THE HARDINESS OF TREES.

Said to Depend Largely on Where Seeds Come From. An expert nurseryman says the hardness or nonhardness of trees depends largely upon where the seeds from which the trees in question sprang came from. Satisfactory results are seldom experienced by planting a seed obtained from the Sunny South, say. By planting seeds gradually further north, however, trees may be at length hardened and acclimated until a seed from such a tree may be reasonably expected to thrive and mature its fruits. Trees, like people, acquire their habits from the climate in which they live. The northern tree knows instinctively when the time has come to ripen its fruit. The southern tree follows the same instinct, being in no hurry, as there is little likelihood of real cold. With transplanting further north its habits change. The great trouble with most people is that they want to jump a tree from South to North at one move. This same idea is evident in the attempt to bring various fruit trees from Russia to the northern United States. Apples and plums from the land of the Great White Bear have taken kindly to the below zero conditions of the gentle Dakotas. FOR ECONOMY ON RAILROADS. Effective System Recently Introduced by James J. Hill. James J. Hill has introduced a new economy on the railroads which he controls. Each engine has a tab kept on its daily employment and against it is charged every cent used for oil, fuel, repairs and operation. Thus if engine 200 is found to be costing more than engine 250 the engineer of the former is asked to explain. The same plan is to be extended to every car on the system. Then the conductors and enginemen who make the best showing are to have bonuses. Tight Clothes Cause Distress. Some of the most eminent physicians in the world declare with emphasis that tight gloves, shoes and clothing have a tendency to cause colds and a great deal of suffering during the winter, no matter how warmly a person may be clad. He says: "Tight shoes on anyone's feet will arrest the circulation, and while, of course, the foot might not freeze, it has no chance to get warm, and thus invites the cold, with a good possibility of pneumonia stopping in to charge up more trouble to the tight shoes. The same thing is true, though in a lesser degree, of tight gloves on the hands, and a tight collar or tight neckband on a shirt is apt to cause a cold in the head by interfering with the veins in the discharge of their duties. Shoes and gloves that fit snugly ought to be worn in the winter, but those that are tight are absolutely dangerous, extremely so because the general public knows so little about it."
