No Half Way Business.

The people of Alliance have spoken in no uncertain terms against half way measures. There seems to be no middle ground. A year ago the people elected a mayor and council to suppress gambling and reform the city. This was not done, Mayor Bowman having adopted a half way or conciliatory measure, which tolerated certain vices, if not openly advocating them, in the belief that that was what the public wanted. Instead they seem to want to either have gambling or have none, and have elected Buechsenstein, the wide open candidate, for mayor. His reign up to a year ago resulted in much improvement and recouped the city finances. Gamblers were not permitted to ply their profession without contributing to the coffers of the city treasury. The HERALD has advocated a direct primary to get an expression from the people themselves, but the election Tuesday went a step farther and carried the direct primary system to the polls and there elected the man of their choice without even having his name on the official ballot, and by such an overwhelming majority that there is no room for doubt as to what the voters want, viz: A wide open administration, that will provide sufficient revenue to maintain the city expenses.

The democrats are congratulating themselves today over the election of three democrats for mayors, Tuesday in the three leading cities of the United States viz: Chicago, where Edward F. Dunn defeated the republican nominee, Lincoln, where F. W. Brown was elected and Alliance, where Buechsenstein was elected. If the other two cases are like the case here, politics was laid aside and the voting was done for the man. Politics was not the issue and yet the politicians want the credit where one of their party succeeds.

The City of Alliance

ALLIANCE is a thriving city of more than 3000 population, prosperous and glowing prospects for the future. 400 miles west of Omaha, 236 miles north of Denver. It is the metropolis of western Nebraska. It has water works, electric lights, a three story city hall and fire engine house, first class fire company and apparatus. Two large school buildings; employs twenty teachers to educate its 1000 school children. Seven churches, U. S. land office, Court house, two National Banks, modern business blocks and handsome residences. Its railroad facilities are the best. It is on the main line of the Burlington from either Chicago or St. Louis to Portland and the Pacific coast. It is the Division headquarters for western Nebraska, Wyoming, South Dakota and Montana, the offices of General Superintendent Rhodes having been recently located here. The western division shops are located here and more than 600 railroad men are employed here. Its people are hospitable, enterprising, and intelligent. Its climate is healthful and invigorating. In short, no town in Nebraska presents superior inducements for men of capital, enterprise and push, to locate within her borders. Letters of inquiry addressed to the Alliance HERALD will be answered promptly and in detail. Better write for a copy of our handsome twenty-four page illustrated Industrial edition, it will tell you more than we could write you in a month.

is good and the business will probably commence in about three weeks.

Messrs. Jackson, Holloway and German went down to Lincoln this morning to attend a meeting of officials to be held in that city tomorrow.

Engineers Bennett, Kirkbride, Fleming and Boucher and firemen Gibson, Witham, Chapman and Farmer of Alliance have left the service.

The pile driver was started out today and will commence work tomorrow at Sweetwater. There will be two weeks of work re-driving bridges on the Alliance division.

A couple more freight crews were taken off at Alliance this week on account of slack business. The number of engineers in the pool at Alliance has also been reduced.

There will be a new time card out Sunday. The only changes of importance in this part of the country will be the newly established train service on the Guernsey line.

There was a slight wreck on the line between Hill City and Keystone Tuesday, in which a number of cars left the track and rolled down the embankment. No one was injured.

Conductor W. H. Kennedy left Tuesday for Twin Falls, Idaho. Mr. Kennedy and R. W. Gager own a hardware store at that place, which is doing a profitable business. Mr. Kennedy has taken a lay off for a long period of time and should be like the place may decide to remain there.

Rooney's extra gang of fifty men is in Alliance this week putting in additional side tracks in the yards. There will be several additional long sidings laid which will be a great help in the handling of business during the busy season. An aggregate of a mile and a half of additional track will be put in.
