the British mercantile marine service failed on their color tests, twenty-three being red blind and the remainder unable to distinguish green. The 4,600 candidates for certificates were also submitted to the form vision tests and twenty-two of them failed to distinguish the form of the object submitted.

Man's Love Easily Lost.

When a woman has won the love of a man, however devoted he may appear, it is usually necessary for her to take some pains to keep fast to his love if she wishes to hold it. There are exceptions, but most men's love is a fire, which easily dies for lack of fuel.—Exchange.

RUSKIN'S KINDNESS OF HEART.

Absence of Snobishness in Character of Great Writer. An intimate friend of Ruskin's relates an incident illustrating that simplicity, gentleness and sympathy which were characteristic of his relations with the servants of his household. "I was dining with Mr. Ruskin one evening, when during the meal, as we were enjoying a rhubarb tart, I happened to say that it was the first I had tasted that season, and remarked how delicious it was. Mr. Ruskin manifested delight at my appreciation of his rhubarb, and ringing for one of the servants, he said, 'Please tell Jackson I want him.' When Jackson came into the room his master said: 'I am very pleased to tell you, Jackson, that your first pulling of rhubarb is quite a success, and my friend here says that it is delicious.' When we had finished dining, a servant brought lighted candles into the room, which was almost dark, the windows being shaded by the dense, overhanging trees, although the sun had not yet gone down. After placing the candles, she was about to leave the room, when she suddenly stopped and said: 'Please, sir, there's a beautiful sunset sky just now over the Old Man.' Ruskin rose from his chair, and said: 'Thank you, Kate, for telling us,' then left the room. He returned soon. 'Yes,' he said to me, 'it is worth seeing. Come,' and he led the way upstairs to his bedroom. It was a glorious sight. The sun was sinking behind the Coniston Old Man mountain, and the mist and ripples on the lake were tinged with a crimson flush. We sat in the window recess without speaking a word till the sun went down behind the mountain.'—Harper's Weekly.

GAUGE TO MEASURE FOG.

Californian Suggests How This May Be Accomplished.

A correspondent of the Monthly Weather Review living in San Diego, Cal., makes a suggestion that an instrument consisting of a wire framework be contrived, which shall collect fog particles, conduct the drops into rain-gauges, and thus make the measurement of fog possible. The object of this measurement would be to show that in such a region as southern California, where the rainfall is small and where there is a good deal of fog, the fog deposit is a considerable one, and is one of noteworthy importance to vegetation.

In his comments on this suggestion, Prof. Abbe rightly points out that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to argue from the catch of a fog screen to the catch of an orchard or trees; that the "fog depositor" would give no positive information as to how much the leaves and stems of plants collect, or how much of the water falls to the ground in such a way that the roots of the plants may utilize it, and that the chief benefit which delicate plants on the California coast obtain from the fog is probably in the protection which the fogs afford against the heat of the sun.

Not Even Then.

A Yorkville police court lawyer defended a policeman at the police trials before Deputy Commissioner Lindsley. The patrolman was charged with striking a roundsman with his night stick when ordered to the station house.

"Why didn't you arrest him?" asked the lawyer.

"I don't arrest in such cases," replied the roundsman. "In all cases I order the offender to the station house."

"But a weapon was used in this case," persisted the lawyer. "That made it a felonious assault."

"Yes, sir."

"Suppose that this defendant had drawn his revolver and shot you dead. What would you have done in that case?"

"Nothing," answered the roundsman. "I would have done nothing. I would not have arrested him even then."—New York Sun.

Across the Hills.

Across the hills
The mountains rise,
And kiss the raveled, blue-gowned skies;
The serried trees stand bare and bold,
Where crimson leaves and yellow gold
Robe richly every bosky dell,
And Ceres sighs that her spell
Has ended, waves a lung farewell.

Across the Hills.

Across the hills
The song birds flee
To Southland's newer Arcady;
The robin, bluebird and the thrush
Have left behind the woodlands' hush
Like as the penitents, prayerful times,
When some cathedral's sacred chimes
Have stilled to mem'ry-echoed rhymes.

Japanese Belief in Dreams.

A fanciful race, the Japanese people set great store by dreams. The native astrologer is usually very busy in the early part of the year delineating the meaning of the many visions brought to him for solution, and foretelling events to come. If you dream that you are struck by lightning, it means you will grow suddenly rich; but to dream of frost means a feast; of wind, it denotes that sickness is coming.

Living on Filtration.

While there is no doubt that men understand the art of filtration a great deal better than women, it is doubtful whether they get quite as much enjoyment out of it as the latter do. A man may, and generally does, get excellent sport for his pains, but he cannot live, as so many women do, on filtration. A man filters when he has no more exciting occupation.—Ladies' Field.

Insects and Snakes as Food.

In Arizona Indian children may be seen catching ants and eating them and in Mexico the honey ant is eagerly sought after by the natives, who eat the well-rounded, currant-like abdomen. In South America the large lizard, the iguano, is a delicacy, not to speak of the larger snakes, which in taste are like chicken. The ordinary rattlesnake, it is said, is very good eating if one can overcome the inborn prejudice.

There is more Catarth in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarth to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarth Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 30 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chances of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful. I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn."
