TAFT AND SHERMAN.

Republican National Convention Names Standard Bearers.

Final Outburst of Enthusiasm Follows Nomination of New York Congressman for Second Place on First Ballot—Cummins' Name Held Back.

Taft and Sherman. This is the ticket of the Republican party flung to the breeze as the Republican cluded its nomination of James S. Sherman of New York for vice president amid a final roar of tumultuous demonstration. Again the vast assembly was swept with wave on wave of wild, exultant clamor, as the multitude, realizing that at last the work was done and the record made upon which the Republican party goes before the country, united in one last mighty outburst of enthusiasm as a tribute to the men who will bear the standard in the struggle now at hand. Another inspiring picture was presented as the convention named its candidate for vice president. The enormous throngs had waited through an hour of oratory, sweating in the heat-laden atmosphere, packed as before into solid masses of humanity, with only here and there a few vacant spots in the remote gallery—delegates in the broad arena below, the bright-lined lines of femininity in the circling galleries and over all the enveloping folds of "Old Glory."

From the outset it was distinctly a Sherman crowd, with galleries already trained into choruses of Sherman songs.

The preliminaries were brief and the nominating speeches for vice president began with a limit of ten minutes to each speaker. On the call of states, Delaware yielded to New York and ex-Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff mounted the platform for a glowing speech placing in nomination Sherman as New York's choice for the vice presidency. Now came a surprise as the venerable Speaker Cannon, with his Lincoln-like visage and shaggy beard, emerged from the Illinois delegation and stepping to the platform was yielded unanimous consent to second the nomination of Sherman. Such a picture of sturdy, homely, plain American citizenship as Cannon appeared as he advanced before the throng, which rose to do him homage, has seldom been seen before a national convention. His face was beaded with sweat, his collar had melted to a rag, which hung limp about his neck. His vest was thrown wide open, exposing his crumpled shirt and the sleeves of his black alpaca coat curled up about his dangling cuffs to his elbows as his waving arms emphasized his ringing words for his colleague and friend, James S. Sherman of New York.

Lodge Presents Guild's Name. From the outbursts of enthusiasm which greeted every mention of Sherman's name it was plain that the mind of the convention had been made up and that the decision was only to be recorded. But for a moment there was a halt in the Sherman movement as Senator Lodge, leaving the presiding officer's chair, advanced to nominate Governor Guild of Massachusetts for the vice presidency. The senator's voice was strained with the exertions of recent days, but he spoke eloquently and forcibly for the Massachusetts candidate. Michigan, through Charles Osborne, added her voice for Guild, and New Jersey brought forward her favorite son in a speech by Thomas N. McCarter, nominating ex-Governor Murphy for the second place.

The steady advance of the Sherman movement now began again as state after state fell into line. Now began the vote, taken amid confusion at first, which increased as the totals climbed upward to the nominating point. The result was never in doubt as the totals of states were heaped one upon the other. There were scattering votes, Wisconsin splitting its vote among Sherman, Guild and Murphy, and also gave ten to Governor Sheldon of Nebraska, but the great body of delegates swelled the total of Sherman until it touched 810. With keen appreciation of the effect of climax Chairman Lodge announced the result, reserving Sherman's huge total until the last.

"Vice President Fairbanks gets one vote, Governor Sheldon of Nebraska 10 votes; Governor Guild of Massachusetts 75 votes; Governor Murphy of New Jersey 77 votes, and James Schoolcraft Sherman of New York 816 votes." Again the floodgates of wild enthusiasm were let loose as floor and gallery joined in a pandemonium of demonstration.

Windup of the Convention. The nomination completed, final details were now quickly perfected—committees from the various states to wait upon candidates for president and vice president and formally notify them of the action of the convention in nominating them; prospective meetings of the national committee to perfect plans for the coming campaign; and thanks and congratulations to Chicago and the officers of the convention who have given the convention such perfect equipment. And then, just before noon, amid cheers still echoing, and the inspiring strains of the national anthem, the national convention finally adjourned and the multitude dispersed.

National Chairman. Attention is now being directed to the selection of the chairman of the national committee, the general in chief who will have supreme command of the Republican forces in the approaching campaign. The national committee named a subcommittee of eight members, which left for Cincinnati, where it will confer with Secretary Taft on the selection of a campaign manager.

The names of Frank Hitchcock, who has been prominently identified with Mr. Taft's interests up to this time, and of Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio, who is credited with turning the tide of Ohio sentiment at a time when it was not setting so strongly toward Taft, are frequently mentioned. A considerable number of members of the national committee have united in a signed declaration in behalf of Hitchcock. The name of ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio is also mentioned among the members of the subcommittee, but the actual selection will depend upon the exchange of views between the secretary and the members of the subcommittee when they assemble at Cincinnati.

The platform. The platform declares that no such progress has been made since the days of Washington as under the Roosevelt administration and that under the guidance of Republican principles the American nation has grown rich and great; revision of the tariff by a special session of congress immediately after the inauguration of the next president is pledged; the recent currency measure is approved; postal savings banks are favored; the strengthening of the anti-trust law by amendments is advocated; further legislation in the regulation of railroads, and in behalf of labor is urged; advocates putting a limitation on the power to issue injunctions; favors more and better road construction in rural districts; condemns any state laws or regulations that deprive the negro of the franchise; indorses waterways and preservation of natural resources movement; calls attention to the incapacity of the Democratic party for administration of government.

Temperance Rally at Louisville.

A temperance rally at the Armory, sessions of the superintendents' and teachers' congresses, fifteen missionary mass-meetings throughout the city and sermons in 100 Louisville pulpits by eminent visiting ministers were the features of the work of the International Sunday School association, which is holding its twelfth triennial session in Louisville. The main event was of course the temperance rally at the Armory. Mrs. Lillian M. Stevens' address, entitled "The Two Arms of the Temperance Movement," was accorded an enthusiastic hearing by an audience that filled the main floor of the Armory.

NEWS OF NEBRASKA

AGENT CANNOT QUIT HIS JOB

Sends in Resignation Twice, but Has Not Heard from Railroad Officials.

Lincoln, June 23.—A hearing before the state railway commission of a complaint made by the people of Washburn, Neb., because the telegraph office at that point had been closed, brought out some remarkable evidence. It developed that business has been practically suspended at the station since the office was closed, the business being hauled many miles overland to another road. J. W. Staten, agent and former operator at the station, testified that he formerly received $65 a month, but that since the telegraph office was closed he received but $30 a month. He said he had been forced to spend $12 a month of this amount telephoning to the next station to find out whether trains were on time. He had sent in his resignation twice, but had not heard from the officials of the company. It was also shown that all the towns near Washburn have telegraph offices. The Western Union was relieved of responsibility because it was shown that the office had commercial telegraph receipts of less than $50 a year. The chairman of the commission intimated that an order would issue immediately for the opening of a telegraph office.

FREIGHT SHIPMENTS GROW

Reports to Commission Indicate a Revival of Business.

Lincoln, June 22.—The report of shipments by railroads made to the state railway commission, covering a period from July 1, 1907, to April 1, 1908, shows a decided increase all along the line for the month of March, 1908, over the average monthly shipment for the nine months. Increases were made in March both in the amount of freight forwarded and in the freight received. The figures compiled relate solely to business done in the state. The only noticeable falling off for the month compared with the average is in the revenue derived from the sale of tickets. The average monthly sales amounted to $442,122 and for March the ticket sales amounted to $367,856.

Stabbing Affray at Omaha.

Omaha, June 22.—An altercation between two negroes, named Matthew Solomon and Roy Jackson, ended in the dangerous stabbing of Solomon. The men quarreled about how long a street car transfer was good, one contending its life was ten minutes after the time punched in the margin, while the other maintained that it was good until the city assumed the management of public corporations. The argument started good naturedly, but developed into a battle of fists and knives, during the course of which Solomon received two bad slashes. He was taken to the General hospital, where it was stated his wounds were dangerous.

Nebraska Woodmen Win Prizes.

Omaha, June 22.—The Nebraska band and delegates to the Peoria convention of the Modern Woodmen received a royal welcome on their return. The band, under the leadership of George Green, carried off first honors at the convention, securing a cash prize of $500. The Forester drill team also returned, bringing back second prize of $350 for drilling. The Omaha team has carried away six different prizes during the past eight years, drilling in competition with several hundred teams. Four individual prizes were also won by Omaha Woodmen.

Masonic Temple at McCook.

McCook, Neb., June 22.—The board of directors of the McCook Masonic Temple craft has awarded a contract to a Kansas City architect for constructing the new Masonic Temple opera house in McCook. The work of excavating has already begun. The building will be three stories, with store rooms on the ground floor, a large theater and office suites taking the remainder of the space. It will cost $40,000 and will require a year for building.

Victim of Toy Pistol.

Nebraska City, June 23.—Warren Sheckler, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheckler, inflicted fatal wounds with a toy pistol. The boy had been refused money with which to buy the toy, and earned enough himself with which to make the purchase. He filled it with powder and shot, and it exploded while he was pointing it at a target.

Delta Deity Convention at Lincoln.

Lincoln, June 23.—The Delta Deity Delta fraternity began its national convention here today. There were about 200 delegates present, who were welcomed by Mayor Brown. They came from all parts of the country, many of them from the New England states. Tomorrow they will be received at the state house by Governor Sheldon.

Stabbed Six Times in Back and Arm.

Fullerton, Neb., June 23.—In a fight over a difference of opinion Robert Swann was stabbed six times in the back and arm by Raymond Woods. One of the wounds may prove serious. Young Woods was badly bruised about the face.

Thirty Years at Hard Labor.

Omaha, June 22.—Thirty years in the penitentiary at hard labor was the aggregate sentence imposed by Judge Sears on Ben Marshall, the negro convicted twice in the district court of attempted criminal assault.

PROHIBITIONISTS NAME TICKET

Falls City Man is Indorsed for Governor at State Convention.

Lincoln, June 18.—Prohibitionists of Nebraska, in state convention, indorsed the following state ticket, to be voted for at the state-wide primary in September: Governor, R. R. Teetzel of Falls City; lieutenant governor, F. T. Lynch of Lincoln; secretary of state, H. F. Hockenburger of Columbus; treasurer, C. G. Hurlbut of Utica; land commissioner, Frank Burt of Aurora; auditor, C. H. Lindsay of Polk; school superintendent, Louise Dewey of University Place; attorney general, J. H. Kresinger of Beatrice; railroad commissioner, J. P. Hansen of Blue Hill. Thirty-eight delegates were chosen to represent Nebraska at the national convention.

The platform, which was adopted without dissent, was largely a reproduction of the Indiana Prohibition platform. In addition to a declaration for the abolishment of the liquor traffic, it declared for direct vote on election of United States senators, an income and inheritance tax, initiative and referendum and female suffrage.

BEATRICE MAN IS PRESIDENT

Orson W. Beckwith Elected by Pharmaceutical Society.

Omaha, June 19.—Lincoln was chosen as the place for the next annual meeting of the Nebraska State Pharmaceutical association, whose twenty-seventh convention adjourned at the Hotel Rome at noon. The following officers were elected: President, Orson W. Beckwith of Beatrice; first vice president, Dr. W. J. Raynor of St. Paul; treasurer, E. E. Cathart of Johnson; secretary, Oscar Bauman of Grand Island; recommended for membership to the state board of pharmacy, Lorin Jordan of David City, A. M. Bradshaw of Lincoln and Herbert Locke of Central City; delegates to the American Pharmaceutical association meeting, Edmund Thorpe of Omaha, A. V. Pease of Fairbury, P. B. Myers of Omaha, K. L. Kretzinger of Fremont and N. P. Hanson of Kearney. The convention adopted a resolution calling on the state legislature to restrict the country peddlers.

GAS MEN HAVE TAR FOR ROADS.

May Enter Field of Competition With Dust-Laying Product.

Omaha, June 19.—Gas manufacturers may enter the field against all competitors making preparations for "dustless roadways" if they decide to offer their tar by-products to the public as suggested in a paper read before the Iowa District Gas association by William H. Taylor, Jr., of Omaha. As is well known, the gas companies have a large amount of tar, each 1,000 cubic feet of gas manufactured producing seven-tenths of a gallon of tar. Mr. Taylor said the use of the tar for making dustless roads was the best field for disposing of the tar and that manufacturers of gas should push the plan of disposing of the by-product made in such quantities and at the same time they would be assisting the movement for better roads.

TORNADO IN CUSTER COUNTY

Several Houses Demolished and Heavy Property Loss Near Broken Bow.

Broken Bow, Neb., June 19.—A severe tornado swept over part of Custer county, doing a great amount of damage. The residence of Fred Arthur, four miles southwest of here, was completely demolished. The family took refuge in a lean-to and escaped serious injury. V. J. Stedry, in the same neighborhood, lost a big barn and outhouses. On the farm of George Felkey, ten miles southwest of here, a new cement block residence and fine barn were swept away, the damage at this place amounting to $8,000. As near as can be learned, no lives have been lost. Other damages cannot be estimated, as telephone communication is cut off from that district.

Fire Destroys Omaha Bridge.

Florence, Neb., June 23.—A fire started by a passing engine entirely destroyed the bridge of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway just north of town last night. The fire was discovered just after the evening passenger train had passed over it, and before it could be extinguished, had entirely destroyed the structure. It will result in cutting off communication between Omaha and northwestern Nebraska points for a day or two until a temporary structure can be put in.

Oil Excitement in Nebraska.

Yankton, S. D., June 22.—Just across the river in Nebraska, near Herrick, land is being rapidly acquired by lease on an oil find, and now 8,000 acres are in the hands of a hastily formed company, which is after 7,000 acres more, which it wants before boring commences. The men at the head of the project are completely satisfied they have control of an oil field and great interest is naturally being taken in every movement made by an expert oil man, who is directing everything.

Two New Creameries.

Central City, Neb., June 23.—One of the results of the ruling of the state railway commission equalizing the long and short haul rate on creamery products is the establishment in Merick county of two new creameries. The latest is capitalized at $10,000, subscribed mostly by farmers, and work of construction has already begun. It will be located near Chapman.

Body Hanging from Tree.

Omaha, June 20.—The body of a man, who had evidently been dead several days, was found hanging from a tree in Miller park.
