Hyannis Happenings
(From the Tribune)

Mrs. J. P. Sibbett left today for Alliance where she will have some dental work attended to, after which she will go on to Bayard to visit her brother and family.

Sam Strowbridge took a much needed vacation from the arduous tasks that daily beset his pathway and bade farewell to Hyannis from the step of the west bound passenger this afternoon, his ticket bearing the mystic legend, "Alliance."

Charles F. Searle committed suicide by taking carbolic acid in a room at the Ogden hotel at Council Bluffs, Iowa Tuesday afternoon. He purchased it at the drug store opposite the hotel, saying he wanted it to disinfect a sick room in his home. He was found in a dying condition by the porter but lived about twenty minutes. No motive for the deed has been discovered. Mr. Searle formerly resided in Hyannis and was at one time in the life insurance business with Thomas McCawley, now of Seneca; he was also employed by E. P. Meyers, at the ranch near Lena, acting as foreman on occasions when Mr. Meyers was obliged to be absent. He was overseer of the work of putting in the telephone line between Hyannis and Lena. His untimely end will be deplored by many people of this vicinity with whom he in those days became acquainted.

Lockwood's Great Closing Out and Price Slaughtering Sale

is going on; it is going on without a break. The B. F. Lockwood Co. has made the prices and sent word to all the people and they have responded nobly to the call. They were not deceived; we never practice it in our business, and we are not going to practice it now. We had $15,000.00 worth of Furniture and Housefurnishings that we wanted to sell to the people, and we sent word to all of them. And how well we are disposing of them we leave to one and all. The people are centering at the B. F. Lockwood Co.'s store, the Bargain spot of this city. They are buying, not just visiting and looking around, but they are taking away wagon loads. The delivery wagons are busy, and whichever way you look you will see Furniture marked, "From B. F. Lockwood's store."
