THIEVES ARE ACTIVE

Barry's Saloon and "The Right" Clothing Store Broken Into and Pillaged—No Arrests So Far.

Sunday morning about 5 o'clock the sound of breaking glass was heard in the rear of Ed Barry's saloon, but no attention was paid to it. But on Monday morning when the place was opened, it was found that some miscreant who had no regard for the Sabbath or the property of Mr. Barry, had broken into the place and tapped the till, taking $12.40 in cash. No other goods were missed and it is believed that the thief only wanted the cash in the register. Barry has the man "spotted" who he thinks did the job and it will be well for the fellow to fight shy of Barry's place. The thief broke a glass in the rear of the place through which he came and went.

"THE RIGHT" STORE ROBBED.
At an early hour yesterday morning, thieves broke one of the big windows in the rear of "The Right" clothing store of Beckwith and Breese and carried off enough goods to start a haberdashery store. No positive clue has been found to the perpetration of the crime, but it is believed that a trio of traveling "yeg men" were the fellows who did the job. Entrance as well as egress was effected through a rear window and the stuff carried off was of such a nature to lead to the belief that it was a bunch of amateurs who took only what they needed in their business. Among the stuff taken was one new red fiber telescope, suit-case style, one dark plaid cravenette rain coat, size 36, one dark dim plaid cravenette rain coat, (heavy) size 38. Also quantities of men's wool-ribbed underwear; black half hose, fancy tips; fancy arm bands; 4-in-hand ties, drab, brown, etc; ascot ties (wine color); brown driving gloves, silk lined; drab suspenders, men's dark tan belts; collar and cuff buttons; two pairs men's vici blucher shoes, sizes 6½ and 8½; a quantity of patent buckel buttons; one stick pin (key); one stick pin (revolver); probably one or more Stetson hats, Graeco style. A reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of one or more of the parties, has been offered.

It is only little more than two months since the same store was broken into and a quantity of goods taken, but in less than twenty-four hours Sheriff Reed had a pair of colored men arrested who confessed the crime, and are now doing a term at the pen at Lincoln. Three suspicious characters were on the street here Tuesday, who may have been implicated. All three were short, stout, smooth shaved young fellows, and if apprehended there will be more new recruits to join the Box Butte county contingent of burglars now doing time in the pen at Lincoln.

Father Galvin's Successor.
While we regretted very much to chronicle the fact that Father Galvin was to leave this parish to be succeeded by Father Devos, of Spaulding, we are more than pleased to quote from the Spaulding Enterprise the following extract:
"The news fell like a thunder clap from a clear sky a few days ago that Father Devos would be changed from this parish to some other in the diocese and that the Bishop had already made the order. To say that the people were surprised and disappointed would be putting it mildly, and all kinds of stories have been afloat as the reason of this sudden decision of the Bishop. So great was the excitement and so anxious were the people to try and do something that would bring about a change in the conclusion reached by the Bishop that a meeting was at once held and a committee consisting of nine of the representative members of the congregation were selected to go to Omaha and have a conference with the authorities of the diocese and, if possible, bring about a rescission of the order. A petition was also prepared and circulated which in a few hours was signed by nearly ninety-five per cent of the members and residents of the parish, but up to this time it seems as though the wishes of the people are not to be taken into consideration. Father Devos is an able and zealous priest. He came here when the country was new and helped the people fight the battles of pioneer life. He, with them, braved the storms of winter and the hot winds of summer to the end that a prosperous and progressive community might be established here. The storm was never too great or the night never too wild for him to go to the bedside of the sick or to bring succor to those in want. For twenty years he has battled with the elements and against hard times and a scarcity of money in a new country and has built up a parish here that is second to none, and has done it too without distressing anyone but himself. For years he lived in a basement in the old house on the corner above the school, part of the time sick nearly unto death, and did it uncomplainingly. He, more than anyone else, is responsible for the fact that we have one of the best towns in the state for its size, and had he, under the providence of God, been permitted to remain here he would have lent his energies and time to have made it still better. We have a Brothers community and school that is a credit to any parish and we have one of the finest Sister's academies that any town can boast of, and we now have nearing completion a church that every resident of this part of the state could and would be proud of, and these things could not have been accomplished had it not been for the indomitable zeal and untiring efforts of Father Devos. No man, within whose bosom beats a heart that throbs in sympathy with his fellowman, could have listened to the words of this good priest on last Sunday announcing the fact of his departure without the deepest and most sincere sorrow. Father Devos will be missed from this community as no other man would be, and no matter where he goes, he will carry with him the blessing and devoted affection of a host of people of all classes and denominations."

Elks Organize Saturday.
The Elks hall is about ready for the initiation Saturday night. The partitions are in, the plastering done, the painting about completed and the plumbing done, the furniture nearly all here and the paraphernalia is here. The committee on entertainment and reception have all arrangements made to meet the incoming trains Saturday from the east west and south. The hall will be used on Sunday for the installation of the Knights of Columbus and a big delegation is expected here for both events. The colors of the Elk order are purple and white and the city will be decorated in those colors in honor of the occasion.

The K. C. Order to Organize Sunday.
All arrangements for the organization of the Knights of Columbus in this city have been perfected and the work of initiation will take place Sunday afternoon and evening. This will take place at the Elks' hall. The banquet, which promises to be an important affair, will be held at the opera house. The speakers at the feast have been selected from among the most eloquent members of the order throughout Nebraska and as a result those present will undoubtedly have the pleasure of feasting intellectually as well as physically on the best to be secured. The ladies of the Holy Rosary parish have charge of the banquet and will see to it that nothing is left undone. About sixty lambs will be shorn on this occasion and the price of wool will, no doubt, fluctuate materially after Sunday's organization.

C. H. Vincel, the barber, left for Fullerton this morning, where he expects to engage in business on his own account, if the place suits him.

PHELAN BANQUETED

The Newly Appointed General Superintendent of the Wyoming Division in the Hands of His Friends.

The reception and banquet tendered Mr. John R. Phelan, who has recently been promoted from Division Superintendent to General Superintendent of the Burlington here, was never equalled. Over 60 of the most prominent citizens were at the banquet board when the distinguished guest arrived, and he was cheered to the echo when entering the banquet hall, while the orchestra played "Hail to the chief." Covers were laid for 60 and every place was taken. A seven course menu was served while Miss Bartz and her orchestra discoursed sweet music. After the cigars had been served and the champagne had been poured, the toastmaster, Mr. F. M. Knight, proceeded with the oral entertainment of the evening. He delivered a touching address among other things he said: "Fellow-citizens and Gentlemen: We have assembled this evening for the purpose of offering congratulations to one of the most prominent gentlemen of the west. He has lived in our midst for the last 15 years and has been identified and personally interested, not only in the progress and welfare of our own state, but also in the development of the resources of other states: Colorado, South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana. Mr. J. R. Phelan, our honored guest at this gathering, has ever been known as the practical and methodical business man, and has proven himself to be absolutely loyal in the minutest detail, to the various interests entrusted to his care. I think I may venture the assertion that his recent promotion to the General Superintendency of the C. B. & Q. Railroad system will result in many benefits to this corporation and likewise materially aid in the development of the resources of the tributary country which this great system traverses. Mr. Phelan has been a prominent factor in the substantial growth of Alliance. His residence among us practically dates back to the very beginning of the city. During the intervening years we have found him, not only instrumental in getting capitalists to invest in Alliance, but also have found his counsel and judgment wise and conservative in the direction of city affairs and the advancement of our city schools."

The applause had not subsided when Mr. Phelan, the guest of honor, was requested to respond to the toast, "Alliance." After which following in the order named the following gentlemen responded to the toasts assigned them.
J. R. Phelan, Alliance.
G. J. Burke, Politics.
E. C. McClellan, Ladies.
F. M. Broom, C. B. & Q. R. R.
E. H. Boyd, The Babies.
W. A. Hampton, Cuba.
C. C. Barker, The Professions.
A. T. Hemingway, Business of Alliance.
Prof. Bartz, Opportunity.
S. M. Smyser, Keep your eye on the top, or The best method of handling a No. 2 shovel.
D. G. McFarland, Railroading.
Captain Akers, Banquets.
Dr. Thos. Allen, Citizenship.
Judge Berry, Elements of success.
Dan Burke, Wild Bill.
Wm. Mitchell,

Mayor Bowman,
Fred Holsten,
C. A. Newberry,
R. A. Smith, Supt. of motive power.
F. W. Harris,
F. J. Kreamer,
L. H. Mosher,
W. S. Raker,
J. Kridelbaugh,
Dr. Bellwood,

The only man who failed to respond was Division Superintendent Birdsall, appointed to succeed Mr. Phelan, and he was too much overcome with emotion at the glowing compliments paid him and his chief to make response and a "silent" toast was drunk in his honor.
Space prevents our giving in detail the glowing tributes paid to the guest of honor from each, but especial mention should be made of the oratorical eloquence of Capt. Akers, W. A. Hampton, Wm. Mitchell, Dr. Allen, Prof. Bartz, Sam Smyser, C. C. Barker and A. F. Hemingway. Any one of these and a dozen more are past masters at after dinner speeches and the banquet hall resounded with cheers after each toast. But it was to the guest of honor to make the most touching speech of the evening. In responding to the call for a history of his railroad career, he began by reciting his railroad service from a boy of 17 continuously in various capacities from building a grade to the position he now holds. But the climax came when he referred to the barefoot days of his boyhood on an Iowa farm when he drove his mother to church on Sundays in the farm wagon behind a pair of white oxen, and when he told of having only that day received a letter from that dear old mother congratulating her boy on his promotion, his emotion overcame him and tears filled the eyes of most present. It was a touching scene and will be treasured in the memory of all who witnessed it.

The affair was a complete and pronounced success and was due largely to the committee in charge: E. C. McClellan and Dr. Knight, assisted materially by the exceptionally fine music furnished voluntarily by Miss Bartz and her orchestra.

Among the prominent railroad men present were:
J. Kridelbaugh, agent at Omaha, R. D. Smith, Lincoln, Superintendent of Motive Power west of the Missouri river, E. W. Fitt, Assistant Superintendent of Motive Power, Lincoln, D. F. McFarland, Division Superintendent, Sterling, Colo. and B. S. Marvin, trainmaster, Sterling, Colo.

Storm Rages in The Hills.
Passenger train No. 44 of yesterday, in charge of conductor McDonald, is stuck in the snow eight miles this side of Deadwood. Train No. 43 in charge of Conductor McClellan is laid up at Hill City on account of snow. The worst blizzard of the season is raging in the Black Hills. Snow is from two to three feet deep and drifting badly.
