SURVEY FOR SEWERAGE LET

First Step Toward Constructing Sewerage System Taken—St. Louis Company Secures Contract.

At the adjourned meeting of the city council last night from Tuesday evening, the sewerage proposition came up and the contract for a complete survey of streets and alleys of the city for a first-class system was awarded to the firm of Blake & Lawrence of St. Louis, well known civil engineers. The work will be under the supervision of Mr. Mr. Blake, who is an old-time government civil engineer, is a relative of the Boon family of this city.

The contract price for the survey is $500, and Mr. Lawrence, who represented the firm at the council meeting, set to work to file the necessary bond. According to the stipulations, work will begin in ten days and pushed to completion as soon as possible.

Now that the first step has been taken in this important municipal improvement, the citizens of Alliance will no doubt join with the council in pushing the good work along, for it means better sanitary condition, which affords a safeguard to all from such sickness that find existence in cess pools and the like, that become stagnant without proper disposal thereof. It also means an advancement of business interests, and we can expand without stint.

Hurrah for Alliance and the new sewerage.

The Bogus Check Again.

Marshal Shay and Nightwatch Daugherty gathered in a crook last Friday who was not of the tenderest specie. He was at the Right clothing store during the day and made the selection of a suit of clothes and other wearing apparel and had them laid aside until a ranchman from near Lakeside would come to town and identify him. He gave the name of Harmal Scribber, and said that he had worked for the ranchman who gave him a check on the First National bank of Alliance for $48.00. Late in the afternoon he again went to the store and stated that the man from Lakeside had failed to appear, and asked Mr. Beckwith to take his pay for the goods out of the check and give him the balance in cash. This was done and soon after it was learned that the check was worthless. Scribber went to the barber shop of a colored man on Box Butte avenue and inquired if he kept false wigs and mustaches in stock. This aroused the suspicion of the barber and he put the police on the trail of the stranger who was finally located in the tenderloin district by Shay and Daugherty who put him under arrest. Scribber claims to have come to town from Billings in company with a female of his own stripe and after relieving her of $1,500, sent her east on the morning train before she discovered the theft, but this seems incredible for the fact that he had no money at the time he secured the clothes. Scribber's case came up before Judge Spacht last Tuesday and he was bound over to the district court in the sum of $1,000 bond, which he was unable to secure.

How A Young Man Can Succeed.

Bernard Gray, son of James B. Gray, the well known representative of Donald & Porter of Grand Island, grocers, passed through Alliance last Saturday on 41 for Newcastle, where he goes to look after the interests of the Cudahy Packing company, with whom he has been associated ever since a lad of 15 years. Young Gray is an old acquaintance of the writer, who knew him ever since he wore kilts, and it is with pride that we see his advancement with this establishment, with whom he has become a confident, a specialty man that brings him in touch with the head officers of one of the biggest meat concerns in the world. Bernard Gray has gained merited promotion, and though only 24 years of age, we feel confident that the future success of this young man will be in the line of higher advancement.

Arrival of the New Bell.

The new bell recently purchased in Baltimore for Holy Rosary Catholic church has arrived and will be blessed and put in place in the belfry of the church in a short time. The blessing of the bell is attended with solemn religious ceremonies in which several visiting clergy will take part. The bell cost $500 and is one of the largest in this section of the country. The tone of the new bell each Sunday morning will add to the religious sentiment of the day.

Drives Into Wire Fence.

A special to the daily press from Cheyenne under date of September 27, says: "Herbert Wehn, son of a banker at Bridgeport, Neb., while riding near Lake Minnehaha this evening in a thirty-horse power touring car, lost control of the machine and dashed into a wire fence surrounding the lake. The machine was badly damaged. Wehn was caught under the car and dragged and, although his clothing was torn from his body, he escaped serious injury. The Misses Mamie and Maggie O'Connell, Miss Cronin and an unknown young man were with Wehn and all received cuts and bruises."

An Unavoidable Delay.

THE HERALD is delayed one day this week on account of failure to receive our paper in time to make the Thursday issue. This is indeed aggravating, but the only thing left to do is to grin and bear it."

Patsy Crow in Limbo.

Pat Crow, the notorious Omaha outlaw who five years ago created excitement by kidnapping Eddie, the 16-year-old son of Edward A. Cudahy, for a ransom, was apprehended by the police of Butte, Mont., last Tuesday and will be taken back to Omaha at once. Pat has been captured many times before but always proved to be wrong fellow. This time, however, the police are positive they have the right Crow.

Fred Harris Resigns.

Owing to the change of position, which will occupy most of his time, F. W. Harris, has resigned the city clerkship and has been succeeded by Richard Waters, of the Dierks lumber company, which took place at the council meeting last night. Both these young men are active business men and the change in the clerkship will therefore cause no annoyance.

We'll Lose "Uncle Sam."

County Clerk S. M. Smyser has decided on moving to Los Angeles after the expiration of his term of office, the first of January. He has sold his land and residence property, W. C. Taylor purchasing the home on Laramie avenue this week. The genial Sam has been a resident of the county for years and has a host of friends here and throughout the state who will regret the departure of himself and his estimable wife. Mr. Smyser says he would be perfectly content to remain here but Mrs. Smyser naturally wants to be near the children, all of whom are now living in California.

Injured by Flying Board.

Fred Ayres, one of the popular conductors on the south line, was the victim of a painful accident last Friday while on his run south of Bridgeport. The wind was blowing a gale that day and while Mr. Ayres was seated in the copula of his way car a board from one of the freight cars ahead was hurled against the window glass striking him in the face with great force. One eye was badly lacerated and the cheek cut in several places. Mr. Ayres was taken to Bridgeport where a physician bandaged the wound, and he went to a Denver hospital for treatment. With Mrs. Ayres he returned home last Tuesday, but he again left for Denver this (Friday) morning for further treatment. While there is fear that Mr. Ayres will lose sight of the injured optic, there is ground for hope of that it may be saved.

Bricklaying has commenced on the new hotel, the basement portion being nearly completed.

The 1-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Varley who live twenty miles southwest of Alliance, died Thursday and the remains will be interred in Greenwood cemetery Saturday morning.

A. T. Hemingway and family took their departure yesterday for Sheridan where Mr. Hemingway will have charge of the Forest Lumber company's new yard. Mr. and Mrs. Hemingway will be missed in the business and social circles of Alliance. A number of friends were at the depot to bid them good bye.

E. F. Gilman started home from Wisconsin this week and had reached Galesburg, Ill. when he received a telegram announcing his mother's death. He returned to attend the funeral. Mr. Gilman had been with his mother for several weeks and it was thought she would recover at the time he left her.

A large number of papers throughout the state have expressed regret at Bro. Broome's retirement from the newspaper business and have given him highly complimentary notices. Mr. Broome was universally recognized as an able writer and his editorials were always interesting. Lack of space will not permit us to reproduce some of the comments from the press.

Engineer S. A. Gleason of the firm of Gleason & Franklin, confectionery and cigar business, thus becoming a partner of his brother, Mr. Gleason also sold his residence property yesterday to Mrs. W. S. Ridgell and will soon join his wife in California. Mrs. Gleason's health has improved steadily since she went there a few months ago and Clyde believes she will fully recover. They have the best wishes of Alliance friends.

E. A. Hall was at Hemingford Monday and made the purchase of Hamilton's entire herd of cattle, numbering 240 head. We are informed that Mr. Hall will again engage in the sheep business.

Little Marie Dismer is undergoing a siege of typhoid fever which for a time caused her parents much concern, but under the care of the doctor and her mother she is overcoming the disease and will soon recover.

Jos. Duhon was down from Lawn precinct yesterday. Himself and Jos.

Planansky have just purchased a new threshing machine which arrived Tuesday. To see the large amount of new harvesting machinery going out this season reminds one of early days in this county.

A company of soldiers from the barracks at Columbus, O., passed through this city last Sunday enroute to Alaska, where it has been assigned duty by the department for the coming two years.

Dr. Allen has purchased a somnolent outfit, a recent invention of a French chemist, which takes the place ether or chloroform. With all the late inventions it will soon become a pleasure to sit in a dentist's chair.

The Colorado conference has appointed Rev. H. H. Hawkins pastor in Alliance who is now in our city. He will commence serial meetings in the near future. See later for dates and place of meetings. Residence of Rev. H. H. Hawkins, on the corner of Railroad and Sweetwater avenue.

Mrs. D. W. Butler planned and carried out a surprise party on her son, Herbert, last Friday evening. Twenty-one invitations were issued and twenty people were present and it is needless to say that everyone enjoyed themselves. The evening was spent in playing games and music, and delicious refreshments were served.

Rev. Father Devos went to Grand Island Monday morning to attend the conference of priests for the western part of the state. Quite a number will be in attendance and a general review of the work of each parish within the jurisdiction will be discussed. Bishop Scannell of Omaha will also be in attendance. It is more than likely that the next conference will be held in Alliance.

There will be a special session of the Elks next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. D. H. Briggs and mother, Mrs. Patmore, were up from the ranch this week.

Miss Agnes Morris and Mrs. McCue are expected to arrive Saturday from Carrington, S. D., to visit at their parental home.

E. Becker sold his transfer business to Fred Reddish yesterday. Mr. Becker will probably engage in agricultural pursuits for a while.

Alex Muirhead republican candidate for county treasurer, and E. Mabin, candidate for county commissioner, are down from Hemingford interviewing the voters.

C. A. Newberry and C. O. Aspenwall were passengers for Douglas Tuesday where the former will exhibit his celebrated dipping tanks at the Wyoming state fair now in session at that place.

The delinquent tax list appears in this issue. The list is a third smaller than it has been for years which is an indication that people are more prosperous and keep closer tab on their real estate holdings.

Rev. J. R. Jenkins of Chadron will conduct the services at St. Matthew's Episcopal church next Sunday. Services as follows: Children's service at 10 o'clock, Holy communion and sermon at 11, Evening prayer and address at 7:30.

John Haacker, agent for Adolph Coors, the Golden (Colo.) brewer, has been in Alliance a few days arranging for the construction of a cold storage warehouse for the use of his product. The building will be of brick and about 18548 feet in size.

Clarence Gulick and John Derr have opened a restaurant in the building formerly occupied by Geo. Roach for same purpose. Mr. Gulick has been a resident of this county for a couple of years and Mr. Derr recently came from Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Gardner, Ill., arrived yesterday to visit their son, W. J. Johnson, the "sheep man" on his ranch west of Alliance. Mr. Johnson makes visits to this county about every two years. He is a man of means and owns several sections of Box Butte county land.

Considerable local news, correspondence and the report of the city schools were crowded out of this issue of THE HERALD. Alliance business men demand the space and while we always strive to make room for all current news, we must consider the demands of our patrons and it will be money in your pocket to carefully read what they have to offer.

Geo. E. Crow, who has been braking out of Alliance for nearly three years, resigned his position the first of the week and will depart Friday morning for Goodland, Kans., to remain a couple of months after which he will go to Arizona to assume the management of a general store for the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. George says he has lived in Alliance so long that he regrets to leave. The best wishes of his numerous friends go with him and THE HERALD will keep him posted on Alliance doings.
