

John Dickinson's Narrow Escape.

Car Inspector John W. Dickinson came near being killed last Sunday afternoon while in discharge of his duties for the Burlington. He was inspecting the cars on train 43, from the east, on its arrival, when the switch engine drew up the coaches on the south line, just opposite Dickinson, who feared that he might be too near the passenger train from the east which he was inspecting. Not realizing the switch engine's movements, Dickinson arose and turned face forward toward the Denver coaches just in time to be struck with great force and hurled to the ground unconscious. By great luck that would not occur once in a hundred times, he fell in a position that left him unharmed from the fast moving coaches on 43, not more than a foot from his body. Switchman Al Woods came to rescue, and with help of other trainmen, he was carried under the viaduct near where the accident happened. Dr. Slagle was soon on hand and cared for Mr. Dickinson, who remained unconscious for a half hour. His injuries consisted of a broken nose, three or four broken teeth and a scar over his right eye. He was carried to Dr. Bellwood's office and his wounds dressed.

Mr. Dickinson lives in South Alliance. He has been one of the company's trustworthy employes, and it is to be regretted that he will be laid up for several days.

Wyoming Cow Boy Base Ball Club

A new organization, known as the "Wyoming Base Ball Club" has been organized in this city and on the 10th of August will leave for the east on a tour of ball playing, the first stop to be made at Broken Bow. Chas. Huss, who recently sold his confectionery stand, will be manager of the aggregation. The club is composed of several local players, two or three of the "Bloomer aggregation" and others from abroad and in a strong team. It is the intention of the "cow boy" team to play the balance of the season in eastern Nebraska and Iowa. Good luck to the boys!

Magnificent Display.

Everyone turns out to see a circus parade, and the crowds that gather to watch the grand spectacular parade given by Campbell Brothers Big Consolidated Shows when they exhibit in Alliance, Monday, August 3, will witness one that is unexcelled anywhere today.

Horses are always a leading feature with every circus, and Campbell Bros. have spent years in raising and training their hundreds and hundreds of fine horses that are exhibited both in the free street parade, and in the various ways under the big top.

The horses are attractive, but we must not fail to mention their riders; scores and scores of really beautiful women, gaily and magnificently costumed and all exhibiting different feats of horsemanship and daring. Then, there are the almost ungovernable horses and bronchos that are mounted by cowboys; and the troop of Russian Cossacks, whose services Campbell Brothers have secured direct from the Steppes of Russia, at enormous expense, and who are famous the world over for performing the most wonderful and reckless feats on horseback with their horses going at full speed. Don't fail to see them; also many other features too numerous to mention that are always a part of every circus, as groups of beautiful women posed as various characters on the huge glittering wagons, bands of music and clowns, to say nothing of the valuable menagerie that is carried with these shows.

"Uncle Zeke" Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Ezekiel Mabin was held at Hemingford last Sunday afternoon, the services being held in the Congregational church, Rev. C. H. Burleigh, the M. E. minister, preaching an eloquent sermon. The church was crowded with friends of the deceased who came to pay their tribute of respect to the old soldier who had lived among them for the past twenty years or more, during which time he had endeared himself to his neighbors for his kindness of heart and good fellowship. The six pallbearers were comrades of the civil war and the ritualistic service of the Grand Army of the Republic was held at the cemetery. The funeral procession was one of the largest that ever marched to the Hemingford cemetery. Those who attended the funeral from Alliance were Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Tash, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Keefe, Sheriff Wiker, Smith P. Tuttle, C. R. Clapp, J. B. Denton, T. M. Lawler, F. H. Mollring, C. W. Brennan, Eugene Burton, Ray Kuntz, T. J. O'Keefe and sister, Chas. Brinkman and C. A. Newberry.

Crystal Theatre Abreast the Times

The engagement of a well known singer, R. Harriett Johnson by Mr. Lockwood is surely a move in the right direction. Miss Johnson is a singer both of classical and popular music, but her singing of "The Rose Song" and "Absent" last evening impresses one that she is making a mistake by handling popular songs, she should devote all her efforts to classical alone.

The management stated last evening that Miss Johnson would come evening during the week sing "The Holy City" and "The Rosary," which will undoubtedly be a treat for Alliance theatre goers.

Miss Johnson's stay with us is indefinite and no one should miss an opportunity of hearing her. Her tones are sweet, clear and strong, made so by years of hard study. She just recently closed an engagement with a song publishing house.

Prior to this, she was with Whitney in "A Night or a Day," giving 400 performances. Miss Johnson will soon begin rehearsals for her new act, to be played over the Orpheum circuit this fall and winter, and from the description of some of it will be an elaborate affair. As the curtain goes up Miss Johnson will be seen posed as "The Madonna" in a large picture frame, studded with electric lights. In the distance one can hear the strains of a church organ playing "The Holy City," which is taken up and sung by Miss Johnson. At the finish of the song, she steps from the frame, the white robe falls from her and she appears in a black velvet gown outlined with 2-candle power electric lights, with great large medallions worked out with colored lights.

All told there are 300 electric lights used on her dress which are operated by concealed wires along the floor of the stage to the switch board.

In this elaborate gown she will sing "Carissima" and "Absent."

Later in the season Alliance theatre goers may see this act put on for a try-out prior to her going on the road.

Mascot for Battleship.

The crew of the monitor Wyoming has been hunting for a mascot from the state after which the vessel was named, and now that crying need is about to be satisfied. An article recently published in this paper concerning some young wolves that were caught by the Boots boys was widely copied, and in some way came to the notice of the crew. Here was just the chance they were looking for. Mr. Boots has received a letter from the gunner's mate of the vessel inquiring whether one of the animals could be had for the purpose. With commendable state pride, he answered that he would be glad to donate the best one, and that if the Wyoming is as good a fighter as the young mascot promises to be it will be all off with the japs in a naval battle.

Arrangements for the shipment of the pet have not yet been completed, but Dewey—for thus the cub has been appropriately named—will be forwarded at no distant day. A native Wyoming wolf is about the best selection that could be made for a fighting mascot for a war vessel bearing the name Wyoming, and if it comes to a battle on the seas no one need fear but the name of this state will come through with honor.—Thermopolis Record.

No Equal.

Campbell Brothers Consolidated Shows will be in Alliance August 3rd and today these shows take their place as the leaders. Money, time, patience, perseverance and travel have all been devoted toward placing their circus beyond competition. New and startling features have been added to every line of their entertainment; and in the rings, on the stage, in the air, and all about you new and wonderful feats are performed by trained experts in their various lines. Hundreds of horses have been added; all decked out in their glittering harnesses, numberless artists in magnificent costumes, trained elephants, funny clowns and in fact everything that is new will be seen when Campbell Brothers Consolidated Shows exhibit here Monday, August 3. Big street parade at 10 a.m. and two performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m. under water-proof tents, rain or shine.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Pray for the thing you want, but work for the thing you must have.

You can flatter almost anyone (man or woman) by saying, "You have temperament."

Complaining of the folly of fashion is as useless as complaining when the weather is bad.

Never tell a friend anything that would not look well in print with your name signed to it.

You didn't have the right kind of a good time if you are not good natured the next day after you had it.

Working after you have had a few glasses of beer in the middle of the day is like trying to work after dark.

There are lots of men who seem worthless until compared with a girl who has just returned from a vacation.

One reason men do not take kindly to praying is, that when many women pray, they "talk about" their husbands.

At sixteen a girl starts out to look for a fairy prince, and at twenty she marries his valet, and thinks she has found him.

Talking with some men is like reading a patent medicine almanac; they make you think that everything is the matter with you.

A boy soon learns that he can get anything he wants from his mother by asking for it out loud in his prayers, but that he can't work his father that way.

It is surprising how many people die at poor farms. And every one of them fooled his money away as you do, and imagined he would be rich some day.

Life may be compared to traveling on a railroad train and running the risk of accidents, you finally reach the station where you get off.

THE PEACEFUL CITY.

(Contributed)

Once I saw this peaceful city through the glasses lent by Love.

A milder, softer sunshine seemed to flood it from above.

A cloud of romance 'round it, made its beauty far more fair.

Like a maiden's charms half hidden by her flowing golden hair.

When a silent benediction, blew the cooling western breeze.

When my day of toil was over, and I rested at my ease.

Now within some shaded garden—now beneath some friendly oak;

Ah! the one who strolled beside me, and the thoughtless words we spoke.

But the girl grew dark with warning and I knew that I must leave.

For the first time in my lonely life, I'd double cause to grieve:

The heart within my bosom and the one that beat for me.

Seemed to love their mutual bondage, nor desire to e'er be free.

Now my exile days are over; I've returned to dwell once more

In the peaceful little city where I found content before.

But the difference—oh, how ghostly— I can scarce believe my eyes.

For without the glass that lent it color, all its beauty dies.

It has lost its cloud of romance, which was all that made it fair.

Stripped now of its flesh of fancy and the bones of fact laid bare;

Just a ghastly, grinning skeleton of my long dead desire.

Like a smoldering heap of ashes left of some great forest fire.

Three companies of Wyoming militia from Sheridan, passed through the city today on their way to Cheyenne, where they will take part in the state encampment.
