LOCAL HAPPENINGS

General and Personal News of Alliance and Vicinity.

Col. Evens of Marsland was an Alliance visitor this week.

Mrs. Adele Phelan returned to her home at McCook last Friday. She was accompanied a portion of the way by Mrs. Nellie Hiller.

Union service will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Thanksgiving day at 10:30 a. m. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Bogue.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham last Sunday, but the little one survived only a short time, dying last Wednesday. The remains were consigned to mother earth in Greenwood cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The railroad stockyards is a busy place these days. Cattle, horses and sheep being unloaded, fed and reloaded. A magnificent specimen of range steer weighing 1700 pounds was so badly injured at the yards Tuesday that it was necessary to kill the animal.

Twin girl and boy babies were born to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Miller last Sunday. The latter survived but a short time and the remains were taken to York for interment Sunday night by J. B. Miller who returned Wednesday noon having consigned the little body to its resting place. Mrs. Miller and daughter are progressing nicely, we are glad to state.

THE HERALD mailing list has been the cause of considerable extra work this week owing to the addition of a great many new subscribers. Although the election didn't go our way in every respect we have no reason to complain of business along this line. People know a well edited and neatly printed paper when they see it and hence the prosperity we are enjoying.

To meet with the wholesale defeat that occurred at the recent election is bad enough, but when some wickedly funny person who fails to divulge their name, call us up to the phone, with the query, if we had heard of the terrible runaway that happened the night previous, and being answered that we had not, explains matters by saying, that the republicans ran away with the democratic party, it is enough to make one swear.

A. C. Johnson has purchased the People's Meat market from E. M. Simpson. Mr. Johnson proposes to keep an up-to-date establishment and will keep nothing but the choicest meats for sale. In order to do this he finds it necessary to conduct an exclusively cash business and proposes to continue along this line to the letter. By this method he will be able to give his customers just what they want and guarantees entire satisfaction. This is a good stand to take and will prove satisfactory to purchaser and customer alike.

Jules A. Sandoz, who resides about forty miles northeast of Alliance, has twenty acres in fruit trees of different varieties and has been quite successful in their growth. Mr. Sandoz says he is willing to give his experience to those who contemplate growing fruit trees. In the cherry he recommends the Dyehouse, Terry, Ostheim and Mont Morency. In plum, the best growers are the Sandoz, Bisby, DeSota and Wyant. The best growers of the apple variety are the Florence, Duchess, Senator, Longfield, Wolfe and Riser. In pears, the Birkett, Garowsky, Lincoln, Boussock and Lawrence. Mr. Sandoz's orchard is planted on upland ground such as lies about Alliance and he has had splendid success with all his trees. He says his pear trees have prospered beyond his expectation and give evidence of long life.

Thanksgiving occurs next Thursday and the people of the United States, irrespective of politics or creed, are expected to give thanks on that occasion. Republicans can rejoice over the election and democrats can thank their goodness that they are alive. Simon Spry can feel good that he no longer lives in Missouri and W. S. Ridgell should be grateful that he bet on the right man in Colorado. But all in all we ought to consider that we have many things to feel good over. Good crops have blessed the fields and cattle have prospered on every hill top. The weather has been fine for everybody but the coal dealer. The only thing that we see that stands in the way of a faultless Thanksgiving feast is the high price of turkey. They say this is accounted for by the heavy rains and damp weather in the turkey raising localities. It is said that the new broods caught cold by tramping through the moisture and many were thereby consigned to a premature grave. Now this is a grave question and we don't want any of our readers to take it as a joke. With turkey at 30 cents a pound, there are a large number of us who will have to do without, unless the birds roost exceedingly low. However, let us all be of good cheer, and on that day let us open our hearts to all mankind, for we are only here for today, soon to pass away, and let us rejoice together as one household, with kindness and love for all.

The physiognomy entertainment given under the auspices of the Epworth League by Professor Deschamps Monday evening was fairly well attended and the exercises were quite interesting and instructive. The blackboard illustrations were very pleasing and taken as a whole the entertainment was a profitable one.

Wm. Peters, accompanied by Col. Wisner and Geo. Young, came up from Bayard yesterday to make final proof on a quarter section belonging to Mr. Peters. Wm. Ayer, station agent at Litchfield, was also here on a like errand before the land office.

The Famous Clothing store has one of the best written ads in today's HERALD that has been published for many a day. Mr. Frankle is the originator of the attractive advertising and knows how to draw the attention of the reader to what he has to sell. He says what he means and means what he says, and that's the secret of his success.

A tail-end collision occurred at Hemingford Monday night between a work train and stock special going east. The accident took place within the switch yards and hence traffic was delayed but a short time. Fireman E. O. Cool of the special was badly bruised by jumping and some of the men on the work train were slightly bruised. The damage done to the rolling stock was nominal.

A letter to THE HERALD from Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Mastrude, who are now located at Waitburg, Wash., states that they have about decided to make that place their home. They are fifteen miles north of Walla Walla, in the heart of a great fruit raising country and are in love with the place.

They write that the finest kind of apples are selling at 12½ cents a bushel and other fruit in proportion. Mr. Mastrude has secured a job at the carpenter trade and everything bids fair for a happy future for the former Box Butte people.

Two car loads of Filipinos attached to 41 went west last Monday bound for Portland, where they will embark for their homes in the far east. They were a part of the group to the World's fair, which is soon to close. One car contained the civilized contingent, who reside to the south of Manila. They are a bright, clean looking and intelligent people who can give many of us white trash, with our boasted virtues, cards and spades in civilized etiquette. The little woman, with pearly white teeth, bore the stamp of good female character in their countenance, which could not be panted on with paint and powder, and the little children showed their good training when they approached a certain minister who happened near, bowed and tenderly kissed his hand. In the other car conditions were different. These were the really ignorant, wild, head-hunting, dog-eating savages who hail from the north and mountainous section of the archipelago. If anyone has sympathy to give out let them contribute it to these poor people. They have a religion, but it is the Mohammedan, and a greater curse than none at all. The half clad, unkempt women of the outfit were as coarse featured as the men and the brute nature predominated in their expressions. Different than those in the first car, they were unable to speak a word of English. The nearest to the "American ideal" was a little chap, as naked as the day he was born, wearing a straw hat, singing the "Red, White and Blue."

Mrs. Claud Brown went to Hemingford last Wednesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bushnell.
