FABLE WITH A MORAL.

The Least Said, the Least Cause for Criticism.

The Magpie, the Owl and the Peacock met in the barnyard one day, and they had scarcely come together when the former said:

"I wish to tell you that I have learned a new song, and that the Mocking Bird is no longer in it with me. I don't want to make either of you jealous, but—"

"As to that," replied the Owl, "I have been practicing some new notes myself, and I think that certain folks will be surprised when next they hear me sing."

"And I have not been wasting my time," added the Peacock. "While I have always been called a sweet singer, I have felt that there was room for improvement, and have gone ahead."

"Oh, if you birds are on the brag we will have a test right here," observed the Magpie. "There is our master approaching, and we will all warble away and leave it to him to say which has the sweetest voice for song."

As the farmer drew nearer the three contestants began to utter their various notes. For a couple of minutes Uncle Reuben stood still in amazement. Then he threw down his pitchfork and hunted for clubs and cried out:

"You were all three bad enough as it was, but now that you think you can sing the noise is unbearable, and you've got to go or I'll break your necks."

Moral—He who says least furnishes least cause for criticism.

EXPLOIT WON MEDAL OF HONOR.

Brave Act of Gen. J. Franklin Bell in the Philippines.

One of the few who earned the Medal of Honor in the Philippines is Gen. J. Franklin Bell, and the story of how he did it is of the sort to stir the slowest pulse. On Sept. 8, 1899, Gen. Bell, then Colonel of the Thirty-sixth Volunteer Infantry, encamped with his regiment near Porac, in the island of Luzon. About 2 o'clock the following morning the regiment left camp and set out to head off a large body of insurgents which during the night had attacked the Ninth Infantry, stationed at Guagua and San Rita. Col. Bell was ahead of the regiment with a dozen company scouts. Just as day was breaking the advance scouts encountered the enemy's patrol, consisting of a captain, a lieutenant, and five privates. The scouts fired on them, and as the insurgents started to run, gave chase. Col. Bell instantly spurred his horse to the front, and seeing that the insurgents were easily running away from the scouts, he pushed into a gallop. Then unmindful of the fact that he was far in advance of his men and wholly without support, he charged the seven insurgents with his pistol, scattered them, and compelled the surrender of the captain and two privates, this under a hot and close fire from the other insurgents concealed in a bamboo thicket by the side of the road. In the end the entire party were captured with their arms.

Stage Hand Saves an Actor.

"My monologue was not favorably received by the audience," said an actor in speaking of his career. "I had made up my mind to quit the stage and return to a clerkship in the auditing department of a water company. The night which I had determined to be my last upon the stage I was received by a chilly audience. The house attaches were cold; the other actors freezing."

"When I was about through with my monologue, a malicious stage hand let down a piece of machinery, which hit me on the shoulders. The people laughed derisively. I turned indignant and saw back of me a street scene. That saved me. Stepping forward, I said with an injured air:

"Isn't it enough to have a house down on a fellow without letting the whole street down on him?"

"The people laughed the laugh that cheers, and I warmed up to the occasion, responded to an encore, and have enjoyed public favor ever since."

Cabman Was Not Literary.

The veteran circus actor threw his pink silk tights over a black velvet cushion.

"Barnum?" I said. "I knew Barnum well."

He took a brown book out of his pinewood chest.

"Barnum's reminiscences," he said. "Barnum's book. Never read it, eh? No, I expect not. It's out of print."

"When those reminiscences first were published Barnum was a proud and happy man. He gave away free copies to everybody he knew. One night, when I was with him, he thought he would give a copy to the cabman who was taking us home."

"Like reminiscences?" he said to the man.

"Thank ye, sir," the cabman answered. "Thank ye, sir. But it's so late, I'm afraid the saloons is all closed."

As We Make It.

Oh, isn't it a glad world when she, for whom the sky Puts on its softest azure, by tender look or sigh Confesses that the longing which you have dared to own Is not a foolish madness nor left to you alone!

Oh, isn't it a good world when, after doubt and fear, The goal at first so distant looms glorious and near— When, after what were dangers lie harmless in the past, The certainty of triumph is in your heart, at last!

Away with him who idly sits down to nurse his woe Because there may be dangers out where he longs to go, And shame on him who finds it a world of hopelessness Because he fears to tell her or let her gladly guess.

FRUITFUL FURNACES

INTENSE HEAT PRODUCES PRECIOUS STONES.

Scientists Have Succeeded in Plucking Real Diamonds and Rubies from the Crucible of the Furnace.

Recent advices from France state that Prof. Moissan, the eminent scientist and inventor, has actually succeeded in making genuine diamonds and rubies. He employs for this purpose the electric furnace, which has been so improved that a degree of heat can be produced, approaching the extreme temperatures, which were undoubtedly a factor in the formation of minerals and gems in the interior of the earth.

The rubies obtained are of large size, weighing 10 or 15 carats, and in quality and color equal and even surpass those found in the earth. The natural forces attending the formation of diamonds seem to have been more complicated, and so far the diamonds resulting from the efforts of the scientists have been very small, but still they are positively identified as the carbon crystal—the diamond. They are remarkably clear and bright, and on a small scale as fine specimens as nature's own product.

The electric furnace has enriched chemistry with a whole series of new compounds. Probably the one of most value to mankind at large is Calcium Carbide. The simple application of water to Calcium Carbide generates the gas Acetylene, which is now being commonly used for lighting.

The peculiar merits of Acetylene light are its brilliance and high candle power, ease of installation, economy and its adaptability for lighting buildings of every description, regardless of their location.

Charming Away Rheumatism.

Chronic rheumatism is a disease of advancing life; its aches and pains are most wearing; it cripples so many of our friends that it is not surprising people who begin to feel its grip are ready to try anything and everything for its arrest. A stolen potato worn in the left-hand pocket is a very widely employed charm for this purpose in England. It is one which of the folk-lore student. It is of great antiquity, dating from the time of the Romans and before. In those days a certain root was carried by such as were anxious to avoid not only disease but other ills.

NOISES IN HER HEAD

Mrs. Reagan was a Nervous Wreck, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Sound Health.

"Before I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Mary Reagan, of No. 86 Kilburn street, Fall River, Mass., recently, "I was in and out of bed all the time, but now I stay up all day and do all my own work."

"I was badly run down from overwork. One day noises began in my head and almost made me crazy. My head felt as if a tight band had been put around it, and the pressure and the sounds made me so uneasy that I often had to walk the floor all night."

"My stomach was in bad shape, and I had smothering sensations. At such times my body seemed bloodless, my hands were like chalk and my face turned yellow. The doctor said I had dyspepsia in the worst form. Then my nerves gave way and I was completely prostrated. I frequently suffered from smothering sensations."

"The first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I used quieted my nerves so that I could get a good night's sleep, which was a new experience for me. Before I began to use them I was a nervous wreck and trembled at the slightest sound. I was so weak that I had to sit down and rest every few steps when I went up stairs. Now I can run up a whole flight at once. The smothering sensations have gone and the noises in my head have stopped entirely. My appearance has greatly improved, for friends who were alarmed on my account before, now say: 'How well you are looking!' My husband spent over a hundred dollars on treatment for me that was worthless, but a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought me sound health."

Sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Cost of Continental Armies.

The armies of continental countries are the first branch of the service. The cost of the French army is $135,000,000 per annum. Germany can put into the field a vast, well-equipped army for $160,000,000 a year. The Russian army, another tremendous machine, costs $200,000,000 a year. Including India, England is paying $265,000,000 a year.

SULTAN'S DINNER IS EXPENSIVE.

It Costs Turkey's Ruler $5,000 Every Day.

The Sultan of Turkey's dinner costs him $5,000 a day. The table is of silver, and it is said to be the most exquisite specimen of the silversmith's art that the world contains.

The dishes are brought in upon the heads of jublakiars, or cooks' assistants, and each dish is covered and sealed with the royal seal. There are always fifty or more dishes, and all are set before the sultan at the same time. He eats, usually, from about six.

Though the sultan is himself a total abstainer, the finest vintage wines are always offered to such guests as dine at the palace.

Every dish the ruler partakes of is first tasted in the kitchen by the grand vizier, lest it be poisoned, and it is immediately thereafter that its sealing takes place. Always, before he can fall to on a dish, the sultan must break its seal.

It is not because he eats $5,000 worth of food himself that the sultan's dinner bill is so expensive. He eats, as a matter of fact, no more than a half dollar's worth. But the guests and retainers who dine at his expense number daily several thousand.

MOSQUITOES ARE KILLING BIRDS

Attack Them at Night and Suck Their Blood Away.

Scores of canaries and other birds in Baltimore, Md., are the victims of the merciless attacks of mosquitoes. Great numbers of birds become weak and die as a result of having the life blood sucked from their bodies by the insects at night.

"Scores of birds die in this city each year," said James A. Graham, a canary fancier, "of the attacks of mosquitoes. Several years ago I noticed that the legs of my pets were swollen and the skin cracked and sore. The birds perceptibly shrunk in size and were almost dead when it was suggested to me that mosquitoes had something to do with the trouble."

"I at once set to work, accepting the mosquito theory as the correct one. The cages were covered with net to keep out the pests, and as an extra precaution the legs of the birds were dipped in oil of pennyroyal, red cedar and other remedies with perfectly satisfactory results. The insects can bite through the feathers of the canary with perfect ease. All birds when they sleep during the summer spread out their feathers, making it easy for the long-billed mosquito to reach their bodies."

How He Was Crushed.

A dudsman young man sat on the end of the seat of an open car with a sense of proprietorship, when another dudsman young man jumped upon the footboard and stared at him for a moment and then said:

"Thir, why donth you hitch along?"

"Why should I hitch along?" queried the other.

"Because, thir—because I lisp. If you will pay attention you will see that I lisp. I have had a front tooth taken out, thir. Yes, thir, I have had a front tooth taken out so as to make me lisp, and I demand, thir—I demand that you hitch along and give me the end seat."

"You are way off, my lisping friend. Can't you see that I have just had my ears manuevered and that they are of a beautiful pink?"

"Oh, I thee," said the lisping young man. "Yes, thir, I thee, and I will admit that pink ears beat a lisp, but I will climb over you and thit down and feel duly crushed."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Where It Really Was Cold.

At the boarding house on Morrison street they were discussing climate. The Portland man declared that the ground last winter never froze to a depth of two inches.

"It froze two feet where I came from," said the man from New Jersey.

"Up in the Adirondack mountains," remarked the New Yorker, "the ground last winter froze to a depth of ten feet."

The Iowa man sat quietly munching his lettuce while the others expectantly awaited his effort to outmatch the New Yorker.

"Pshaw!" he said, "that's nothing. Why, back in Des Moines the ground froze so deep that the Chinese emperor sent a request to Gov. Cummings to start a fire. He complained that his subjects had cold feet."—Portland Oregonian.

The Passing.

I just missed happiness to-day. Coquette, she took another way. Another turning. Oh, she went up as I came down; Only the flutter of her gown. Her rocking laughing for my frown And wistful yearning.

A moment more, a moment less Had won or lost her—Happiness. But ah, worse this lot: To come just near enough to see What might be and what could not be; Just near enough her lips—ah me!—To think of kisses.

Just near enough to realize How glad her smile, how blue her eyes Alas, just near enough to say, 'So close was Happiness to-day I know, who might not bid her stay. How sweet her face is.'—Theodore Garrison, in Woman's Home Companion.

Unreliable.

"Martha," said a Westport woman to her negro cook, "when are you and Abe going to be married?"

"Doan' know es Ah'll mahry dat man," replied the cook.

"What's the matter, now?" she was asked.

"Well, ma'am," the cook said, shaking her head, "Ah hear Ab been runnin' around wif enuthah woman. Ah's full ob suspiclosity 'bout dat man."—Kansas City Times.

Constipation

Endangers Life

Deal With the Honest Druggist

When you ask your druggist for Mull's Grape Tonic, a cure for Constipation, Stomach and Bowel Trouble, and he tries to sell you something else which he claims is just as good, that is substitution or dishonesty. It is an insult to your intelligence. He does it for profit, and not because he cares about your health. No honest druggist will do it.

Stop a moment and reflect before you permit him to mislead you. He is willing to endanger your life and health for the sake of a few pennies. Is he a safe man to trade with? Deal with the Honest druggist who will promptly supply you with what you know you want, and that which you call for.

Until Mull's Grape Tonic was put on the American market there was no cure for Constipation and Stomach trouble. Your Doctor will tell you as much. He knows that a physic won't cure Constipation. Some remedies may act as laxatives and physics, but you and I know from experience that physics are dangerous, that they weaken, that they not only fail to cure but make us worse until finally they lose effect entirely, which means paralysis of the Bowels and death by Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, Stomach, Heart, and Lung Trouble, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Kidney and Bright's Disease, etc.

There are honorable druggists in most every locality, men who will promptly supply you with Mull's Grape Tonic and not try to sell you something else; but should there be no such druggist there, we will send you the Tonic direct from this factory without additional expense to you.

If you have Constipation and want to try Mull's Grape Tonic and have never used it, we will send you, or any of your friends who suffer with this affliction, a free bottle. Send us name and address at once, while we are giving the first bottle free; we want to prove to you, at our expense, the truth of the claims we make for this valuable remedy. Use the coupon below at once while we are giving the remedy away. Free to all who have never used it.
