The building by the Great Northern of the Sioux City-Ashland cut off has stirred up considerable interest in Northwestern railroad circles. The Northwestern regards the proposed new line as an invasion of its territory and there is much talk of the construction of a road from Hooper to Oakland to connect with the Omaha road, thus making a short line for the system between Lincoln and Sioux City.

Lester C. Winterton, who was a former Seward boy, met his death by accident in Egypt while employed as an expert prospective driller for a machinery company of Chicago. WILD ANIMAL BOUNTY LAW.

Recent Legislative Enactment Will Go Into Effect July 1st.

LINCOLN—After July 1 a wholesale slaughter of coyotes, wild cats and wolves is likely to be carried on in Nebraska as a result of the new wild animal bounty law which was passed by the last session of the legislature. An appropriation of $10,000 was made by the legislature to pay the state bounties on wolves, coyotes and wild cats. Western stockmen claim that wild animals have greatly increased on the prairies since the repeal of the old law in 1903 and that the appropriation will probably be exhausted on gray wolves alone. They estimate that at least $30,000 worth of county claims will be made in the next two years.

The bill was introduced by Representative Douglas of Rock county, at the request of the sheep and cattlemen of Western Nebraska. No emergency clause was attached, and so the bill will not go into effect until July 1. The measure provides that any person in the state who kills any wolf, wild cat or coyote and who presents the scalps, with the two ears and the face down to the nose, to the county clerk of the county in which the animals were killed, making oath thereto, shall receive bounties as follows: Five dollars for every large gray or buffalo wolf killed; $1.25 for every common prairie wolf or coyote and $1 for every wild cat.

The county clerk must issue to the persons certificates of bounties, and when these certificates are filed with the auditor of public accounts the auditor must draw his warrant on the state treasury against the general fund. The county clerk, after giving the person a certificate of the number and kind of scalps accepted by him for bounty, must deface the scalps by cutting them into two parts so as to separate the two ears and he must keep a record of the number and kind by him destroyed.

If any person drives, baits, entices or brings any such animals into the state from outside for the purpose of procuring bounties on them he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each such offense.

STATE EQUALIZATION BOARD

Rumor Burlington Assessment Will Be Reduced.

LINCOLN—Will the state board of equalization lower the assessed valuation of the Burlington railroad 25 per cent?

Rumors are in circulation that the figures will be reduced at the coming meeting of the state board. For more than a year the influences looking toward a reduction of taxation have been at work and the corporation lobbies at the capital expect to see some results.

The Union Pacific and the Northwestern fear a raise, but it has been stated that these apprehensions are ill founded. It has leaked out that the figures will not be increased and the valuation of the Northwestern may be reduced.

A number of reports are still to be filed. The report of the Union Pacific is complete in every detail. Data is lacking in nearly all the other reports.

Think Peach Crop a Failure. PLATTSMOUTH—Some of the fruit-growers of this county have recently made an examination of peach buds and found a number that looked as if they were alive, but upon putting them to the test of a powerful microscope the fact developed that in almost every case the buds that had a thrifty appearance were really in the germ. This would indicate that the peach crop for the coming year is in all probability a failure.

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would blot after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acrid discharge and pain down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

McClure's for May.

McClure's for May offers a great variety of good things. It's a far cry from Lincoln Steffens' story of how New Jersey came to be the haven of the corporations—and a mighty unpleasant story it is—to William James' delightful and, of course, distinguished appreciation of one of the truly great men of our time, Thomas Davidson. Then "Colonel Lumpkin," John McAuley Palmer's reformed and satirical captain of industry throws light on the street railway problem. "Terrors of the Sea"—true tales of famous derelicts and historic mysteries—by P. T. McGrath opens up another field of human interest, and a description of "Hans, The Educated Horse of Berlin," by a man who has seen him perform, adds another to the long list of varied articles.

Bishop Brooks at New Haven.

The late Phillips Brooks' ready wit is well illustrated by the remark once made by him, as he was starting for New Haven, in company with Dr. Edward Everett Hale, to witness a Harvard-Yale football game. To a friend who met him on his way to the train, and who inquired where he was going, he replied: "I'm going down to New Haven to yell with Hale."

Under the title of "Law-Makers Who Shame the Republic" Rudolph Blankenburg contributes to the April "Arena" one of the most important political papers of recent years. It is a masterly unmasking of amazing conditions of political corruption that have marked the rule of corporations through the political machine of Pennsylvania in late years. Mr. Blankenburg publishes fac-similes of passes issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and given to legislators and other public servants by that company, some of these as late as 1905. He shows that such distribution of passes is a clear violation of the constitution of Pennsylvania.

Named for "Grand Monarque."

When La Salle entered the gulf of Mexico in 1682 he founded the fort of St. Louis and named it for Louis XIV of France and the surrounding territory he called "Louisiana." The inhabitants of this country originally were French and Spanish settlers, and their descendants even today are called "Creoles."

Over the whole continent—in the East, in the middle, in the West—Graft has set its talons. Do you want the facts? Everybody's for May is full of them; facts about Mr. Rogers and Amalgamated; facts about the land thieves; facts about the Beef Trust; facts about the people ruined by the Graft of Business by whatever name it is called. The May Everybody's is a strong number. Harold MacGrath, author of "The Man on the Box," has a capital story of politics entitled "Two Candidates"; Zona Gale has a delicate story of sentiment, "The Other Two"; Rex E. Beach contributes a strong Klondike tale, entitled "The Scourge"; Vincent Harper tells a capital Wall Street story in "The Flurry in Bubbles"; Miss Bensley continues her actual "Experiences of a Nursery Governness."

The Happy Child.

There is nothing like light-heartedness to make a child a favorite. No one likes the cross, ill-tempered boy or girl. A ragged, barefoot boy selling papers on the street will often attract one just because he is so jolly, so happy, although it might seem as though he had much to grumble about. Do not encourage tears and had temper, but rather smiles and pleasant words.

German Silver.

German silver derives its name from the fact that it was first manufactured at Hildburghausen, Germany. It is an alloy of copper, zinc and nickel. It is variable in composition, according to the requirements of the manufacturer, but may be stated for general purposes to consist of 50 parts of copper, 30 of zinc and 20 of nickel.

Mr. Arthur Hoeber's article in the May Century on "The Prize of Rome" should have special interest just now, following so closely the announcement that the American School of Architecture in Rome has been rechartered by Congress, endowed by private liberality, and made secure by a permanent and attractive home—especially as the newly chartered American institution is to be conducted much on the lines of the French Villa Medici, whose workings Mr. Hoeber describes with much interesting detail.
