FIERCE EAGLES OF THE ALPS.

* They Killed One of Their Hunters After a Desperate Battie.

The Maritime Alps of eastern France have long been noted as being the haunt of the most feroclous and powerful breed of engles in existence. Children innumerable have been carried off by them, and they even attack adults on occasions, sometimes with dire results. A postman named Gustave Silva, who carried the mails on foot between the villages of Sospello and Puget Theniers, was set upon while crossing the pass by three large birds, and frightfully injured.

He managed to drive off his winged assailants with the ald of his alpenstock, and eventually reached his destination with his bag of letters. But his case was from the first regarded as hopeless by the local doctors, and after Hagering in Indescribable agony for six days he succumbed to his wounds. Meanwhile two young French tourists, Messrs. Joseph Monand and Antoine Neyssel, went up into the mountains to try to kill the birds that had done the damage, and were savagely attacked in their turn. Both men were armed, but the sudden onslaught of the huge-winged creatures completely unnerved them, and after fir-Ing only one shot they tried to escape by running.

The birds, however, struck them down ere they had gone many yards, and they would have doubtless been both torn to pieces where they lay but for the opportune arrival of a party of shepherds. These succeeded in rescuing Mr. Neyssel alive, but terribly injured, he having sustained no fewer than ten severe wounds in the head and back. besides innumerable minor lacerations and abrasions.

His companion, Mr. Monand, was killed outright early in the fray, and his body, when recovered, presented city Saturday transacting business at a most shocking spectacle. Mr. Neysbut is disfigured for life.-Stray
