Chadron Knights Initiate A Deserving Candidate

Last Sunday was an eventful day in the history of Chadron council, Knights of Columbus, when thirty-two candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order. The degree work was put on by District Deputy J. B. Kennedy of this city, assisted by W. J. Hamilton, Jos. O'Connor, Harry Reardon, Robt. Driscoll, and other members from Alliance in attendance. After the degree work a fine banquet was served at the skating rink that reflected credit on the ladies who prepared the bountiful feast. Among the speakers of the evening were Father McNamara, who gave an able talk on the Catholic University project at Washington, Dr. Weber, J. B. Kennedy and others. At the conclusion of the festivities Chadron council in a body thanked the visiting team and other members of Alliance council who participated, for the kindness extended and many signified their intention to attend the initiatory work that will take place in this city Dec. 19.

A Runaway Accident

Last Monday afternoon as Mrs. Fred Davison was driving to Hemingford with Mrs. Roy Hickey's little boy they met County Supt. Phillips driving his auto. The team was accustomed to automobiles and seldom became frightened, but in turning to one side of the road the wheels of the buggy ran up on a ridge, and the team started up suddenly throwing both out, breaking the little boy's leg. We understand that Mrs. Davison does not attach any blame to Mr. Phillips for the accident.

Prospective Factory for Alliance.

Joe Orchowski, the tailor, informs us that he is in correspondence with eastern parties who contemplate putting in a shirt, pants and overall factory at Alliance. A good factory of this kind, manufacturing enough goods to supply the demand within the patronizing territory, would give our city quite a boost, and we hope the scheme will materialize. An expression of opinion from our business men as to the feasibility of the proposition might help the matter along.

If the factory is located here, Mr. Orchowski will have the management of it, but it will have no connection with his tailoring establishment.

Grand Opening Hotel Alliance

North-West Hotel and Cafe Under New Management and New Name

Last Friday a deal was consummated whereby Peter Rubendall became proprietor of the Hotel North-West, having traded some good Box Butte county soil to T. H. Barnes for the furniture, fixtures, lease and good will of the business. The hostelry was rechristened Hotel Alliance, a name more appropriate, whether it sounds better or not. Mr. Barnes had kept the house in good condition, as is well known by persons who have patronized it under his management, but improvement is the order of the day with the new proprietor, hence a thorough renovating was made and opening was deferred till Sunday.

The first meal served was dinner, for 12:30 to 2:00 p.m. It was intended to serve dinner longer and ample

We do not wish to seem to give undue prominence to any one or more candidates, but there are some circumstances we believe that make it right for us to make special mention of the democratic candidate for county clerk, J. B. Kniest is a staunch democrat, but in one respect he is "Rooseveltian"; he is the head of a well respected family and the father of seven children. He is a laboring man and earns his bread and the other necessities of life for himself and family by the sweat of his brow and the labor of his hands.

His love for his children prompts him to make every effort possible to give them a good education. The five of them that are old enough are now attending school. Mr. Kniest has not the financial ability that will permit him to stop work to make a canvass of the county in the interest of his candidacy, so while other candidates have put in days, or even weeks, electioneering, he has stuck to his work as foreman in The Herald office.

He has not asked or even suggested the writing of this article, but we believe that it is due him that the above facts be mentioned, and that our readers be asked to give them careful consideration and govern themselves accordingly.

Miss Nina Boysen, after thirteen months' absence from the city, returned this week and has resumed her former position as typewriter operator at the Times office.

In a letter to her parents written from Los Angeles, Miss Laveta Barnes tells them she is homesick to return to Alliance. There are some places where the wind blows less and the trees grow larger and the climate is less variable than in Box Butte county, Nebr., but taking everything into consideration it is hard to find a country that is more desirable as a place of residence than right here.

Another real estate man has opened up for business in Alliance. W. R. Drake and family, consisting of wife and four children, arrived from Ardmore, S. D., last week and will make Alliance their home. Mr. Drake was in the real estate business at Ardmore and will continue in the same here, having rented the upstairs rooms in the new Palace meat market building for office and residence. He starts out right by ordering his name placed on The Herald subscription list, paying a year in advance.

Blackfoot

The agricultural area surrounding BLACKFOOT is not surpassed, if indeed it is equaled, anywhere. Enormous yields of grains, spuds, grasses and especially alfalfa, are made, and apples and other fruit attain the degree of perfection that has made Idaho famous.

Returns from a Delightful Trip.

Miss Inice McCorkle returned yesterday morning from an outing of several months along the sun set side of the Rocky mountains, having left Alliance June 1st in company with Miss Kathryn Roddy who went to Dellingham, Wash., to accept a position as primary teacher in the schools of that city. Miss McCorkle visited the most interesting places along the coast from Los Angeles, Calif., to Vancouver, B. C., and reports having had the time of her life, but was more than glad to get back home. "The coast is lovely, but O, you Alliance," is the way she expressed herself upon her return.

Apples! Apples!! Apples!!!

Windy? Well, yes, rather the last few days; but it doesn't blow this way all the time in this country—it blows the other way part of the time.

Wm. Morrow of Rosaroll, Alta, Canada sends The Herald a sample of oats on the straw grown on his Alberta farm. It is certainly a fine specimen of grain and speaks well for that country.

By referring to the Alliance Creamery notice in The Herald, our readers will see that the price of cream is still going up. Milking cows and selling the butter fat at twenty-seven cents isn't a bad proposition.

Many compliments have been heard on the excellence of the high school orchestra, which played in public for the first time this season for the Royal Chef. Prof. Williams is certainly a proficient and accomplished leader.

Died, October 15, 1909, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Strand. The child had been in poor health since his birth. The funeral took place from the home Friday afternoon and interment in Greenwood cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Strand have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

John Liveringhouse of Wayne, Neb., and C. W. Worth of Gettysburg, S. D., father and uncle of Mrs. L. C. Thomas, arrived Tuesday for a two days' visit here. Mr. Liveringhouse brought a treat for his daughter and son-in-law in the shape of a suit case full of choice apples grown in his Wayne county orchard.

J. W. Colerick of West Lawn informs us that he has secured a good claim by contest in Twp. 25, R. 52, F. E. Reddish being his attorney. His son, R. H. Colerick, has taken a claim cornering with his. It is their intention to move on to their land and improve the same until they have been transformed into first-class farms.

Judge Good of Wahoo spent several days in Broken Bow the fore part of the week. He was called here to try a case for Judge Hostetler, which the latter did not wish to pass on. Judge Good is one of the democratic nominees for supreme judge and has a host of friends in Custer county. He owns a farm a few miles northeast of the city and makes occasional trips here to look after the same.—Custer County Chief.

F. M. Allen, one of The Herald's Sheridan county subscribers living fourteen miles northeast of Alliance, purchased a well machine about the first of September, and has since been doing a lot of work in the vicinity of Minatare. He may bring his machine to Box Butte county before winter, but if he does he will probably have done a good deal of work that he can secure in the neighborhood where he is now working.

"The Lyman Twins"

This company guarantees a production next Tuesday night, Oct. 26, equal to, if not better, than the Royal Chef. They want to play at the same prices but the opera house management insisted that it would be more satisfactory to play at lower prices and to a larger house, and a compromise was made whereby the best seats will be held at $1.00; second choice 75 cents; gallery 50 cents; children 25 cents, regardless of age. They guarantee to use all of their own scenery and electrical effects. Seats will be on sale Saturday morning at usual place and one ticket for every seat in the house will be in the box; first come, first served. The high school orchestra will again play overtures, the company carrying their own musical director to play the show.

Obituary

Peter Kauffold was born November 1, 1837 in Rhine Biren Falls, Germany, and died eleven and one-half miles northwest of Alliance October 18, 1909.

In 1859 he was drafted in the German army and was honorably discharged in 1865. He then came to America September 15, the same year and settled in Woodford county, Ill., where he married Miss Flora Croush. To them were born two children, Frederick Herman and Emma Louise. His wife died in 1870, and in 1871 he married again to Miss Elizabeth Westberger. To this union ten children were born, namely, Charles, Gertrude, Rose, Adolph, Lulu, Bertha, James, Walter, Ralph and Yettie. He lived with his wife and children in Woodford county till in December 1902, and in 1903 went to Nebraska and made his home with his oldest son, Frederick, of Alliance, Nebr., until January 10, 1904 when he filed on a homestead in Duell county, where he lived until his last illness when he went back to live with his son, Frederick.

Deceased was a member of the Catholic church during his entire life and was a faithful member to his belief. The funeral services were conducted by Father McNamara from the Holy Rosary church Wednesday, October 20th.

Card of Thanks

To the many friends and neighbors, who so kindly assisted us in the late sickness and burial of our little boy, we wish to extend our sincere thanks. MR. and MRS. E. A. STRAND.
