MARSLAND.

P. Clatterback has two autos to trade for land.

Marshal Gooch of Crawford was down for a duck hunt last week.

James Grey, one of the solid republicans of Alliance, was in town Tuesday.

Fred Vargason of Hazleton, Iowa is at B. H. Miller's cutting wood for sale.

George Gregg and family have moved into the upstairs rooms at Griff Joralemon's.

C. H. Richey caught the building fever and erected a commodious new hen house.

B. H. Moore of 33 ranoh had teams drawing his winter supply of coal last week.

Lee Gregory and family have moved to Belmont. Mr. Gregory will engage in railroad work again.

T. E. Hunsaker has moved his family to town and occupy rooms in the Joralemon house near the track.

Mrs. Bellomy and daughters accompanied Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Nation to Alliance on Saturday, returning Sunday.

Burt Richardson and W. H. Thomas came up from Alliance on Monday, the former to visit his family, the latter on business.

Fred Tollman and family of Belmont were down to visit relatives Wednesday and to show the new boy that arrived at their house recently.

Mrs. Clatterback, mother of our real estate man, who has been visiting here for three weeks, returned to her home at Council Bluffs, Iowa Friday.

E. T. Gregg's children have moved to the house near town to be more convenient to school. The icing cook has arrived and is at present cooking for the children.

Ed. James, of Hamburg, Iowa, whose family has been here for some time visiting at the Tollman homes, came out to accompany them home. They left on 44 election day.

A. A. Mailey, of Pawnee county, Nebr., was side tracked here last week with a car load of apples. Another car was also on the track at the depot, accompanied by a gentleman from Richardson county, whose name we did not learn.

The school board in the Trussell district unloaded a car of lumber last week, which they purchased of Geo. Adams of Crawford. They will begin the erection of a school house at once.

E. T. Gregg has been hauling lumber from the Wentz sawmill with which to erect a large and roomy bunk house for his ice men. There will be rooms for forty men and a large sitting room.

"Silent as Clams" is the head line to a little editorial paragraph which appeared in last week's issue of The Herald and which was directed to The Times editor and the writer of Marsland items. We feel sure that The Times man is able to speak for himself, and as for the writer we will say that early in life we were taught to reverence and respect grey hairs and bald heads, (no personalities intended in either clause, Mr. Editor,) and further more we feel sure that we voice the opinion of many when we say that our friend, Capt. Akers, shows to much better advantage in his lecture "To the Holy City" than he does in open campaign letters. The Herald seems to have a fondness for reproaching letters, for the years are not so far removed that its readers have forgotten the nauseating "Pilkington" letters whose vituperations were hurled at this same Capt. Akers, who was then running on the city ticket for mayor of Alliance with a pronounced temperance platform. We try, always, to give praise where praise is due, but reserve the right to keep "silent as clams" when we choose to do so.

ELECTION NOTES

The largest number of votes were polled since the first year of this polling place.

Election in this place passed off quietly, only a small amount of "lithiwater" being in evidence.

John Sullenberger left Wednesday for Chadron carrying the ballots which help to decide the destiny of many.

Precinct officers elected were. L. Snow, justice of the peace, F. R. Bellamy, constable and N. G. Poole, road overseer.

James Butler, Albert Parmer and Thos. Lyttle, all octogenarians, were in to cast their ballots according to the dictates of their conscience. Mr. Parmer has voted at fifteen presidential elections and missed one.

Father Butler came down from the extreme west end to cast a straight democratic ticket, with the exception of congressman. He said he was here to vote for "that mon Kinkaid." Father Butler must have missed getting that copy of the Herald which contained the Akers letter.

The republican ticket carried with the exception of county attorney. The democrats rallied nobly to the support of their candidate, young Edwin Crites of Chadron, and it is said they even influenced some republicans to vote for him, and as a consequence he ran far ahead of his ticket.
