The car-repairing gang went to Rumford Wednesday night to straighten out a wreck that had occurred there that day. General Foreman Spatz and Charley Hardy were at the head of the gang.

The Burlington mechanical department received a peculiar long-handled cup Tuesday which will be used to lubricate the center bearings of every Burlington car. It is the official measure and contains sufficient graphite to run the car to the next lubricating station.

Michael Vaughan, who for the past fifteen years has been a Burlington conductor, with headquarters at Alliance, resigned his position with the railroad company and will go to farming on his farm three miles west of town. He is now erecting a commodious residence on his land and getting things in shape for his new vocation. The Frontier welcomes Mike back to old Holt, and hopes he will find tilling the soil more congenial than bossing train crews.—O'Neill Frontier.

After a successful term of school taught at Lakeside, Miss Mabel Phillips is at home for a rest. In company with her sister, Miss Elizabeth, she will soon visit the E. J. Wright family at South Omaha.
